

HEARST LEAGUE SPLIT BY REVOLT

Repudiates Deal on Judiciary Ticket.

WILL NAME NEW CANDIDATES

Independents Throw Off Yoke of Their Chief.

SECESSIONS IN BROOKLYN

Leading Men Resign When Democratic Club Indorses Hearst—Hewbrew Paper to Proclaim Independent Doctrine—Few Bet.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—A revolt has broken out in the Independence League, and the political ambitions of William Randolph Hearst are threatened with destruction by his own followers. The Buffalo deal with Murphy, which was completed by the action of the Tammany County Convention last night, is at the bottom of it.

The county committee of the Independence League met late tonight and passed resolutions utterly repudiating the Murphy-Hearst judicial ticket, called up Max Hines, Hearst's political director, on the telephone and told him to communicate its action to Mr. Hearst; appointed a committee of five to place an entirely independent judicial ticket in the field and then adjourned.

RUSSIAN NOBLES FLY THE COUNTRY

Stampede of Rich to Free England.

GRAND DUKES GO IN DISGUISE

King's Ransom in Jewels and Pictures Shipped.

BUYING ENGLISH ESTATES

Terrorism Drives Wealthy From Bloodstained Empire to Haven of Refuge—Car's Relatives Are Among the Fugitives.

Rich Pour Into London.

Terrorism Drives Wealthy From Bloodstained Empire to Haven of Refuge—Car's Relatives Are Among the Fugitives.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—For some time past statements have been made with more or less authority to the effect that some members of the Czar's family were making secret arrangements to leave Russia, should certain eventualities occur, and take refuge in England. These statements have been regarded as part of the inevitable rumors to be expected to arise from the state of affairs in the Muscovite dominions. Investigations by the Publishers' Press correspondent, however, reveal circumstances which point to their truth.

Recently there has been a constantly increasing stream of wealthy Russians to England. They have quietly transferred their valuables and property to this country and at the right moment left St. Petersburg for London. An official of the United Shipping Company confirmed the news.

"We are still bringing over hundreds of the poorer refugees every week from Russia," he said, "but the rich noblemen and gentlemen are also booking passage now. They are coming to London with the intention of settling here, and many of them have arrived in the last few weeks."

No passage has been booked by members of the imperial family, so far as the company is aware, although this might be done without knowledge, as it is more than likely that the Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses and their children would travel under assumed names.

Treasures of Royalty Shipped.

Large quantities of jewels, pictures and furniture have arrived in this country from the imperial palaces in Russia just lately, and have been placed in safe storage. A leading banker told the Publishers' Press correspondent that consignments of property of enormous value had recently arrived there from Russia.

"We have received packets of jewels, costly furniture and numbers of pictures, the value of each of which runs well into five figures," he said. "The owners are very highly placed."

Buying English Estates.

The question put point blank as to whether they belonged to the Romanoffs, the reply was made that it was against the rules to give such information.

A confirmation of the assertion that at least two of the Grand Dukes and Grand Duchesses intend to give the William R. Hearst as an Orator.

DOUGLAS READY TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

J. B. Moran May Withdraw From Race.

EX-GOVERNOR TO FILL VACANCY

Shoe Manufacturer Would Enter the Race Unwillingly.

IS STILL IN POLITICS

Douglas Promises to Make Contest. If at All, on Platform of Tariff Revision—Is Strong in Home State.

Mr. Douglas will be pitted against it he enters the contest.

Ex-Governor Douglas did not care to say much about the new complexion of Massachusetts state politics when seen yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Portland. He admitted that he had received a telegram stating that Moran would resign and that it might be he would be forced to take part in the contest. He said that to accept the nomination would be making a sacrifice, as he had intended to remain away on a pleasure tour for some time, as he badly needed rest. But he said, if Moran resigned and he was persuaded to take up the fight where he drops it that he would have to return home immediately. The only reason he can give why Moran may withdraw from the race is that he is not an strong an advocate for tariff revision as might be desired by some of the party leaders.

Does Not Care for Politics.

