

PROLIFERS GRAVES WILL BE MARKED

Early Workers in Methodism Are to Be Honored by Conference.

COMMITTEE IS APPOINTED

For First Time in History of Church, Impressive Ordination Services Are Conducted in Tent by Bishop Warren.

What is expected to be the greatest temperance rally ever held in Portland is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the large tent at Sunnyside, where the Oregon conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church is in session. White-ribbon forces and all organizations enlisted under the cold-water banner in Portland will participate, and it is predicted by the managers of the affair that the 2000 capacity of the tent will not accommodate all who come.

8:15 P. M.—Lectures by Bishop Warren and other features for today are:

- 8:30 A. M.—Devotional exercises, address, S. S. Sullinger, D. D., subject, "Aggressive Personal Evangelism."
- 9:30 A. M.—Conference business.
- 10:30 A. M.—Joint meeting of the Laymen's Association and Oregon conference; addresses by Bishop Warren and a representative of the Laymen's Association.
- The holy communion, Bishop Warren officiating.
- 2:00 P. M.—Anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society, Sanford Snyder, presiding; addresses, W. S. Gordon, Asa Sleeth.
- 4:00 P. M.—Sermon by Edward Gittins.
- 8:30 P. M.—Campfire under the auspices of the Oregon Conference Veterans' Association, the Butler Post and others of the G. A. R. Johnnie.

Pioneer ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church who have completed their labors, who have finished their earthly course, and who have passed to the "other shore," are to be honored by the Oregon conference, but, through the thoughtfulness and care of the Oregon conference, monuments are to rise above their graves, and it may be that in the distance, in Lee Mission Cemetery at Salem, a large shaft will soon be raised in memory of the faithful workers who have passed from time to eternity.

At the morning session of the Oregon conference at Sunnyside yesterday, a resolution from the Columbia River conference was read, requesting action on the erection of a monument over the grave of Dr. H. K. Hines, a pioneer missionary, which brought about the liberal sentiment for recognition of many veterans of the church, and the appointment of a committee of three to take up the matter.

Bishop Henry W. Warren named Dr. D. A. Watters, Rev. W. T. Kerr and Rev. J. T. Abbott to investigate and report.

Ordinations Over in Tent.

Passing from the business session of the day, the conference adjourned to the large tent that is used for occasions when the church proper is overcrowded, where for the first time in the history of American Methodism, a class was ordained and received in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper by Bishop Henry W. Warren. Another feature of this occasion, never before occurring, was the delivery of the bishop's address at the time of ordination, it having been the invariable custom to reserve the address for Sunday morning at conference throughout the world.

The impressive ordination service of the Methodist Episcopal Church was enacted by Bishop Warren, when Joseph H. Patton, John W. Exon and Richard Wilkins were ordained deacons and Melville T. Wire, William B. Pepper and A. D. Watter were ordained elders.

Bishop Warren delivered a brief address, exhorting the classes to keep their vows, to be faithful to the obligations of the church and to walk in the fear of God. His advice to them was to concentrate their efforts on individuals and avoid the difficulties of trying to enthrall the masses, as he said that in personal effort greater good usually results.

"A man may speak from the pulpit words of great power and force against the sinner, but it is altogether a different thing to go to a saloonkeeper and address him personally," said he.

Many Attend Unique Service.

The ordination service was attended by a throng that filled the big tent, and was one of the greatest events of the annual conference. To the young ministers who were ordained, it was the proudest moment of their lives and an honor never to be forgotten. Through years of struggle they had finished the required course of study, their characters had been passed by the conference board of examiners, and they stood before the world as men proclaimed in every way to become ministers of the gospel.

Ordination of the deacons and elders was followed by luncheon at the conference dining-room, where Sunnyside Methodist Episcopal Church women are furnishing meals to the members of the conference and their wives throughout the sessions, this being one of the most difficult tasks of the conference. Yesterday more than 300 were fed at the noon meal.

At 2:30 P. M. the anniversary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was observed, Mrs. J. T. Abbott presiding. Throughs of women attended, and the occasion was a notable one.

