TEN DAYS OF MIMIC WAR

State Troops Will Have a Taste of Active Campaigning in Time of Hostilities - Will Pitch Camp This Afternoon.

When taps was sounded at the National Guard armory last night all was in readiness for the transferring of the Oregon troops to American Lake, Wash. this morning. Tents were packed, blankets rolled, rifles oiled and polished, equipment neatly apportioned, and 800 men were impatient for the morning to

Will Lead Active Life.

For ten days the guardsmen will live inder canvas. By day they will be in the field as in an active campaign. There will be forced marches, maneuvering for advantage over some intrenched or advancing enemy, night alarms, guard duty, camp routine, target practice, drilling, and then more drilling, during these ten days. But there is enough novelty and a sufficient element of excitement about the game to make h more enjoyable than a mere ten days' picnic. And all will come home with an added knowledge of the tactics of actual warfare, together with enough good fresh-air, energy stored up to last out a year of tedious work up to last out a year of tedious work

SEES HORSE'S DOOM.

R. E. Olds, Manufacturer of Automobiles, Talks Shop.

Rack to the farm for the borse.

R. El Oids, inventor and manufacturer of automobiles, is a guest at the Portland Hotel, and it is his opinion that within a few years horses will be prohibited upon the streets of the principal cities of the United States, New York in partenuar for santiary reasons and because ular, for sanitary reasons and becaus the animals will take up too much room. All the work now done by the horse will, he thinks, in time be accomplished by the automobile.

The farm is where the horse belongs, and it will not be long until the only horses in the country will be those used on the farm," Mr. Olds said last evening. "And I wouldn't be surprised that if some day, and perhaps I shall live to see it, the horse will be done away with altogether and that the automobile will be used to drag the plow, run to the market with the eggs and chase the cows up in the evening for the regular milking."

Mr. Olds is one of the big men in the automobile business in this country. When

Later he disposed of the business and is now making a new type of automobile. His home is at Lansing. Mich., where his factory is located. This concern employs in the neighborhood of 1500 men. More than 100,000 pieces of machinery are manufactured in this plant every day. When put together these parts make up about 20 machines, the number turned put seave day in the shaps. "It is my opinion that the automobile business is just in its infancy," said Mr. Olds. "There are perhaps $5,000 or 70,000 machines in use in this country at the present time. A year from new the number will be doubled. Every factory that is turning out a standard machine has more work than it can handle. We all could sell more cars if we could manufacture them."

Mr. Olds thinks that it will be many

Mr. Glds thinks that it will be many years before there is a great reduction in the price of the automobile.

"As long as the companies turn out standard machines the people will be willing to pay a high price for them." he says. "As long as good automobiles are put together they will command high prices. Standard machines will always bring high prices, nearly as much as now, with perhaps a slight reduction. The agents are making more money than the manufacturers. If it were not for the large number of cars put on the market every day by the factories, the owners could not make a living. Automobiles will always be expensive." always be expensive."

Mr. Olds was surprised at the small number of automobiles in use in Portland for the size of the city. But he attrib-utes the fact to the agents, not the people or the manufacturers. These gamblers had a corker on the gold musket and with silver out of the market they could push the price of gold up and thereby reap a nice profit. This is just what they did. Elma Schools Progressive.

ELMA, Wash., Aug. 10.—When the Elma schools open on September 3 next, a commercial course, including typewriting, shorthand and bookkeeping, will be inught. This is a new department in the schools here. The regular high school course will also be maintained. The business course has been inaugurated in order to fill the demand for a course of this kind. It will afford a splendid opportunity for the pupils to fit themselves for business without having to pay tultion charges for obtaining such an education as heretofore in some business college.

It was discussed in 1806 irrationally, insanely. But few have ever studied it and sought after a scientific explanation of it, and I maintain that the economic axiom that the greater the quantity of mediums of exchange in the market, the greater prosperity will ensue, will continue to assert itself until governments finally are convinced that one medium of exchange cannot be set up as a standard, the other debused.

DOCTOR CURED OF ECZEMA

Maryland Physician Cures Himself of Eczema with Cuticura Remedies. Prescribes Them and Has Cured Many Cases Where Other Formulas Have Failed - Dr. Fisher Says:

CUTICURA REMEDIES POSSESS TRUE MERIT

" My face was afflicted with eczema in the year 1897. I used the Cuticura Remedies, and was entirely cured. I am a practicing physician and very often prescribe Cuticura Resolvent and Cuticura Soap in cases of eczema, and they have cured where other formulas have failed. I am not in the habit of endorsing patent medicines, but when I find remedies possessing true merit, such as the Cuticura Remedies do, I am broad-minded enough to proclaim their virtues to the world. I have been practicing medicine for sixteen years, and must say I find your Remedies A No. 1. You are at liberty to publish this letter, or any part of it. I remain, very truly yours, G. M.
