ASSAULTS ON WHITE WOMEN.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—(Special.)—The riots here are the direct result of 13 assaults and attempted assaults on white women, which have occurred in Atlanta and surrounding vicinity within the last two months. ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—The day has passed without serious trouble following the riots of Saturday night and Sunday morning. Unconfirmed rumors of a white man killed by negroes, and a negro being shot to pieces by enraged whites have been heard. Governor Terrell has ordered to Atlanta seven companies of the State Militia, two companies from Macon and one each from the following places: Jackson, Barneville, Griffin, Rome and Lindall. These companies have arrived and are on duty in the streets. With the local companies the force of militia on duty is something more than 1000, besides a battery of artillery held in reserve. Although urgently requested from many sources to declare martial law, Governor Terrell has so far declined to do so. He said tonight that if the scenes of last night are repeated he will not hesitate to put the military in supreme control.

City is Well Patrolled.

Mayor Woodward has urged that the city and county police with the militia are amply able to handle the situation. The entire city is being patrolled, both the business center and the residence districts, where great anxiety was expressed last night and today in anticipation of tonight's possibilities.

Mayor Woodward has issued a request that all citizens remain off the streets tonight. He will order all saloons closed tomorrow morning. All boys under 21 years of age have been ordered to keep off the streets. It was the consensus of opinion during the early evening that if tonight shall pass without serious disturbance no further trouble need be expected.

A meeting of citizens representing the best element of Atlanta was held this afternoon to consider the situation. Governor Terrell, Mayor Woodward, Colonel Robert Lowry, Colonel James English and others to the number of 300 were present. Speeches were made and warmly applauded in which the killing of a half score of innocent negroes and the death of a score of whites and blacks were condemned as a reflection on the spirit of the city, state and the South.

Sensational Newspapers Condemned

The heralding of recent assaults on white women by negroes, in the flaming headlines in extra editions of local papers, was condemned in unmeasured terms and the earnest request was made that hereafter no special editions concerning these topics be issued. Such "inflammatory headlines" were declared to have been the direct incitement to the outrage of last night. Resolutions were adopted urging upon the City Council the enactment of laws closing negro dives, in which, it was declared, much of the crime among the negro classes has its origin. Closer restrictions of saloons for both whites and blacks was demanded from the city authorities. Governor Terrell said he would proclaim martial law if conditions warranted. The support of those present was pledged to city, county and state authorities in combined efforts to control the situation.

Negro Quarter Swarms With Whites.

Numerous and persistent rumors are reaching the city of negroes attacking white persons and stoning street-cars in the suburbs and outskirts of the city. Several street-cars arriving from their runs show broken windows, while their crews are refusing to go out tonight. The larger part of the militia is concentrated in the downtown districts. Marston and Decatur streets, both frequented by negroes, are crowded with white men. The troops are marching through the crowds, constantly, trying to enforce the order of the Mayor that the streets shall be cleared.

More than 50 arrests have been made of members of last night's mob on charges of incitement to riot. Five hundred dollars bond has been required in each case. Of the dead it is impossible to get the names. Partial lists have been prepared and no two of them agree.

HAVANA, Sept. 23.—All classes are now waiting for the conditions under which tranquility will likely be restored in Cuba, and keen disappointment is expression of the present and former Secretaries of the Interior.

The members of the insurgent camp near La Lisa, just west of Havana, was visited today by great crowds of Havanaes. Encouraged by the reports that peace was imminent, the people for the first time dared to gratify their curiosity and to show their great sympathy with the revolutionary cause.

Despite the armistice which is now in effect, a clash between government troops and Pino Guerra's force was threatened today. General Avales, with 400 cavalry and 300 infantry, arrived at Guanajay at noon, having come by train from Pinar del Rio to Artemisa, prepared to proceed to Camp

Crows Visit Insurgent Camp. Many extra cars were in operation and every kind of conveyance was used by the crowd, but these were insufficient and many persons walked the 12 miles from Havana to the camp. It is feared that the effect of this enthusiasm may be bad in the event that the peace terms require the rebels to make decided concessions.