NO DISAGREEMENT OVER UNIVERSITY.

At the opening of the business session yesterday morning, several members of the conference expressed their disapproval of the statements contained in The Oregonian's account of Thursday's session relative to an alleged division of the conference members on Willamette University and President Coleman's administration and the territory in the Oregon conference lying east of the Cascades. As to the university matter and President Coleman's administration of its affairs, the speakers wished it published that there is no division, and as to the account of the territory east of the Cascades, they wished understood that no friction existed on the subject.

METHODIST LAYMEN MEET.

Money Pledged for Willamette University and Preachers' Salaries.

The Methodist Laymen's Association of the Oregon Conference met in annual session at the Sunnyside Congregational Church at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the most important feature of the meeting was the pledging of $300 to be used for Willamette University, aged and infirm supernumeraries of the denomination and their wives, and for slight increases in the salaries of populary paid preachers where possible in the conference.

Senator R. A. Booth, of Eugene, president of the association, was unable to be present because of urgent business, but he sent in a communication offering to give $100 if the organization would raise $150. The proposition was accepted and a committee named to take charge of the affair.

Among the speakers were: W. S. Rankin, of Portland, a member of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, and was accepted. Willamette University, promising to assist in raising a portion of the required sum.

Cheers greeted the propositions and acceptance, and the first day's session of the association was a big success. B. Lee Paget presided. A large number were present.

METHODISTS EMPLOY UNION AND NONUNION PRINTERS.

Bishop Warren Says Publishing Houses Are Not Antagonistic to Labor Organizations.

The Methodist Episcopal Church is not in any manner antagonistic to unions or to organized labor, and does not discriminate between union and nonunion men in its great publishing houses, according to Bishop Henry W. Warren, presiding at the Oregon conference at Sunnyside. He declared this in an interview given the Oregonian yesterday morning, when shown a dispatch from Colorado Springs, Colo., detailing the action of the Colorado Federation of Labor, which, in resolution, boycotted the Methodist Church, declaring it to be unfair to or-

THE AUTOMATIC FENDER—OREGON INVENTION

Among the street car fenders to be tried out this afternoon before a special committee of the city Council is the Jordan Automatic fender, the invention of H. C. Jordan of this city, who, in partnership with J. W. Hurley also of Portland, owns the patent. A full size working model of the Jordan fender has been constructed and preliminary tests indicate that it will fulfill all requirements in the forthcoming trial.

The novel point on which the inventor rests his main claim is the fact that any heavy object struck by the fender is not only picked up automatically, but infallibly carried back into the net which forms the apron of the fender.

When in use the fender rides at a distance of four inches from the track. It is so arranged that on coming into contact with any heavy object the fender is depressed almost to the rails and the object thrown back onto the three rubber covered rollers which form the front of the apron. By suitable ratchets the two forward rollers are so arranged that they can revolve in but one direction, and that upward, in consequence of which the object struck is with utmost certainty carried back into the heavy wire net of the apron, which is suspended on spiral springs on all sides in such a manner as to minimize the shock to the victim in case of collision with a human being. The rollers 2 1/2 inches in diameter, are composed of a core of steel tubing covered with a cloth and rubber jacket similar to a section of fire hose. Wire net guards prevent an object not caught by the fender from being caught by the wheels.

BUILDINGS REQUIRED TO CONFORM TO CITY ORDINANCE.

Committee Named to Inspect Halls and Theaters Soon to Report to Executive Board.

If there are any theaters, halls, churches, schools or other public buildings in Portland which do not conform to the provisions of the fire ordinances, the owners will probably be compelled to make the necessary changes to correspond with those stipulations. At the meeting of the Executive Board yesterday afternoon, the committee, which was appointed some time ago for the purpose of inspecting the public buildings with this in view, was asked to report its findings at the next session.