"I do not care for the nomination, but I might accept it under some circumstances," said the man whose picture is almost as familiar as that of President Roosevelt's. "If I thought that to keep the tariff question to the front in my state it was necessary for me to enter the race it is probable that I would take the nomination, provided it is offered to me. If the people insist I will probably yield to their wishes."

Tariff revision is the great live question before the people of Massachusetts, and we as Democrats of that state, cannot afford to permit the movement to lose impetus. That was the issue when I was elected Governor and it won me many votes. That year I received no less than 50,000 votes from Republicans who believed in tariff revision. And if I should run again it is probable that I will receive their votes again.

"To tell the truth, I know little of the political conditions in Massachusetts. I left there early in September, before the Democratic state convention was held, and know little outside of what I have read in the newspapers. There is every reason for me to believe that the information that Moran will resign is authentic. It came from an absolutely reliable source and the man who sent me word should know just what is going to take place."

Moran Not Right on Tariff.

"I do not know very much about Moran. He was not generally known throughout the state until he became District Attorney at Boston, and since he has been in that office he has made a name for himself. But he is not one of the tariff revision leaders of the state, and at this time this is the all-vital question before the people of Massachusetts. Of course, we cannot do anything ourselves except to make an impression upon the National administration. Of the possible candidates who may succeed Moran if he withdraws I have not heard. Henry M. Whitney, who so narrowly escaped being elected Lieutenant Governor at the last election. He might stand a good show of leading his party to success."

Moran Another Jerome.

John B. Moran, District Attorney of Suffolk County, Massachusetts, who, it is reported, will withdraw as a candidate for Governor, is a type of the reform District Attorney. He has sometimes been called the Jerome of Boston. He conducted an independent campaign for the office he now holds, and before he announced himself as a candidate for the District Attorneyship he was almost unknown to the public. He conducted a whirlwind campaign and achieved one of the greatest political victories in the history of the state, considering the uphill fight he had to make.

His tenure in office has resulted in a long list of investigations and indictments. Prominent hotels have been closed for violation of the statute against screened windows in places devoted to the sale of intoxicating liquors, have given up their licenses and been compelled to obtain new ones; there have been marked changes in police administration; a general cleaning up of criminally conducted, so-called medical establishments; legislative investigation that summoned nearly the whole House of Representatives and led to investigations by the Legislature itself that resulted in the indictment of one member. Prison conditions have been investigated and a keeper indicted for negligence. The secretary of a United States Congressman has been convicted of larceny of campaign funds. Contractors doing work for the city have been indicted for using poor material. The so-called "free press graft" in the Legislature is under investigation. One of the latest indictments included six corporations and 18 or 19 individuals engaged in the ice business on a charge of conspiracy.

DISQUALIFIES OLD LEADERS

Stolypin Pursues Outlaw Douma. Black Hundreds Assail Him.

COMMANDS NAVAL FORCES AFLOAT IN CUBAN WATERS.

IS STILL IN POLITICS

Douglas Promises to Make Contest. If at All, on Platform of Tariff Revision—Is Strong in Home State.

Douglas Promises to Make Contest. If at All, on Platform of Tariff Revision—Is Strong in Home State.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.—Further expulsions from the Zemstvo of the members of the outlawed Parliament who signed the Viborg manifesto are reported daily. Among the latest is that of Count Tolstoy, a Moderate member of Parliament from Ufa.

The proceedings in the indictment of the members of Parliament who signed the Viborg manifesto are dragging and there is slight prospect that they will be tried before the next elections, therefore rendering ineligible for election 189 of the most prominent Constitutional Democrats who were members of the Parliament.

The disfavor shown by Premier Stolypin to the reactionary leagues and other black hundred organizations has provoked a storm of hostility in the reactionary camp. The organ of the reactionists today printed an article headed "Revolutionists in High Places," assailing the cabinet for its alleged treachery and demanding the indictment of Lieutenant-General Rodiger, Chief of the Chancellery of the war office; Vice-Admiral Biriouff, minister of Marine; Minister of Justice, Chtchegovitchoff; Governor-General of Finland Beharoff and General Groganoff, prefect of Odessa, for favoring the Jews and the central bureau has telegraphed demands to various governors and the police to cease interference with the "patriotic organizations."