In the rebel camps are thousands of negroes, to whom revolutionary life is easy and interesting as compared with the labor on plantations. Some of the more refined of the officers, however, admit that they will not be sorry to return to their homes.

THREE PARTIES IN NEW YORK FIGHT

Old Line Conventions On Same Day.

BOTH ARE TORN WITH FACTIONS

Hearst Hopes to Get Democratic Indorsement.

NAMED BY INDEPENDENTS

Governor Higgins Appears to Have the Best of the Struggle With Odell, but May Give Way to Another Candidate.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The determination of both of the old political parties in this state to hold their state conventions on the same date this year is in its way indicative of the unprecedented situation in the political affairs of this commonwealth. It is a situation which has attracted the interest of the entire country, and is looked to have an effect upon the Presidential campaign of two years hence.

The situation involves men of National political repute, and President Roosevelt himself has let his influence diplomatically be felt, though ostensibly keeping "hands off."

Both Republican and Democratic parties are torn with factional disputes. With these internal dissensions afflicting the old parties, a third political party has been launched under the title of the Independence League. This league, which now has completed its organization in every county of the state, is the outgrowth of the Municipal Ownership League, which made the Mayorality fight in New York City last November with William Randolph Hearst, the Congressman and newspaper proprietor, at the head of the ticket. Hearst fell short of election on the face of the returns by some 3000 votes. He contested, but the ballot-boxes have never been opened.

Hearst to Pay for Ballot-Boxes.

A petition to the Supreme Court to burn the ballots was recently made by the Corporation Counsel. Hearst resisted this move and was sustained by the court with the understanding that Hearst would furnish, at his own expense, the new ballot-boxes needed for the local primaries and the regular election in November.

The Republican state convention is to be held at Saratoga, beginning Tuesday, September 25, and will continue probably through Wednesday or until a nomination has been agreed upon.

Ex-Governor B. E. Odell, Jr., as state chairman, will call the Republican assembly to order. Cord Meyer, of New York, is the chairman of the Democratic State Committee, having been elected to that position for the Parker and Herrick campaign two years ago.

Democrats Name Date First.

The Democrats were first to choose a convention date. The Republicans had apparently been undecided as to whether they should meet before or after the Democrats. Chairman Odell called the State Committee together soon after the Democrats had announced their decision, and the Gordian knot was cut by a decision to meet simultaneously with the Democrats. It was argued that if the Democrats met first they would place the Republican administration on the defensive, whereas if the Republicans met first the Democrats would be in a position to attack the platform in convention and get a good supply of political ammunition before the public through the medium of convention addresses.

Mack Turns Down Hearst.

The naming of a complete ticket by the Independence League caused Norman E. Mack, Democratic National Committeeman for New York state, to withdraw his support of Hearst. He explained that he had favored Hearst as a Democratic and not as an Independent candidate. Another name to go before the Democratic convention is that of the present District Attorney of New York County, William Travers Jerome. Jerome lent immeasurably to the interest of the situation a few weeks ago.

breaking out in several sections during last night, is now almost entirely abated.

By order of the Mayor, saloons have been closed until further notice, and many business places, such as restaurants, all-night drugstores, etc., were closed.

A negro, pursued by a crowd tonight, ran into the Marion Hotel, where he was shot and, it is thought, fatally injured. Another negro was shot in the hip in McDaniel street tonight, but the arrival of the militia saved him.

A street-car conductor, white, was shot by an unknown negro tonight, but his injuries were not serious.

At this hour the number of killed all told is placed at 16, but there is no way of finding out the definite number, as the negroes' friends carried the dead away in many cases.

Motormen Become Alarmed and Decline to Make Runs.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—Late tonight the military seems to have the situation under control. Over the telephone Governor Terrell declared that the situation is satisfactory to him and he sees no reason to declare martial law at present. Persistent rumors were spread this evening that the mob had taken a negro porter from the Marion Hotel, in the heart of town, and shot him to death. At 10 P. M. this lacked confirmation.

