MARION AND LINN POOL INTERESTS

Three Republican Senators to Vote as Unit in Presidency Fight.

MAY BECOME BIG FACTOR

Possible That Combination Will Hold Balance of Power in Contest—Race Between Hodson and the Field.

In order to sway the election of President of the Oregon Senate, less than four months hence, the three Republican State Senators for Marion and Linn Counties have pooled their interests. T. B. Kay and Dr. J. N. Smith, of Marion, and Frank J. Miller, of Linn and Marion, agreeing to cast their three votes as a unit for the man who shall "look good" to two of them. This is the story wafted down from the hop fields and it seems to have authentic substance.

This merger will have an important bearing on the fight now waging for President between C. W. Hodson, of Multnomah, on the one side, and E. W. Haines, of Washington; N. Whealdon, of Wasco, and Dan J. Malarkey, of Multnomah, on the other. It is quite possible that this combination will wield the balance of power when the Legislature shall meet at Salem January 14 of next year. Hodson needs these three votes and it looks as if he cannot succeed without them. And the lineup on the other side promises to be such that they will be needed there too.

Of the 14 holdover Republicans, eight will fight Hodson to the last ditch, as they fought the element that Hodson was affiliated with in the last Legislature—Malarkey and Nottingham, of Multnomah; Haines, of Washington; Wright, of Yamhill; Whealdon, of Wasco; Laycock, of Crook; Bowerman, of Gilliam, and McDonald, of Union. Of the 14, Hodson will have at least four, if Mays, of Multnomah, shall attend the Legislature, the others being Booth, of Lane; Sichel and Hodson himself, of Multnomah. The two other Republican holdovers—Loughary, of Polk, and Coke, of Coos, are accounted doubtful.

Line-Up of New Senators.

Of the 10 new Republican Senators, the opposition to Hodson will have Schofield, of Clatsop, and Bingham, of Lane (who will probably side with Haines) and Cole, of Umatilla (who is understood to be allied with Malarkey). Hodson will have Bailey and Beach, of Multnomah. Hart, of Malheur, and Johnson, of Benton, are credited to the doubtful list.

This leaves the three Senators from Linn and Marion unplaced. It is thought in gossiping circles, however, that they will be found probably in the anti-Hodson camp, provided they can see there a man on whom the whole opposition can unite. A resume of the foregoing would be:

For Hodson—Booth, Sichel, Mays, Bailey, Beach, Hodson—6.

For Whealdon—McDonald, Laycock, Bowerman, Whealdon—4.

For Malarkey—Nottingham, Cole, Malarkey—3.

For Haines—Wright, Schofield, Bingham, Haines—4.

Doubtful—Loughary, Coke, Hart, Johnson—4.

Marion-Linn merger (also in doubt)—Kay, Smith, Miller—3.

With all Republican Senators in caucus, 13 votes will be needed for the nomination, and to get this number Hodson evidently must have in addition to his six the four classed in the above as doubtful, and the three of the Marion-Linn combine—this on the presumption that his opponents can hold their forces together.

The foremost rival of Hodson is Haines, whose chances at the present time are viewed as the most favorable of any candidate. The unifying force of his support is opposition to Hodson, which may be either strength or weakness, depending on the point of view. For the antipathy to Hodson stimulates Hodson's foes to fight him, while it leaves a chance that those whom it controls may not be able to unite their forces on one man any more readily, than could the opponents of Binger Hermann in the Eugene convention of 1903, when Hermann's enemies outnumbered him and broke up his forces, but were unable themselves to unite, with the result that Hermann's followers pulled together again and nominated their man for Congress.

Now Hodson Against the Field.

So far, the race is Hodson against the field, with Haines the leader of his rivals. The Hodson forces have strong hopes of winning the four Senators classed in the foregoing as doubtful—Loughary, Coke, Hart and Johnson, while his rivals say that Coke may not be found in his camp, nor any of the four. They assert that while Coke worked with the Hodson forces in control of the last State Senate, he expressed regrets, toward the end of the session, that he had done so.

They aver that Loughary is also doubtful for Hodson, and point out the inability of the Senate organization at the last session to "handle" him for the Jayne bill. Hart, when in Portland a short time ago, announced that he had not made up his mind where to place his vote.

The important question is whether Hodson's opponents can unite on one of their own number. Hodson is building on hopes that they cannot, while they are doing the opposite. Union of the Haines 4, Malarkey 3 and Whealdon 4 would give a total of 11 votes, which, increased by the three from Marion and Linn, could name the president without the four in the doubtful list. The most likely man for them to unite on seems to be Haines, to whom Malarkey's 3 and Whealdon's 4 could probably go readily.

The speakership fight, between Chapin of Multnomah, Davey of Marion, Vawter of Jackson, and B. F. Jones of Polk, so far as Chapin is concerned, is waiting on the issue of the presidency fight, for he will be an active candidate in the event of some other than a Multnomah Senator becoming president. The leading candidate in this contest appears to be Davey.

WORD RENEWS HIS CLAIM

Ex-Sheriff Again Files Gambling-Raid Expense Bill.

