Tanner Recommends Protest Against Monument and Glories in Fact That Muckrake Never Found Veteran Among Grafters.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 16.—Commander-in-chief, R. B. Brown, Zanesville, O. Senior vice-commander, William H. Armstrong, Indianapolis.

These officers were elected today at the National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. All other officers are staff appointments and will be announced later by the new commander-in-chief.

It is expected that the debate on the Wirz monument proposition also will come up tomorrow. Despite the fact that Commander-in-Chief Tanner strongly urged that a protest be made against the erection of the monument, there is a pronounced feeling that the matter is not one of which the Grand Army should take official notice.

The new commander-in-chief, R. B. Brown, was born in 1845 and has always lived in Ohio. He enlisted in the Fifteenth Ohio Infantry at the age of 16 and served in the Fourteenth Army Corps in the Army of the Cumberland, until he was mustered out in 1864.

The annual report of James Tanner, the retiring commander-in-chief, made today, states that notwithstanding the fearful floods of death the organization today is 3500 stronger than at the encampment in Denver last year.

He said the G. A. R. has attained a position of commanding influence. He bitterly arraigned those who, posing as the "most eminent men of the Nation," had proved false to their trust in various ways.

Observe Memorial Day. The commander-in-chief reiterated his views expressed in general orders regarding a proper observance of Memorial day, and said that, as the result of his recommendations concerning the graves of Confederates buried on Northern soil, he had received a number of touching messages from mothers of the South whose sons are buried in Northern soil.

Membership Still Growing. The total membership of the Grand Army is declared in the report of Adjutant-General Tweedle to be 235,823, an increase of 2365 during the last six months.

Will Meet at Hot Springs. The proposition to increase the salaries of the president and secretary-treasurer from $1800 to $2400 per year was adopted.

Platform Ready in Advance Nebraska Republican Committee for Protection and Against Trusts.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 16.—The committee appointed by the state convention to prepare a platform to be submitted to the Republican State Convention August 25, completed its labors this afternoon.

The platform indorses the record of the Republican party and noting with pride the work of the last Congress, the platform declares "unalterable allegiance to the principles of protection and approves the efforts of the National Administration to insure justice for the people against trusts."

We declare ourselves as unalterably opposed to the domination of corporations in public affairs and urge the enactment by the next Legislature of an anti-trust law that will prevent the issuance of any free pass, treat ticket, free transportation or transportation known as newspaper or editorial mileage, except to bona fide employees of a railroad and to members of their immediate families, and caretakers of livestock.

An employers' liability bill is favored and the platform says: We recommend our representatives in Congress to urge the speedy adoption of such laws and regulations as will permit the leasing, sale or other disposition of the Government lands in the western portion of the state in such manner as will best protect the interests of the residents.

Old Woman Heart-Broken. "She refused to eat, but that was due to sorrow. She wanted her daughter to send her back to California, but this she refused to do. The mother was so terribly heartbroken because of the conduct of her daughter that she lost all interest in life, and I believe determined to kill herself by starvation.

UTAH SENATOR ON INDIANS Sutherland Believes They Will Become Good American Citizens.

George Sutherland, United States Senator from Utah, is at the Hotel Portland, on his way to Victoria, B. C., on private business.

It is the intention of the United States Government ultimately to put all the Indians on their own resources and get rid of an expense that now runs into hundreds of millions of dollars annually.

It is a tremendous undertaking and naturally will require much work. After a careful consideration of the situation it seems that this will be a much better system than the one now in vogue.

Where the Indian lives on a reservation he is inclined to be lazy, knowing that the Government will provide him with rations and look after his welfare.

Is Naturally a Nomad. "Naturally the Indian is a nomad. He likes to hunt and fish and take life as easy as possible. The reservation system rather encourages this sort of life, and it is our intention to gradually divide a certain amount of land among the Indians, perhaps inserting a clause whereby it will be impossible for him to dispose of at least a portion of his holdings.

Redmen Wealthy as a People. "There are in the neighborhood of 90,000 Indians among the five civilized tribes in the Indian Territory. Owing to the bill passed during the last session of Congress making the Territory and Oklahoma one state, the Indians are being taken from their former reservations and will in time become individual citizens of the United States.

the broken life of this poor woman, whose own daughter, it appears, loves her least of all. "Just before she was taken away, the women of the neighborhood were not allowed to go near her. Mrs. Jarvis did not want us to see her, as they knew that we could tell that she was not insane. However, we do know, or most firmly believe, that she did not want anything more than that the daughter is to blame for this great injustice.

Is Intelligent and Refined. "Mrs. Jarvis is one of the kindest and most lovable old ladies I ever met. She is very intelligent and appears to be a woman of education and refinement. She loved her daughter, and things she discovered upon coming here filled her heart with sorrow and almost killed her. It is one of the most pitiful instances of mistreatment I ever heard of.

"I talked with Judge Webster regarding the condition of Mrs. Jarvis, and he says that she is just bordering on insanity. He is of the belief that if she will make up her mind to eat, she will recover entirely. But he does not know all the circumstances, as we do.

"The little boy of Ida Jarvis has been subjected to abuse, too, and if it does not stop I shall most assuredly appeal to the authorities. We don't want anything more to do with Ida Jarvis if we can help it. I know that she was sent over to leave the neighborhood and never return, and it did not take her long to heed the warning."
