OWNERS MUST BE NOTIFIED

New Anti-Town Cow Law in East Side District Hard to Enforce.

The voters of South Mount Tabor. Arbeta and the Woodstock districts voted to prohibit stock from running at harge, and the law Bearing on the subject becomes effective next Thesday, August 14. It will then he up to the people who voted for the enforcement of this law to enforce it; that is what they are now thinking about. President Kneeland, of the Mount Scott Improvement Association, says that a general committee has been appointed to assist in the enforcement of the law. It will not be an easy matter. The law requires that the owners of stock found running at large shall first be notified before complaints are filed. If the owners then fail to keep up their stock, they must be notified a second time, but in no case can a complaint be filed unless it can be shown that they know their stock is running at large. It is incumbent upon the prosecution, under the stock law, to show that the owners were cognizant of the fact that their cows or horses were roamling in the common, otherwise the prosecution will not stick. The fines are $10 and $20 for first and second offense, respectively.

In case the owner cannot be found the then have to be given by posting in three conspicuous places. At the end of the ten days, if the owner does not appear, the stock impounded may be soid at public auction to pay costs. All fines impowed and collected are to be paid into the company when which the days.

and collected are to be paid into the common school fund.

It will be seen that the law is hedged in with restrictions that will make it difficult to enforce in a district like South Mount Tabor, Wyodstock and Arleta. There is no pound in which to place the cows. There is no officer as yet to make arrests or impound stock. The nearest court is at Mount Tabor. A few years ago Mount Tabor voted to prohibit stock roaming at large, and an inclosure was procured. One night P. P. Dabney, H. W. Hodges and some other dignified citizens spent several hours in rounding up the cows. They got to bed at 2 o'clock in the morning, but when daylight came they found the pound was empty. The owners had come in the early hours and taken their stock.

Believing that a disastrous fire threat-ened shipping in the river and one of the large sawmills at the foot of Harrison large sawmins at the foot of Harrison street, shipmasters began to move their vessels out into the stream last night, when flames broke out in two empty shacks in close proximity. The plan was changed when it was seen that the fire was of no consequence.

Fire broke out in a small shed at the foot of Harrison street, about 3 o'clock, and quickly spread to a vacant house adjoining the property of Wakefield, Fries & Company. The dry, inflammable material burned flercely and made a blaze that could be seen from all parts of the city. It was feared that the fire would spread to other buildings in the vicinity and eventually reach the big lumber mill. A second alarm was sounded, and the fireboat was called out to protect river-front property. After the arrival of the department the blaze was quickly gotten under control. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been due to a lighted cigarette stump being thrown on the floor by hobos who have been sleeping in the shed.

A woman living in an adjoining house stated that she had observed several suspicious-looking people around the place for the past several days, and had reported the affair to the police, who had arested one tramp there. She had also found matches and tobacco in the houses, S. G. Scanion and Charles Davis, employes at the roundhouse, state that they had seen well-dressed men about the shack several times in the early morning. There was nothing in the houses but a few old mattresses of straw and some rubbish. The loss is about $800.

Gaston a Paradise for Bear Hunters

Henry Scott Kills Two Big Bruins and at Last Accounts Was Chas-ing a Third Out of His Garden.

W. B. GLAFKE, a Portland commis-sion merchant, has decided that the country around Gaston must be a paradise for bear-hunters. A few days ago Henry Scott, of that place, killed a bear weighing 255 pounds. After everybody in the neighborhood had admired sufficiently, Mr. Scott shipped it to Mr. Glafke. The weather conditions were not right, however, for when the carcass reached Portland it was unfit for exhibi-

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Glafke received Yesterday afternoon Mr. Glafke received a telephone message from the Washington County hunter that he had just killed another bear and would ship it in on the morning frain. While Mr. Glafke was giving him instructions about shipping it, Mr. Scott broke in: "Hold on! there goes another bear through my front yard."

He dropped the telephone receiver and that was the last heard from him. Mr. Glafke will have several wagons at the depot this morning, as a bear drive appears to be on at Gaston.

standing timber has already been obstroyed.

It his been learned that the big blaze near Mill City, which ate its way into the Northern Division of the Cascade forest reserve, has been gotten under control. This fire gained considerable headway and obtained a foothold in standing timber, but after a hard fight it was checked. Forest Inspector Bronson is now in the vicinity of Fish Lake, where another blaze has been reported. where another blaze has been reported. The woods are burning on both sides of the Columbia River between Portland and Astoria, but as no report has been had in Portland regarding progress of the flames, it is not thought they are serious.

Notwithstanding the rigid laws enacted by the Oregon Legislature, it appears to be impossible to prevent forest fires. The law provides for the imposition of heavy penalties for the persons who start fires. One of the most important provisions of the act providing for the protection of the forest and timber of the State of Oregon is the taking out of permits during the closed season, which is from June 1 to October 1. In part it reads:

It shall be the duty of the County Clerk of each county to issue written or printed.

It shall be the duty of the County Clerk of each county to issue written or printed permits during the permit season to any and all persons named in the application to set out fires. Said application shall state the general descriptions of the land upon which it is desired to set out the fires and the extent of the slashing and burning to be burned. Said permit shall fix the time for the setting out of the fires on any three consecutive days therein named and not less than ten days is in the county of the date of such permit; and that no therein named and not less than ten days from the date of such permit; and that no time when the wind is blowing to euch an extent as to cause danger of same getting beyond the control of the person setting out the said fire, without sufficient help present to control the same, and that same shall be watched by the person setting out the fire until the same is out. Upon granting said permit, the Clerk shall at once notify at the earliest possible moment some qualified and acting fire ranger in the vicinity of said proposed burning and upon good cause may revoke or postpone said permit upon notice to earld applicant.

The penalty provided for any person or said applicant.

The penalty provided for any person or persons who set out fires without permits in slashings, down or fallen timber, is a fine of not less than $150 or more than $150, or imprisonment in the County Jall for not less than one month or more than one year. The penalty for any person who builds a fire and leaves it without extinguishing it is a fine not exceeding $150 or imprisonment for not more than one month, or both. This is directed particularly at campers.

Two More Weeks Will End Musical Season in City Parks.

The band concert at Chapman Square last night was a decided success. Con-ductor De Caprio had arranged a programme that was at once classical and popular. The crowd was large and appreciative, and, although the ringing of the fire bell just before 9 o'clock drew many away, they all returned and the concert was not interrupted.