That Tom Word, late Sheriff, of Multnomah County, is determined to force the taxpayers to reimburse him for expenses incurred in closing up the gambling establishments and dens of vice in Portland, is evident from the fact that yesterday he presented a bill to County Auditor Brandes for $860.95, based on his outlay of money for watchmen stationed at the Warwick Club, Portland Club, Paris House, Little Paris House, and other establishments of similar character.

This is not the first time Mr. Word has tried to collect the money he claims is due him on this score, but heretofore his efforts have been frowned on by the County Commissioners, and his appeals to higher courts have met with no more gratifying results. To be sure, the ex-Sheriff has included in this last statement of account expenses not enumerated in any previous bill, but it is thought they will all look alike to the authorities, and that Mr. Word will have to invoke the aid of the courts if he expects to realize anything.

In his latest bill are the expense accounts of Jasper Fuller, amounting to $660 for services as keeper at the Warwick Club from December 1, 1904, to June 12, 1905, at $3 a day; G. W. Wise, as keeper of the Portland Club from December 8, 1904, to January 10, 1905, $102; B. L. Kelly, keeper of Paris House and "Harmons," during February, 1905, $15; J. L. Sperry, keeper of Paris House three days in February, 1905, $9; William Harriman, keeper of the Little Paris House, five days, $15, besides a lot of incidentals, swelling the total to the figure first named.

Of the keepers for these establishments, Fuller and Sperry both have died since the claims originated, and if the sentiment of the County Commissioners is any criterion, a great many earthly changes will take place before Mr. Word gets his money, although County Auditor Brandes admits having approved Mr. Word's suggestion in the start to place keepers in charge of the establishments.

The ex-Sheriff in his complaint filed at the time he brought suit to recover from the county, claims to have collected in excess of $3,000 in fines during his crusade against gambling, as a result of which the illegal practice was suppressed in this county. The bill presented yesterday reads, "expenses incurred in enforcing the gambling ordinances."

The record of Mr. Word's litigation indicates that the demurrer of Multnomah County was sustained by Judge Frazer to his original complaint, as well as to the amended complaint when it came up for consideration, whereupon Word dismissed the suits without prejudice to a new action. It is thought his present action is taken for the purpose of bringing the matter before the courts on a writ of review, as was done in the case of Fred L. Olson, the East Side Justice, who has filed a claim for $259.02 against the county for furnishing his office.

WIFE DEMANDS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Charlotta K. Carlson Also Asks Share of Husband's Property.

Mrs. Charlotta K. Carlson, wife of Gustave H. Carlson, president and manager of the Portland Manufacturing Company, of St. Johns, is determined that her husband shall not dissipate his property before she gets her share of it, and is equally positive that the court must grant her a divorce.

Yesterday she brought suit in the State Courts against her husband, in which she includes the Portland Manufacturing Company and Peter Autzen, its secretary, setting up in her complaint the fact of her marriage to Mr. Carlson at San Francisco in July, 1888. She also charges him with disregarding his duties as a husband towards her, and of being guilty of habitual drunkenness for a period of more than one year.

Three children of the marriage are now living—Florence, 17 years old; Hazel, 15 and Ralph, aged 10.

Complainant sets forth also that her husband is the owner of 179 shares of the capital stock of the Portland Manufacturing Company which is made a party to the suit under injunction proceedings to restrain it from transferring the stock on the books of the corporation, it being alleged that by reason of his dissolute habits her husband is rapidly dissipating his property, and is likely to sell the stock unless restrained.

Plaintiff prays for a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between herself and husband; that the custody of the children be awarded her, and for $10,000 to apply toward education of the minor children; also for $2500 to apply towards the maintenance of plaintiff personally, and to compel Carlson to sell his stock in the Portland Manufacturing Company for the purpose of meeting these requirements.

Plaintiff also asks for a decree compelling her husband to pay a reasonable sum into court to cover costs of suit, together with alimony.

Mrs. Carlson also brings a separate action against her husband in the same courts to recover on a promissory note for $1500 and costs alleged to have been executed in her favor by Mr. Carlson on May 23, 1905.

William T. Muir is her attorney.

RESIST PAVING ASSESSMENT

Suit of Russell-Street Property-Holders on Trial.

The suit of Julius Kraemer and others against the City of Portland, involving the legality of the municipal assessment for the improvement of Russell street, between Williams and Gantenbein avenue, is on trial before Judge Frazer. The contract for laying the pavement was let to Elwood Wiles, and he is made a defendant in the case, the others being George H. Williams, who was then Mayor; Thomas C. Devlin, City Auditor, and J. E. Werlein, City Treasurer. The plaintiffs in the case are Julius Kraemer, Nicholas C. Merges, E. Hill, Etta Hill Schnauffer, Mary Duebel, the Baker-Boyer National Bank, of Walla Walla, Wash.; W. P. Matlock, the Union Trust & Investment Co., the Oddfellows' Hall Association, of Albina; Hiram C. Pettee, Christiana K. Birrell and William Druek.