Soon after the Marquam Theater was closed, many months ago, because of defective wiring, a committee, consisting of Chief Campbell, Fire Marshal Roberts and the Building Inspector, was appointed to investigate all buildings of a public character in the city

EXCURSIONS TO SEASIDE

Until further notice the Astoria & Columbia River Railroad company will run an excursion to Seaside and return each Sunday at the exceptionally low rate of $1.50 for the round trip. This is the season of the year when a visit to the ocean is a source of pleasure and joy never to be forgotten. No smoke, dust or cinders, and plenty of room for all, giving one a delightful trip along the shores of the matchless Columbia river. Train leaves Union depot 8 a. m., returning leaves Seaside 5 p. m., giving four and one-half hours on the beach. Tickets, 245 Alder street and Union depot. Phone Main 906.

COURT ACTS AS INTERPRETER.

The novel spectacle of the court officiating as interpreter in a lawsuit was presented yesterday forenoon in the case of William Martzloff against the Williamette Stone Company, when Judge Gantenbein translated the evidence of the complaining witness, who is a German. The plaintiff brought suit to restrain the company from continuing its blasting operations in a quarry near the home of the claimant, that it affected his wife's health, besides damaging his property.

Plaintiff is represented by Ed and R. Mendelhall, while J. R. O'Neill appears for defendants.

Rev. Charles Scadding Will Be Consecrated Episcopal Bishop of Oregon Today

BISHOP-ELECT SCADDING AND THE CHURCH DIGNITARIES WHO WILL OFFICIATE AT HIS CONSECRATION

TODAY the Episcopal and Roman Catholic Churches throughout the world will celebrate the Festival of St. Michael and All Angels. This is not one of the great days of the churches' calendar, but it will be a great day at La Grange, Ill.

There in Emmell Episcopal Church will be held an imposing service, the grandest probably to be held anywhere upon that day. It will be a function of especial interest to Oregon Episcopalians and to the people of the state generally; for this service will be the consecration of the Rev. Charles Scadding, rector of the above-named parish, as bishop of the Diocese of Oregon. It will be a service in which Oregon will have a share, as the Rev. Philip Kemp Hammond, rector of St. Paul's Church, Oregon City, has been appointed as one of the two attending presbyters, and the Rev. Leonard D. D. LL. D., bishop of Missouri, and presiding bishop, will act as curator, and the two co-consecrators as required by the canon will be the Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, D. D., LL. D., D. C. L., bishop of New York, and the Rt. Rev. William Andrew Leonard D. D., bishop of Ohio.

The high altar will be massed with flowers and ablaze with candles. Singing some such inspiring hymn as "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," the large vested choir, headed by a crucifer bearing aloft a cross of shining brass will march into the church, followed by a long line comprising the wardens and vestrymen of the parish, the clergy of the diocese of Chicago and visiting clergy in their surplices, the bishop-elect and the bishops in their robes of office.

After this the presiding bishop will commend the bishop-elect to the prayers of the congregation, the litany being said by one of the bishops. It will contain the following special petition:

"That it may please thee to bless this our brother elected, and to send thy grace upon him that he may duly execute the office wherewith he is called, to the edifying of thy church, and to the honor, praise and glory of thy name."

The bishop-elect will then be formally examined, after which while the choir renders an anthem he will retire with his attending presbyters, the Rev. Dr. Du Moulin, of Chicago, and the Rev. P. K. Hammond, of Oregon City, to assume the full robes of office. Upon his return he will kneel before the presiding bishop, and the ancient hymn, "Veni Creator Spiritus," will be sung.

After a prayer will come the most solemn part of the service, the actual consecration. The bishops will gather about the kneeling form of the bishop-elect and reverently laying their hands upon his head, the presiding bishop will say:

Receive the Holy Ghost for the office and work of a bishop in the church of God, now committed unto thee by the imposition of our hands; in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. Amen. And remember that thou stir up the grace of God, which is given thee by the imposition of our hands; for God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power, and love, and soberness.

