UNDER ARMY REGULATIONS

Great Event of Week Will Be Sham
Battle Thursday and Friday.
Oregon Boys to Defend Tacoma From Attack.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, American Lake, Wash., Aug. 12.—(Special Correspondence.)—Uncle Sam's big fighting machine here is rolling about camp today. The 8000 integral parts of the brigade mechanism are being given an opportunity to restore an energy for the wear and tear of a week's campaigning. This campaign will begin with the sounding of reveille. Only such men as are necessary to carry out the camp routine are on duty today. The others are lying in their tents, strolling about in the woods or swimming in American Lake. During the next seven days there will be much loss of avoidables. Forced marches, night bivouacs, skirmish fighting and the hundred and one arduous incidents of active service will tend to remove surplus weight and put every man engaged into fine condition. The regulars are already hardened and bronzed, but the guardsmen as yet are uncolored by the sun, although tomorrow's campaigning will give them a good start towards the coveted coloring of a veteran.

Oregon Men Favorites.
Oregon's troops are already in favor with the majority of the regulars. Not even those regiments that have been here a month are any more comfortably or more fully established than the Oregon boys. With officers who have studied the war game and well defined esprit du corps, the Oregon regiment can readily lay claim to supremacy over any of the National Guard organizations here. Those who visited the various sites today could not help but note the superior camp arrangements of the Oregon infantry.

The men had most of the details of camp completed by Saturday night and yesterday squads of men established sanitary systems, laid water pipe to tap a reservoir several hundred yards distant and set up various other conveniences. There was not a single breach of discipline, every order was executed promptly and without delay. The Oregon guard would have to undergo the same treatment in order to be mustered into the regular service.

Troops in every direction are anxious for the beginning of the regular service tomorrow. The establishment of a camp may be interesting and instructive, but it does not provide the element of exciting activity that the soldier craves. The soldier wants to be in the field, seeking to harass and defeat some opposing force, even if it does imply hard marching under a scorching sun and the missing of an occasional meal.

The maneuvering of tomorrow will be of little consequence, however, from the standpoint of exciting features. The skirmishing will not be in brigade formations. It will be left to regimental and battalion commanders to work out their men in skirmish and scouting parties, which will be equally devoid of excitement, as will Wednesday. On Thursday the battle of the entire encampment will open.

To Defend Tacoma.

It is to Thursday's action that all the troops are looking forward with eager anticipation. The maneuvering involved will be unlike any of the movements engaged in two years ago. Every man in camp will be engaged. The forces will be evenly divided and the commanders will have to work out the military problems involved as they present themselves. The general scheme of battle is a defense of Tacoma from a large invading army. The action will continue through Friday and will necessitate a night in the field under shelter tent and with the coarsest of field rations.

Select Oregon Men.

It was learned today at general headquarters that the Oregon infantry regiment and separate battalion will be assigned to the division defending Tacoma. With the exception of eight companies of Montana infantry and a troop of Washington cavalry, the other troops of this brigade will consist of regular Army soldiers. The regular organizations with which the Oregon men will cooperate are: First Battalion of Engineers, First Battalion Field Artillery, hospital detachments, regular Army Fourteenth Infantry, Second Cavalry Regiment, Twenty-second Infantry, Signal Corps detachments. All these troops are stationed at the upper camp, a short distance out of Murray station.

In the opposing force are the following troops, all stationed at Nisqually, five miles southwest of the Oregon camp: Fourteenth Cavalry Regiment, Twentieth Infantry, Eleventh Battalion Field Artillery, Seventh Infantry, Third Infantry, Second Washington Infantry, First Idaho Infantry, Washington Hospital Corps.

Soldiers Join in Song.

Impressive religious services were held in the Oregon camp this evening at dusk. Chaplain Gilbert had church call sounded at 7 P. M., and every man and officer in camp not on guard detail attended the services, which were held at a picturesque spot under a clump of knotted scrub oak. The Third Oregon Band played a concert of sacred and patriotic music, and most of the men joined in the song service that was made a part of this programme. Chaplain Gilbert delivered a brief sermon, suitable to the time and place. Following church, there were impromptu singing services throughout the camp until call to quarters sounded.

