Czar's Distinguished Relative Hints That Job Is Suitable Only for a Military Man-Czarevitch's Gloomy Birthday.

eT. PETERSBURG, Aug. 15.—Grand Duke Nichelas Nichelalevitch, the Arso-ciated Press is informed by a member of his entourage, has declined to accept the post of commander-in-chief of all the troops of the Empire, "where martial law exists," which was tendered to him Aug-

Whether this was decided before or after the attempt on the life of the Grand Duke at Krasnoye-Sele on August 19 is not known, but the ostensible reason is that Grand Duke Nicholas believes such a post should not be given to a grand duke, but merely a military man. He advocates the appointment of General Linevitch, formerly commander-in-chlef of the Manchuriran army, but the Em-peror has not finally decided the matter.

Czarevitch's Gloomy Birthday.

Today the second birthday of the Czare

Today the second birthday of the Czarevitch was observed with the usual display of flags and illuminations, but there was no enthusiasm in the celebration. In fact, few persons seemed even to know what the occasion of the decorations was. The day was quiet in the capital.

The activity of the Terrorists in the provinces included, beside the usual harvest of assessinations in Warsaw, an attempt on the life of General Karateieff, chief of the gendarmerie of Samara province, and the wounding of Captain of Police Ivanoff, of Libau, by a youth who fired thrice at him on the street.

The assailant of General Karatelieff mounted the stuirs of the General's chancellory and threw a bomb at random. The missile failed to explode and the miscremissile falled to explode and the miscre-ant escaped in spite of hot pursuit.

Warsaw's Governor Removed.

General Strijoff, acting Governor-General of Warsaw City and province, has been relieved of his office and will be succeeded by General von Tarsky. It is con-jectured that the change is due to Gen-eral Strijoff's order with reference to the responsibility of towns which General Skallon, before his transfer to Helsingfors as Governor-General of Finland, was obliged to cancel obliged to cancel.

DETECTIVE IS HELD UP H. L. Pye Robbed by Masked Highwayman at Woodstock.

A private detective and a highwayman, his face covered with a white handker-chief which prevented breathing fluently, had it out on the sandiots at Woodstock last night, and the highwayman won by dextrous ability with a revolver. The detective, H. L. Pye, who but lately joined the ranks of private sleuths, lost his newly acquired star, $7 in sliver and his watch. The timepiece was later returned after the works had been examined by the masked man.

After spending a day of hard work, in crown of the Brazilian Emperor, which which he traveled from Vancouver, Wash. to Portland and to Woodstock on detective business, Pye was on his the masked man. detective business. Pye was on his way home when he met the highwayman. The victim of the hold-up neglected to carry his revolver, or the battle might have Pye refused. The highwayman insisted, first using argument and later force. He placed his revolver against Pye's ribs and fammed the barrel so hard that Pye winced. As the detective raised his arms he attempted to grab the highwayman's revolver and take it from him. A hand-to-hand scuffle followed, in which Pye went down.

The wibte mask bothered the highwayman's nasal exercise, but he persisted until he had conquered Pye, and made him stand up with his back turned. Grasping the detective by an upraised arm, he placed the muzzle of his revolver against his back and compelled him to submit to his back and compelled him to submit to being searched. The detective did not re-monstrate when his money was taken, but he kicked when the robber attempted to steal his watch. After examining the timepiece the masked man returned it with the joy remark that "the tin thing s no good, anyway.

A third dispute followed when the man behind the gun attempted to take a gold band ring from the detective's finger. The ring would not leave the finger readily, so Pye was allowed to keep it. Putting the detective's star and the money in his pocket, the persistent hold-up ordered Pye to move on. Pye started to run, but was stopped at a command and a threatening movement of the pisto run, but was stopped at a command and a threatening movement of the pistol, and was told to slow up, as there was no hurry. Pye complied until he thought he was out of range, then hot-footed for his home. On his way he stopped long enough to notify residents of Woodstock that he had been held up. With a friend, Pye went to police headquarters and made a report of the affair to Captain Brain.

HOLD-UP MEN KILL SAN FRAN-CISCO CITIZEN.

When Ordered to Throw Up Hands, He Resists and Is Shot In His Tracks.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.-The police tonight are scouring the western part of Golden Gate Park for four highwaymen who robbed two men and two women on the Ocean boulevard about 10 o'clock topight and an hour later shot and killed Fred Mullineaux in attempting to hold him up, Mullineaux and a companion, Miss Norma Plisa, of 1831 Golden Gate avenue, had spent the evening on the beach. According to Miss Plisa's story, she and Mullineaux were walking down the boulevard and were half way between Sheehan's tavern and the life saving station, when four masked men suddenly stepped from the thick break which was a station of the control of the station of the the thick brush which skirts the speed-way, and demanded, at the point of pis-tols, the couple's money and valuables. Mullineaux made a move as if he in-tended to resist, and was instantly shot dead by one of the masked robbers, the bullet striking him in the forehead. Mul-lineaux's companion fied towards the life saving station. Mounted Policeman Mer-

ASKS MODIFICATION FOR

Matter Comes Before Railway Commission at Olympia for Rehearing This Week-No Evidence to Justify Change.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 12 - (Special.)-The Northern Pacific Railway Company has filed with the Railroad Commission formal objection to the order of the Com-mission relating to joint wheat rates, to-gether with a brief in favor of a modifi-cation of the order.