TEN KILLED IN RACE WAR.

List of Injured at Atlanta Will Reach Forty.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—Twenty-four hours have passed since a race war of no mean proportions began in Atlanta. In that period at least ten lives have been sacrificed and the number of injured will be 40, several of whom cannot recover. At 10 o'clock tonight the city is controlled by the police, aided by nearly 1000 State Militia. Every part of the town is patrolled by the soldiers, and the authorities seem to have the situation well in hand.

NIGHT OF TERROR IN THE CITY

Mob of Men and Boys Attacks Blacks Wherever Seen.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 23.—A race war of alarming proportions began here last night. Throughout the night it raged with varying vigor, and when morning dawned it found a number of negroes and one white man dead, a score of both races wounded, and the downtown streets in possession of eight companies of the Fifth Georgia Infantry, with a battery of light artillery in reserve. Through the day little of importance occurred. The police asserted that with the aid of the military, they now have the situation under control. This condition came as the result of numerous and repeated assaults on negroes. The last of an even dozen of such assaults within the limits of Fulton County within the last nine weeks pected on every side because of the likelihood of peace being brought about without armed American intervention. That the differences of the opposing factions could be reconciled was not generally believed to be possible until today, when it was announced that the Liberals and the Insurgents had empowered a committee to represent them before the American mediators.

It is evident that the business interests of the island have no confidence in the ability of the Cubans to rule themselves, and now, when it appears too late, they are openly favoring forcible intervention and possibly annexation. Secretary of War Taft is cognizant of this general opinion that peace cannot last unless it is enforced by an American army, but he considers it is the duty of the United States to give the republic another chance and believes it would be bad policy for the United States to keep a force in Cuba longer than is required to supervise the laying down of arms. He said today that if the Liberals and Moderates harmonize their differences, the United States must regard the compact as made in good faith.

Patched-Up Peace in Sight.

That peace will come as the result of the mediation of the United States is now believed by Cubans, regardless of party affiliations, but whether it will be on terms that will insure permanent tranquility is questioned.

Secretary Taft and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon spent Sunday quietly, receiving few persons. Representatives of the veterans and of the diplomatic corps made brief visits. Senator Alfredo Sayas later met the mediators at the American Legation and arranged for their first meeting with the Insurgents and Liberals committee tomorrow morning. All conferences hereafter will be held at the Legation, on account of its accessibility, since the most of the visitors to Taft and Bacon reside in Havana.

Taft Gives No Assurances.

When the diplomatic representatives of the foreign powers visited Mr. Morgan's villa at Marano today, Taft significantly stated that he could give them no definite assurances of peace, for the reason that terms had not been put forward. This statement was in response to an expression from Captain de Ayala, the Spanish Minister, that the world expected the United States to settle the turmoil on such generous but firm conditions as to maintain the integrity of the republic.

The members of the diplomatic corps sought their views on the situation. All of them asserted that their governments desired the peace to be ended with all possible dispatch, in order to save commercial relations and credit between the island and their countries from ruin.

Among other callers at Marano were Generals Menocal and Agramontes, who congratulated Taft and Bacon on their success in bringing the Moderate and Liberal leaders to a realization of the necessity of each making some concessions. The veterans evidenced sympathy with many of the principles for which the Insurgents took up arms. They suggested that the first basis of the negotiations should be for the revision of the Cuban constitution, alleging that it confers too much power and too little responsibility upon the members of the Cabinet.

Trouble Lies in the Cabinet.

"Cubans are too hot-blooded to be given unlimited power," said General Menocal. He declared that the present trouble resulting from the dissatisfaction of the present and former Secretaries of the Interior.

The members of the insurgent camp near La Lisa, just west of Havana, was visited today by great crowds of Havanaes. Encouraged by the reports that peace was imminent, the people for the first time dared to gratify their curiosity and to show their great sympathy with the revolutionary cause.

Marines Under Taft's Orders.