The contention of the prosecution is that the pavement was laid in a slipshod fashion, and that the property-owners are not legally obliged to pay for the same.

Judge Frazer denied the motion of the attorneys for the defense for a nonsuit, and the case will proceed this morning.

WEAK CASES ARE DISMISSED

District Attorney Discharges Three Alleged Larcenists From Custody.

District Attorney Manning yesterday dismissed proceedings against John Deane, accused of stealing a cooking range valued at $75 from A. C. Lindsay and Emma Estes. The same action was taken with reference to Bert La Barge and Fred Cobb, who are alleged to have stolen two suit cases worth $8 each, besides a large quantity of clothing valued at $50 from a room in the Labbe buildign, occupied by S. H. Allen-Goodwyn.

All three men had been held to answer by Municipal Judge Cameron, but Mr. Manning did not think the evidence was sufficient to convict.

To be beaten in a ball game by a full-grown, fully-developed slabster is all right, but when we lose a 5-to-1 contest to a half-baked kid, wearing a red undershirt, our civic pride is hurt. Charley Moore did the flinging for us, and Mique Fisher is still thanking Manager McCredie for his holiday offering. Mique has never lost a game on Jewish New Years.

It is hard to tell which affected the Giants the most—young McGregor's twister or his red undershirt. It must have been the red undershirt.

Well, anyway, Red Shirt Mac never had any trouble keeping Manager Mac's crew from scoring after the second inning. Jud Smith hit one that went out to left field for two billows. Jerry Kane's single scored him. This was all for us on the scoring question, although once the bases were filled. Then Jud Smith disappointed the grandstand, and instead of hitting one safe he skied it. Moore didn't have a red shirt, but he did pretty well until the seventh. Moore's range-finder had been wobbly all along, but in the seventh inning he lost it entirely; so between a couple of fatal passes, a couple of infield cuss-word producers, three runs came in. Moore was still groggy from the previous inning when he came up in the eighth. The umpire wasn't giving him any of the corners to speak of, so two more rung fell into Mique Fisher's hopper.

Judge W. W. McCredie viewed the game from Douma row, the Judge having just returned from Seattle. The Judge was on hand when Mogul Agnew finally consented to come out from hiding and talk things over with President Bert. The bird of peace hovers over the Siwash situation, and peace sat lightly upon the Judge's soul while Portland was one run to the good. When Moore and the infield blew up, the peace—not the soul—departed. The score:

UNIVERSITY FOOTBALL DATES

No Games in California, but With Whitman and Idaho University.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, EUGENE, Or., Sept. 20.—(Special)—Football Manager Guy Mount today announced the following schedule for the season of 1906:

October 20—Oregon vs. Whitman, at Eugene.

October 26—Oregon vs. Idaho, at Moscow.

November 3—Oregon vs. Willamette, at Eugene.

November 10—Oregon vs. Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis.

November 17—Oregon vs. Washington, at Eugene.

November 29—Oregon vs. Multnomah, at Portland.

The second team will play the second teams from Willamette and Oregon Agricultural college, but dates have not yet been arranged.

The 'varsity schedule consists of only six games, but there is a general feeling among the members of the faculty and students, especially among the football men themselves, that the schedules of the past two or three years have contained too many games, and, as a consequence, the new schedule meets with general approval.

The California trip, which has been a feature for the past three years, has been abandoned, but relations have been resumed with Whitman and Idaho. The Whitman game will open the season in Eugene, and the Missionaries will go from here to Corvallis, where they will meet the team of the Oregon Agricultural college.

SILER SUES FOR DAMAGES

Calls Nelson and Nolan to Court for Impeaching Honesty.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—George Siler, the referee in the recent Gans-Nelson fight, today filed suit in the Superior Court against William Nolan, the manager of Nelson, and Nelson himself. Siler claims damages to the amount of $50,000.

Since the fight both Nolan and Nelson have repeatedly been quoted as saying that Siler received money for giving a decision in favor of Gans and that his conduct as a referee was dishonest. They also have been quoted as saying that Siler never saw the foul blow on the strength of which he awarded the fight to Gans.

All of these statements Siler declares to be untrue and claims damages for their utterance by Nelson and Nolan.

THE

National Fire Insurance Company

AND THE

Colonial Fire Underwriters

Both of HARTFORD, CONN.

have nearly completed the adjustment and payment of all direct claims against them arising from the earthquake and fire of April 18th, and on policies amounting to $2,208,064.50 have paid $2,070,089.37, showing a discount for salvages, payment in advance of maturity, compromise of doubtful claims, and all other causes, amounting to only 6 per cent, leaving an average paid under each policy of 94 per cent.

These figures are sufficient refutation of the statements which have appeared in some papers that the National and Colonial are not paying dollar for dollar, the same as the other leading foreign and American companies, and we invite comparison with the figures of any other company.

The National after reserving $2,700,000 for its unpaid losses, had a surplus to policy-holders on the first day of July, 1906, of $2,032,693.34, and to show this amount was not obliged to issue additional stock or assess its stockholders.
