Grand Army of the Republic completed its 40th encampment late today and adjourned to meet in Saratoga, N. Y., in 1907. The encampment after an exciting debate decided that a protest against the erection of a statue to Henry Wirz should be sent General S. D. Lee, the commander of the Southern Veterans' Association. This action was decided upon only after a long debate, which at times became energetic and acrimonious. The proposition to de-precate the action of Congress in abol-ishing the canteen at the Old Soldiers' Homes was laid on the table without debute

Staff of Commander-in-Chief.

Just prior to the final adjournment, the new commander-in-chief, R. B. Brown, of Zanssville, O., announced the following staff apointments:

Quartermaster-general, Charles Bur-

Quartermaster-general, Charles Bur-rows, of New Jersey. Assistant Quartermaster-general, H. J. Holcombe, of Philadelphia. Chief of Staff, J. V. Winanes, of Ohio. When the encampment was called to order this morning the first question up for settlement was the selection of the place for holding the next encamp-ment. The invitation of Saratoga, N. Y., was presented yesterday and that of Cinchnati was made as soon as the meeting was called to order today. The final vote showed 403 for Saratoga and to bring up the canteen question, but was squelched summarily, the whole question being laid on the table at once.

Debate on Wirz Statue. Adam F. Ketcham, of Indianapolis, then presented a minority report from the committee on resolutions, which had been silent on the question of the proposed statue to Wirz. He moved that an address should be sent to Gen-eral S. D. Lee, the commander of the Southern Veterans' Association, asking that the influence of the Southern sol-diers be used against the project. Mr. Ketcham spoke for 30 minutes in sup-port of his motion and was followed by Past Commander E. Torrance, of Min-respolis, who declared that the Grand Army should not, in his opinion, take official cognitance of the matter at this time. Both speakers were loudly othered, as were others who spoke on the question.

Commander-in-Chief Tanner, who had urged in his report that a protest should be made against the statue, gave up the chair to make an impas-stoned appeal from the floor in support stoned appeal from the floor in support of the minority report of Mr. Ketcham, which was in line with the suggestion made in his report. The debate grew very warm and a few personalities were indulged in. The minority report was adopted by a viva voce vote and apparently by a large majority.

He who tears down for the joy of it, or for the attention he may draw toward himself, should himself be torn down. But he who points out the evils of the time and indicates how they may be remedied; he who points to the good that is being done, and the good that may be done-he, we believe, has a place in our progressive, active, strenuous, earnest American life-whether "he" be a man or a magazine.

Just pick up the September number of Everybody's and look for the "tearing down."

See Russell-how he pictures the abolition of slavery in Australia-didn't you know there was actual human slavery there six years ago? How a small body of workingmen did work too big for experienced and able legislators-controlling strikes and a land-domination equal to our Trust and Railroad domination. Read Marion Melius' account of the big, broad-minded, progressive, but simple plan by which Springfield, Massachusetts, is bringing her children of low intelligence and small opportunities up to the higher level. Then Teague showing how victims of bucket-shop swindlers can recover their losses, and how bucket-shoppers can be driven out of business, leaving the field clear to legitimate investors and saving the millions, and the honor, and even the lives of good Americans.