Concerning the reported preparations Saturday night for the transportation of machine guns and bluejackets by rail to Camp Columbia, Secretary Taft said today: "The United States forces are under my orders. I have given no orders for them to land and not a man shall land until I give such an order."

It now appears that Acting Secretary of the Interior Montalvo, ordered the possible landing of a supply of quartermaster's stores at the wharf. The Captain of the port gave color to the report that they had been placed there in readiness for the landing of men. The stores consisted of tent floorings, poles, pegs, water barrels and 150,000 rounds of ammunition.

Captain Couden, commander of the squadron, today explained that the stores were hurriedly placed aboard the cruiser Newark when she sailed for Cuba, and that they so encumbered her deck as to interfere with ventilation, and that it was necessary to life-space ashore where they might be stored. Captain Couden also said that if no occasion arose for the use of these stores they would be placed aboard the supply ship Celtic when she arrives.

Havana Fortifications Examined.

Lieutenant-Commander Chapin, in command of a brigade of bluejackets, today completed a review of the fortifications of Havana and reported that in the event of a future occupation of the island the city could be fully protected.

President Palma spent the quietest day he has passed since the outbreak of the revolution, remaining with his family in the residence portion of the palace nearly the entire day. Among the flood of rumors current was one that the family of President Palma had embarked on a vessel bound for New York, which is untrue. Nothing noteworthy took place in government circles today, as all the officials are awaiting the outcome of the peace negotiations. There still are occasional desertions of government troops to the rebel ranks.

BIG FLEET IN CUBAN WATERS

Army of 15,000 Men Ready to Move at a Moment's Notice.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(Special.)—Preparations for intervention in Cuba are completed. All the preliminaries have been so carefully arranged that military and naval authorities here rested today, although General Bell, chief of staff, spent

2-year-old son and aged mother of James W. Beakey, steward at the Hotel Portland. The little boy was crushed to death under a heavy barn door, and his grandmother died after picking him up and carrying him into the house. The accident occurred at the home of the father of the dead boy, East Thirty-first and Fremont streets, about 6 o'clock last night.

Andrew Beakey, the little tot who was killed, was playing about the stable with his older brother. He was barely old enough to walk. At the carriage entrance to the stable there is a large sliding door which works on oiled pulleys. In opening the door the older boy gave it a push of sufficient force to displace the runners and the heavy door tumbled to the ground, falling squarely on the little boy, who was standing near. The older youth escaped injury and began to scream for help.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beakey, the grandmother, aged 78 years, was in the kitchen, a few yards from the stable. She heard the horrified screams of the elder brother and rushed to the scene. A glance told her all, as the uninjured boy was tugging with might and main to pull the heavy door off the form of his little brother.

Although the door was heavy enough to tax the muscles of the average man, terror gave strength to the aged woman and she was able to lift it so that she could pull the imprisoned boy from underneath.

Gathering him up in her arms, and with her apron trying to stop the blood which was flowing from a horrible gash on the head of her grandson, she ran to the house. Calling to the others to summon a physician, she carried the boy to the sitting-room.

No sooner had she deposited her burden than she collapsed and fell on a sofa. Death in her case was almost instantaneous, and she did not utter a word after falling. At first it was thought she had fainted, and it was half an hour before it was known that she was dead.

Dr. Calvin S. White was called, but Mrs. Beakey had expired before he arrived. The little boy, however, still retained some life, but died shortly after the physician arrived. Examination showed that the skull had been terribly fractured.

Mrs. Beakey, while 78 years of age, was apparently in robust health, considering her long life, and it is believed by Dr. White that her death was caused directly from the excitement of the moment. Being an elderly lady, of extreme age, she could not withstand the terrible shock she experienced when she realized that her grandson, of whom she was passionately fond, had received fatal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Beakey, the parents of the little boy, are prostrated with grief both over the loss of their beloved son and the death of the grandmother, for whom they held the greatest affection. Mr. Beakey is steward at the Hotel Portland, and has lived in this city for a great many years. For years he was steward at the Arlington Club. Owing to illness he has been absent from his duties at the Hotel Portland for several months.