Then the presiding bishop will present to the newly-made bishop a copy of the holy scriptures, with the words:

Give heed unto reading, exhortation and doctrine. Think upon the things contained in this book. Be diligent in them, that the increase coming thereby may be manifest unto all men.

unto all men, for by so doing thou shalt both save thyself, and them that hear thee. Be to the flock of Christ a shepherd, not a wolf; feed them, devour them not. Hold up the weak, heal the sick, bind up the broken, bring again the outcasts, seek the lost. Be so merciful, that you be not too remote, so minister discipline, that you get not mercy, that when the Chief Shepherd shall appear, you may receive the never-fading crown of glory, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The holy eucharist will follow, and then, after the blessing, the procession will again form and, preceded by the from fire to their tenants, it is thought that changes will be insisted on by the Board. The members have always shown themselves as in favor of enforcing strictly the provisions of the fire ordinance, as was shown in the closing of the Marquam. Any other buildings which are a defective will probably meet the same fate, unless their owners will comply with the ordinance.

The fire committee, which had been appointed to investigate an application to locate an oil warehouse on Gideon street, reported unfavorably on the request, which was disallowed. The proposed site is a district occupied by small homes, and many of the residents were on hand to protest against the location of a warehouse which would menace their property. Councilman Ruslight, in whose ward the oil company wished to locate, was also present to object to the application.

BISHOP WARREN TO YOUNG MINISTERS.

In addressing the class of young men received into full connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday, Bishop Warren said, among other things:

"God is with men now as mightily as with Moses stretching forth the rod over the Red Sea."

"Preach so that people will come to hear you gladly, but apply yourself to individuals."

"It has been said that the best sermons preached in New York were preached to congregations of 60."

"Christ gave the doctrine of the new birth to an audience of one."

"Do not educate the people to tardiness—they do not need it, watches are cheap and good. I hope you will be able to say after long service, 'I have never met an appointment a minute late.'"

"If you ever get dwindled down so you can preach but one of our doctrines, get enlarged, so you can preach the rest; you are pledged to preach each one."

Here the presiding bishop will demand the testimonials, which will be read by the Rev. Dr. Van Waters. This formality concluded, the bishop-elect will take the oath of office as follows:

In the name of God, amen. I, Charles Scadding, chosen Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Oregon, do promise conformity and obedience to the doctrine, discipline and worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America. So help me God, through Jesus Christ.

After this the presiding bishop will commend the bishop-elect to the prayers of the congregation, the litany being said by one of the bishops. It will contain the following special petition:

BISHOP ELECT OF OREGON

The hymn concluded, Bishop Tuttle will say the communion collect and the deacon, the response, "Lord, have mercy upon us and incline our hearts to keep this law," being sung after each commandment. Bishop Leonard will read the epistle and Bishop Potter the gospel. At this point will come the consecration sermon, which will be preached by the Rt. Rev. C. P. Anderson, D. D., bishop of Chicago.

The sermon ended, the presiding bishop will seat himself in a chair before the altar and the bishop-elect, rising from his seat at the foot of the chancel steps and vested with his rochet, will be escorted to the presiding bishop by the two presenting bishops. These will be the Rt. Rev. George F. Seymour, D. D., LL. D., bishop of Springfield, and the Rt. Rev. Cortland Whitehead, D. D., bishop of Pittsburgh. They will say to the presiding bishop:

White Bread Starves Many People

A piece of bread that is dry, white and very light in weight seems to the thoughtful person like so much foam or other useless and non-nourishing product. If one rolls a piece of moist, light bread or the interior of a biscuit between the fingers, a ball of dough is the result, with an appearance of solidity that makes one question how the gastric juices of the stomach can dissolve such a wad.

It is small wonder that such food creates havoc in the way of fermentation, gas, and consequent disorder. Many persons who find great help by leaving off the ordinary bread entirely, and using in its place Grape-Nuts, in which the starchy and nitrogenous substances have been thoroughly and perfectly cooked at the factory before being sent out.

There is no possibility of this food assuming the form of wads of dough. On the contrary, it is already predigested; the starch of the grains has been changed into sugar in the process of manufacture and passes quickly and directly into circulation.

Grape-Nuts furnish the elements needed by the system to rebuild, particularly the soft gray matter in the brain and throughout the nerve centres in the body. This statement will be verified by its use. It is delicious enough to recommend itself upon trial. Made in the pure food factories of Postum Co. at Battle Creek, Mich.