The recent seizures of bombs, explosives and arms in the city hall and technical institute are officially stated to have been connected with a reactionary patriotic organization.

Attacks on the police similar to those which have occurred at Warsaw have been commenced in St. Petersburg, but are less successful, owing to the indifferent attitude of the population. One policeman was killed and one wounded.

Denounce Stolypin and His Works.

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 11.—The Constitutional Democratic Congress adjourned this evening. At the concluding session a pronouncement denouncing Premier Stolypin's administration and all its works, which was successful, owing to the central committee in an endeavor to placate the extremists, was adopted by acclamation amid great enthusiasm.

Witte's Life is Threatened.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Numerous letters written by terrorists, threatening the life of ex-Premier Witte, if he returns to Russia, are published here. In some circles this is taken to indicate the failure of the Court to return to his native land from travels upon the Continent.

DOUGLAS READY TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

J. B. Moran May Withdraw From Race.

EX-GOVERNOR TO FILL VACANCY

Shoe Manufacturer Would Enter the Race Unwillingly.

IS STILL IN POLITICS

Douglas Promises to Make Contest. If at All, on Platform of Tariff Revision—Is Strong in Home State.

Mr. Douglas will be pitted against it he enters the contest.

Ex-Governor Douglas did not care to say much about the new complexion of Massachusetts state politics when seen yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Portland. He admitted that he had received a telegram stating that Moran would resign and that it might be he would be forced to take part in the contest. He said that to accept the nomination would be making a sacrifice, as he had intended to remain away on a pleasure tour for some time, as he badly needed rest. But he said, if Moran resigned and he was persuaded to take up the fight where he drops it that he would have to return home immediately. The only reason he can give why Moran may withdraw from the race is that he is not an strong an advocate for tariff revision as might be desired by some of the party leaders.

Does Not Care for Politics.

"I do not care for the nomination, but I might accept it under some circumstances," said the man whose picture is almost as familiar as that of President Roosevelt's. "If I thought that to keep the tariff question to the front in my state it was necessary for me to enter the race it is probable that I would take the nomination, provided it is offered to me. If the people insist I will probably yield to their wishes."

Tariff revision is the great live question before the people of Massachusetts, and we as Democrats of that state, cannot afford to permit the movement to lose impetus. That was the issue when I was elected Governor and it won me many votes. That year I received no less than 50,000 votes from Republicans who believed in tariff revision. And if I should run again it is probable that I will receive their votes again.

"To tell the truth, I know little of the political conditions in Massachusetts. I left there early in September, before the Democratic state convention was held, and know little outside of what I have read in the newspapers. There is every reason for me to believe that the information that Moran will resign is authentic. It came from an absolutely reliable source and the man who sent me word should know just what is going to take place."

Moran Not Right on Tariff.

"I do not know very much about Moran. He was not generally known throughout the state until he became District Attorney at Boston, and since he has been in that office he has made a name for himself. But he is not one of the tariff revision leaders of the state, and at this time this is the all-vital question before the people of Massachusetts. Of course, we cannot do anything ourselves except to make an impression upon the National administration. Of the possible candidates who may succeed Moran if he withdraws I have not heard. Henry M. Whitney, who so narrowly escaped being elected Lieutenant Governor at the last election. He might stand a good show of leading his party to success."

Moran Another Jerome.

John B. Moran, District Attorney of Suffolk County, Massachusetts, who, it is reported, will withdraw as a candidate for Governor, is a type of the reform District Attorney. He has sometimes been called the Jerome of Boston. He conducted an independent campaign for the office he now holds, and before he announced himself as a candidate for the District Attorneyship he was almost unknown to the public. He conducted a whirlwind campaign and achieved one of the greatest political victories in the history of the state, considering the uphill fight he had to make.

