WILL END IN BLOOD

Australian Writer Predicts Revolution in United States.

THINKS COURTS CORRUPT

Says Disregard for Law Makes Possible Accumulation of Great Fortunes and Brings Fictitious Prosperity.

From the viewpoint of an Australian writer who has been studying economic and social conditions in the United States for more than three years past, this country is rushing forward on a tidal wave of prosperity that, when it is spent, will break in a revolution. Within 20 years, in his prediction, this country will be in the throes of an armed conflict between capital and labor which, although bitter and violent while it lasts, will settle forever the complex problems that now exist.
This is the gloomy forecast made by James DeConlay, Jr., a newspaper special correspondent from the Antipodes, who is now a guest at the Hotel Portland. He is just finishing his tour of investigation in the United States and is on his way to Canada. Mr. DeConlay, since he came to this country, has been a frequent contributor to the American magazines and throughout the East has become recognized as a writer of power. Many of his articles printed in the Australian papers have been reprinted in the United States. His analysis of the character of President Roosevelt is said to be one of the best pictures of the Chief Executive ever published.
Mr. DeConlay is virtually Americanized and has learned to love the United States and its people. He is not a "knocker" in the strict sense of the slang term, but he does not handle this country and its institutions with gloves. He declares that according to his age it is doing better than any other country ever has done.
"Federal, state and municipal politics in the United States are honeycombed with graft," declared Mr. DeConlay at the Portland last night. "The United States probably has more laws on its statute books than all the other countries in the world combined and yet has less law administration than any other nation of importance. The law is not taken seriously here. In America the law is simply a matter of money."
Why America is Prosperous.
"America is not more resourceful than Australia yet there is no comparison in the development of the two countries. One of the reasons for this is that individual effort is not penalized in America and is under practically no restraint. Great forces in fighting each other turn over the laws as though they had never been enacted and move against each other unrestricted. This has helped to make the country wonderfully prosperous."
"Take E. H. Harriman for instance. Suppose he wanted to build a line, would he consider the law? No. Suppose James J. Hill wanted to throw an obstruction in the way of Harriman. Would he consider the law? No. Their motto is, 'Go ahead and then be sure you're right.' In other countries there is more respect for the law and more conservatism. The result of the many gigantic achievements in prosperity and the concentration of vast wealth and the prosperity and concentration of wealth hasten the turmoil that is inevitable. Wherever there is a great era of prosperity it is followed by a reaction."
"Just now the entire world is prosperous, but this prosperity will not always last. When the world ceases to be prosperous so will the United States. And then will come the great struggle between capital and labor and it will be worse in this country than any other because of the utter disregard of law."
"Labor will fight with dynamite and capital will retaliate with rifles. There will be bloodshed from one end of the country to the other. I will not predict that great armies will be formed to face each other, but in the cities there will be terrific conflicts—the labor troubles of today magnified many, many times. There will be a great pressing need for some masterful man to handle the situation and that man will be President Roosevelt, who then will be elected a third term."
Will Force a Co-operation.
"The conflict will force co-operation between capital and labor and then the United States will settle down to enjoy a prosperity with a foundation of a permanent nature. You have Americanism in this country, but the real, genuine American is being evolved and is still in the making of all your rottenness in this country—and it is nothing less—the election of the judiciary by popular vote. In England the judges are appointed by a Government responsible to the people. They are appointed for life and are selected from members of the bar who have honorably distinguished themselves."
"The salaries paid are large, and if their record is satisfactory the judges are retired at 60 years of age with a generous pension for the rest of their lives. The large salaries and the pension places them entirely out of the reach of corruption."
"One example shows the difference. In Chicago in one year—I think it was in 1902 or thereabouts—there were 122 murders. In London in the same year there were nine murders. One man was executed in Chicago and eight in London.

"Crime is more common on the South Side in Chicago than any place else in the United States. I believe it is due to the packing houses. A man who sticks a knife in the throat of 200 pigs every day year in and year out becomes hardened. A man who stands in the blood of brutes to his very knees for years in time will not hesitate to shed human blood."