Early in the morning the Oregon ride team will start on its journey to Seagirt, N. J., to participate in the National shooting tournament at that point, which takes place in September. General Finzer and Major F. S. Baker instructed the members of the team this evening to make preparations for departure. The team will go direct from here to Orville, Wash., where it will stop for a week of practice work on the military rifle range at that point. It will then proceed to Seagirt.

Men Dead Shots.

Eighteen men are assigned to this expedition. General Finzer and Major Baker will be in charge. They will leave camp with the determination of returning from New Jersey with one of the National trophies for marksmanship. They have reason to anticipate success, since 11 members of the team are admittedly dead shots. At a recent tryout they made an average score of 49 points out of a possible 50 at the rapid-fire shooting over a 300-yard range.

In the skirmish firing the team averaged 87 points out of a possible 100, and at slow firing 90 points out of 100. Major Baker, coach of the team and a marksman of ability, will develop a 12th expert out of the four extra men who will accompany the team. He intends to go right after one or more of the trophies and to establish a record for the Oregon marksmen. The trophies have never been captured by a Western rifle team.

There were a number of minor cases of sickness in the Oregon camp today, their ailments having been brought on by the change from city to camp life and the consequent change of home rations for coarse Army fare. Colonel Gantenbein was among those afflicted, but he was able to direct the construction of the camp, and this evening was entirely recovered.

WON BY MAROONS

Schillers Beaten in Game for City Championship.

SIEBELS IN GREAT FORM

His Curves Insoluble to Cigarmakers, and Maroon Players Put Up a Great Game in the Field.

The Brainard Maroons yesterday afternoon wrested the title of amateur chamions of the city from the hitherto undefeated Schillers by a score of 4 to 1. The victory was clean and decisive.

Hugo Siebels, in the box for the Maroons, was an insoluble puzzle to the Schillers, and it was only through great luck that they escaped a whitewash. For eight innings Siebels held his opponents helpless, and it was only in the last inning that, after he had received a severe blow from a pitched ball on his working arm, he let up. In the last session the Schillers chased over one run on a hit by Burns and a wild throw by Mangold.

On the other hand, the Maroons pummeled Rich Parrot rather freely, and gave their own twirler great support. At critical times there was not a hole in the Maroon infield, while everything was pie to the outfielders. McPherson, in center field, did clever work for the Brainards, cutting off several dangerous drives with the ease of a leaguer. Joe Mangold, at third base, played a steady game, and, with the exception of his single miscue, was steady at all stages.

Not till the seventh inning did either side chase over a tally. Here McPherson drew a walk, was forced to second and came in on a hit from Siebels' bat. Alec Oliver made a fairly good return of Siebels' drive, but Slavin misjudged it, and McPherson tallied without trouble. In the ninth three singles in a row by the Maroons and loose work by the cigarmakers allowed three runs to come across, which practically clinched the result. In this inning Siebels was hit hard on the wrist, but he gamely went in and held the Schillers down to a single run.

Ed Rankin and Buck Keith gave perfect satisfaction as umpires, and a large crowd of 1200 people was well satisfied with the game, which was exciting throughout. There will probably be no more amateur ball for some time, as the big leaguers come back this week for an extended stay. Yesterday's score:

AN OLD TIMER

Has Had Experiences.

A woman who has used Postum Food Coffee since it came upon the market eight years ago, knows from experience the necessity of using Postum in place of coffee, if one values health and a steady brain.

"At the time Postum was first put on the market I was suffering from nervous dyspepsia and my physician had repeatedly told me not to use tea or coffee. Finally I decided to take his advice and try Postum, and got a sample and had it carefully prepared, finding it delicious to the taste. So I continued its use and very soon its beneficial effects convinced me of its value, for I got well of my nervousness and dyspepsia.

"My husband had been drinking coffee all his life, until it had affected his nerves terribly. I persuaded him to shift to Postum, and it was easy to get him to make the change, for the Postum is so delicious. It certainly worked wonders for him.

"We soon learned that Postum does not exhilarate or depress, and does not stimulate, but steadily and honestly strengthens the nerves and the stomach. To make a long story short, our entire family have now had Postum for eight years with completely satisfying results, as shown in our fine condition of health, and we have noticed a rather unexpected improvement in health and nerve power." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Increased brain and nerve power always follow the use of Postum in place of coffee, sometimes in a very marked manner. Look in packages for "The Road to Wellville."
