FRAR HOMES WILL SUFFER-Complaints were made yesterday to Councilman Kellsher by residents adjoining the gravel pit in North Mount Tabor, where material is being taken out for the fills on the East Side, that their homes are being damaged by the steam shovel that is cutting away the bank. A vast amount of gravel has been taken out here north of the Mounta-villa rallway, the Shovel cutting away the bank 50 feet deep over many acres. The owners of the dwellings are fearful that their homes will be greatly damaged if the excavation continues, and asked that some action be taken to put a stop to the work in that direction. Councilmen Kellaher and Bennett promised that they would visit the district and see for themselves just what the situa-tion is. The Pacific Bridge Company, which has several contracts for fills on the East Side and elsewhere in the city, takes material from this section.

NEW PUBLICATION APPEARS

Arno Dosch Issues a Western Weekly at San Francisco.

A new western weekly publication, after the order of Collier's, makes its first how to the public this week, with Arno Dosch. one of Portland's well known young men, as editor, and San Francisco as its home.
The paper is as yet without a name and its enterprising young editor offers $100 for a suitable one. It seems a chance for someone to make Christmas money and to give Fortland the distinction of naming what appears to be one of the best publi-cations ever issued on the coast. In addition to having a Portland editor, staff of artists also Rose City, the excellent work of Irvin and Marshall Douglass illustrates the entire paper having the advantage of excellent press work. The first chapters of a serial "The Empress of Corcovado," a Central American Romance, is from the pen of another Port land boy, John Fleming Wilson, so take it all together it would appear that Mr. Dosch's new weekly is essentially Portland and this city should be given the benefit of it.

That Mr. Dosch will be successful with his new enterprise seems likely, for his paper is bright and snappy, covers the field demanded by the publications of this character, and is unusually well illus-trated. If there could be any criticism, or suggestion, it would be that an editorial page is missing and should be supplied. The sheet is of the dimensions of the Saturday Evening Post and has a

LIMITS DISCUSSED

St. Johns Council Makes Building Ordinance Less Stringent.

At the meeting of the St. Johns Council last night the fire limits were rearranged, decreasing the present area, in order to permit the erection of frame structures in districts which are not suitable for business purposes at the present time. The new fire limits will not embrace the site for the new City Hall, and Chairman Raser, of the building committee, announced he would oppose the erection of any building whatever under the circum-

City Attorney Greene, by request of the Council, gave a written opinion sustain-ing the expenditure of the au 600 voted for city hall purposes, in the erection of a structure to be partially completed. If a city hall it built the $10,000 will be used as far as it will go, and then another issue will be made to complete the structure.

South Jersey street improvements were accepted and Hayes, Charleston and Ivan-hoe ordered improved.

C. A. Hyland filed a demand, through his attorneys, Jeffreys & Lemon, of Port-land, for $5000 damages. He contends that, through lack of proper precautions by city officials, he fell over an embankment and sustained serious injuries. While it was the inclination of the Council to ignore the demand, the matter was tabled for a week, the City Attorney to report at that

Auditor's Report and Comparative Statements of Condition at Close of Business September 21, 1905

and September 21, 1906

To our Patrons, Present and Prospective: There is no banking law in Oregon, hence no examination of State banks by any public authority.

It has always been the policy of the "Oldest Trust Company in Oregon" to keep its depositors and clients, in general, posted as to its resources and liabili-ties; with which end in view statements are printed for distribution at frequent Recent events in Chicago and Philadelphia have more than ever emphasized the fact that no bank is worthy of confidence unless its affairs are rigidly investigated by competent outside authority, free from the influence of interested parties. With this idea of our duty to the public, I engaged the services of Mr.

George Black, the well-known Public Accountant of this city, to make a full, searching and exhaustive examination of the affairs of the Portland Trust Company of Oregon. He was engaged by me, and began his investigation on September 11th, 1906, without the previous knowledge of any other officer, stockholder or