PUTER "GRINDS OUT" COPY

"King of Land Fraud Operators" is Busy on His Book.
While various critics throughout the state are passing judgment on S. A. D. Puter's forthcoming book, the distinguished "king of the land-fraud operators" is busily at work in his parlor cell grinding out immense quantities of copy for the volume, which he prophesies will attract a great deal of attention.
"It is amusing to see some of those fellows squirm," said Puter yesterday in discussing the situation. "They are awfully anxious that my book should not see the light of day because they think it would injure Oregon, or for the reason that it can subvert no good purpose, and while they are saying one word for the public in this respect, they are making a whole Fourth of July speech for themselves."
"No honest man need feel the least bit of alarm over anything I may say, but there are others who feel differently about it, and some of them are voicing their sentiments through seditious newspapers that owe their existence to the money derived from the publication of fraudulent land notices. They are the ones that are taking a leading part in the effort to convince people that the necessary deed not exist for the publication of my book, when, as a matter of fact, none of them know what it is going to contain. It is merely another case of a guilty conscience, and I guess some of them will take to the tall timber sure enough when they find out that the statutes of limitations has no jurisdiction in what I have to say."
It is expected that the book will contain between 300 and 400 pages, and will be ready for delivery about January 1, 1907.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market.
For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has constantly gained in favor and popularity until it is now one of the most staple medicines in use and has an enormous sale. It is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases, such as coughs, colds and croup, and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant and safe to take and is undoubtedly one of the best in the market for the purpose for which it is intended. Sold by all druggists.

FEAR CARELESS HUNTERS

STRAY BULLETS DISTURB WILLAMETTE HEIGHTS RESIDENTS

Also Said That Sportsmen Near the City Kill More Chickens Than Grouse and Pheasants.

Careless hunters have caused some of the residents of Willamette Heights to tremble that the peaceful citizens ventured out of doors lest they be greeted with a charge of shot.

The residents state that on Sunday morning a regular sham battle ensues in that neighborhood. The hills are thronged with hunters, and as game is fairly plentiful they keep each other busy dodging bullets. Only the other day a grouse was killed by a hunter at twenty-third and Raleigh streets and another one near the corner of Thirty-third and Quimby streets.
But the complaint is made by the suburbanites that some of the sportsmen, if sportsmen they may be called, are of the type that would just as soon bag a fat Spring chicken as a pheasant or a grouse. At least it is said that more chickens have fallen to the unerring aim of the city sportsmen than wild birds.
The story is told of the wonderful marksmanship of three hunters who ran across a flock of about a dozen chickens which had strayed into the fields. As the owner of the chickens lived a considerable distance away, the expert shots, armed with three automatic pump-guns, opened fire upon the brood. When the smoke had cleared away they discovered that all of the chickens were lying close to the ground in the throes of death. The three "sportsmen" were so elated over their wonderful skill and good fortune that they abandoned their hunt for pheasants and grouse and returned immediately to the city.
J. S. Fordyce states that the west end of his residence on Willamette Heights has been thronged by a liberal application of heavy shot. The other morning Frank Bismark went out on his lawn to mow grass. He began to hear bullets singing and slipping by his ears, so he hastily decided to postpone the work until a later date.
The residents, it is said, are not opposed to parties shooting in the adjacent fields and fields, but are anxious that discretion be used to prevent accidents.

Lafe Pence Returns With Projected Development and Colonization Schemes—Resume Local Work.

According to Lafe Pence, who has just returned from a month's trip to the East and who is considered an authority on the subject, the Oregon country is just being discovered.

Relative to the significance of his operations here, Mr. Pence said that his company is running a flume from Jackson and Rock Creeks, in Washington County, to this place through the Cornelius gap, for the purpose of fulfilling a contract he has with the O. R. & N. to furnish them with 500,000 railroad ties. The water will also be used for grinding sludge in the Portland Guano Works. It is the intention to put in a small sawmill at the head of the flume, where his company has some holdings.
Mr. Pence said that the ownership of the old exposition buildings is now vested in the corporation controlled by Mr. McMulla, of the Portland Development Company, and that he was unable to state what condition matters are in relative to the lease of the structures for manufacturing purposes.