In this brief, it is argued that no evidence was introduced at the recent hearing to show that any shipper would be prejudiced by there being no joint rate from or between points on the line of the Northern Pacific Rallway Company or from points on the line of the Washington & Columbia River Rallway Company, with which it has a traffic agreement. with which it has a traffic agreement, and an established joint rate, to any point on the Northern Pacific.

No Injustice Being Done.

It is argued that the circumstances are such that no injustice could possibly fol-low the failure of any other railway to make a joint rate between the same points. It is insisted that the Commission hould not order the establishment of a coint rate from either Oakesdale, Garfield, Pullman, Spokane, Connell, Walla Walla Dayton, Waltsburg, Hunt's Junction and Wallula, and the Puget Sound terminals of Tacoma, Seattle, Everett and Belling-ham, because the Northern Pacific and the Washington & Columbia are now car-rying freight between the points named at the rate fixed by the Commission.

Can He Hold Old Silver States. Out of the entire list of Western state carried by Bryan in 1896, Montana, Colorado and Nevada are probably the only ones which Bryan could possibly capture. ince Nebrasks, his home state, recov ered from the silver craze, it has become abued with such rock-ribbed Republican ideas that Bryan himself could not, un less by a miracle, secure its few electoral votes. He might get Colorado, unless Roosevelt was running against him, and he might capture Montana and Nevada. Money plays a conspicuous part in the collifes of these three states, and this factor has been largely responsible for Democratic success in late years in all three. But sentiment against corruption has been aroused and these three states are preparing to send Republicans to the United States Senate in place of wealthy Democrats, now considered defeated.

would be because of his old silver views. A considerable element in the Bryan ranks in these states still has faith in 16 to 1, and would again follow him if he took up the old battle-scarred banner for a third time. Put Bryan on a tariff platform or an anti-trust platform with free silver left out, and the chances are he could not even carry Colorado. Montana and Nevada. On the other hand, the free silver craze was buried so deep in the other seven states that Bryan himself could not revive it to such an extent as to gather a majority of the votes. There has been an enormous in-Southern Pacific in this section for many flux of new people into all of these states since Bryan last held the boards, and, judging by the increased Republican mathat would rally round Bryan and his silver banner.

These being the facts on which the Eastern papers predict Bryan's defeat, if nominated, it seems reasonable to ac cept their judgment as sound. Bryan says he still believes in free silver; his name will always be associated with that issue, and, if nominated, he would awaken that same distrust that defeated him in two memorable campaigns. If McKinley could overwhelm Bryan in 1896 and 1900, Roosevelt or Taft or Cannon or even Fairbanks ought to be able to defeat him in 1908, for Bryan seems to advocate nothing that will serve to re store confidence among the gold Democrats, but on the contrary advocates that which will forever keep them out of the party ranks.

Republican Fears Quieted. .

When the Bryan boom was revived, it was generally believed that the party idol had been convinced of the folly of his old notions and that he would repudiate the silver issue and run on latter-day ques tions that have arisen since he last stood in the limelight. Recognizing the personal popularity of the man, his magnetism and wonderful qualities as a leader, the Republicans became slarmed, fearing that the new Bryan, on new issues, would win back those Democrats who deserted their party in 1896, and, by taking up the cause of the "common people," would make in-roads into the Republican ranks. They feared the "new Bryan" and began to look about for "a man to beat Bryan." Then it was that the press generally expressed the opinion that Bryan would ome pretty near sweeping the country, and that fear did more than anything els to revive the talk of a third term for

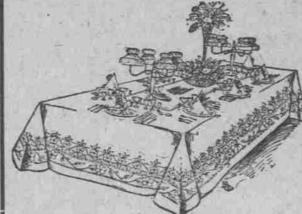

But leaders and papers that expressed neern when the Bryan boom first took hold, finding that they are confronted by the same old Bryan and the same old deas, look forward with less concern to 1908. It seems to be the prevailing belief today that any one of the svaliable Republican candidates could win out over Bryan, unless Bryan, upon his return to this country, once more buries the free-silver corpse and pledges himself to let it rest forever in its grave. If he should do that, there would be another revival of third-term talk and more concern on the part of Republican leaders. But only under those circumstances will Bryan be considered a dangerous opponent.

Yesterday the Forepaugh & Selis Bros.' circus made one of the longest jumps on record in the show business. The circus left Spokane as soon as possible after the Saturday night performance and traveled all day yesterday, until their destination, Bellingham, was reached. The distance is something more than 450 miles. Short jumps are usually made by the big show companies, but the trip from Spokane to Bellingham could not be avoided. During the journey yesterday it was necessary to unload and feed the animals at two different points. This not only at two different points. This not only required time but a great deal of work on the part of the management. One of the stops was at Cascade tunnel on the Great Northern Railroad. This spot is at the summit of the mountains, and was selected because of the fact that there is selected because of the fact that there is pienty of open ground for the temporary camp and an abundance of good water for the animals.