His tenure in office has resulted in a long list of investigations and indictments. Prominent hotels have been closed for violation of the statute against screened windows in places devoted to the sale of intoxicating liquors, have given up their licenses and been compelled to obtain new ones; there have been marked changes in police administration; a general cleaning up of criminally conducted, so-called medical establishments; legislative investigation that summoned nearly the whole House of Representatives and led to investigations by the Legislature itself that resulted in the indictment of one member. Prison conditions have been investigated and a keeper indicted for negligence. The secretary of a United States Congressman has been convicted of larceny of campaign funds. Contractors doing work for the city have been indicted for using poor material. The so-called "free press graft" in the Legislature is under investigation. One of the latest indictments included six corporations and 18 or 19 individuals engaged in the ice business on a charge of conspiracy.

FRED FAIRBANKS ELOPES AND WEDS

Nellie Scott, of Pittsburg His Bride.

HEADS OFF ALL OPPOSITION

Love at First Sight on Visit to Indianapolis.

TRIP TO STEUBENVILLE

Vice-President's Son and Accomplished Girl Musician Skip Over Ohio Boundary and Laugh at Parents' Objections.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Pittsburg society got another shock this morning when it was announced that Miss Nellie Scott, one of the prettiest young ladies of the East, had been married to Frederick C. Fairbanks, son of the Vice-President of the United States. It was not so much the fact of the marriage that started, as the fact that it was an elopement.

The couple fled from Pittsburg last evening to Steubenville, O., and were married by Rev. Dr. Broderick of that place. The first intimation of the elopement came this morning, and was as follows: "Steubenville, O., Oct. 11.—Mrs. James Scott, Pittsburg; Frederick and James were married here yesterday. NELLIE."

Bride Skilled Violinist.

James Scott, father of the new daughter-in-law of the Vice-President, is connected with the works of the Crucible Steel Company here, and the family is not very well known. Miss Nellie Scott, now Mrs. Fairbanks, who is but 23 years of age, is, however, one of the best lady violinists of Pittsburg, as well as one of the best-educated young ladies. She is a graduate of Miss Somers' school in Washington, D. C., as well as some of the schools of the Eastern Coast.

It is understood that Mr. Fairbanks objected to his son's marrying Miss Scott, but this cannot be verified here, as all members of the Scott family deny it. Young Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks are said to be in Pittsburg tonight at the home of the Scotts, but, if so, the Scott family will not uncover them, saying the day has brought enough sensations.

How They Worked Scheme.

Fred C. Fairbanks, who is 25 years of age, came to Pittsburg two days ago and registered at the Schenley Hotel, where he made all arrangements for the elopement. This the young couple seemed to think necessary, since the parents of Miss Scott, hearing rumors of objection on the part of Mr. Fairbanks, also had set their foot down on any further intercourse between the two young people. Fred and Nellie, however, managed to meet, and the plan was worked out and mutually approved. All this time the Scotts did not know that young Fairbanks was in town. Yesterday afternoon Miss Scott announced that she was going to the home of a schoolmate in Ohio for a few days and she left on an afternoon train for Ohio. In the smoker of the same train, as it pulled out from the Pittsburg depot, was Fred Fairbanks, but he did not remain in the smoker after the train passed out of the sheds and out of range of spying eyes. Reaching Steubenville, just over the state line, the pair alighted and were married.

Love at First Sight.

It was just one year ago that the young couple met. Miss Scott was visiting a Miss Stout at Indianapolis, when she met the son of the vice-president and it was a case of love at first sight. When Miss Scott returned home about a month ago it was with the understanding among friends that the engagement would be announced early in October and the marriage take place in November.

Fred Fairbanks is in business at Springfield, O., where the couple will reside.

The father of the bride is one of the old Carnegie Company's vice-presidents and at present is general manager of the Lucy furnace plant of this city.

FRED FAIRBANKS ELOPES AND WEDS

Nellie Scott, of Pittsburg His Bride.

HEADS OFF ALL OPPOSITION

Love at First Sight on Visit to Indianapolis.

TRIP TO STEUBENVILLE

Vice-President's Son and Accomplished Girl Musician Skip Over Ohio Boundary and Laugh at Parents' Objections.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Pittsburg society got another shock this morning when it was announced that Miss Nellie Scott, one of the prettiest young ladies of the East, had been married to Frederick C. Fairbanks, son of the Vice-President of the United States. It was not so much the fact of the marriage that started, as the fact that it was an elopement.

The couple fled from Pittsburg last evening to Steubenville, O., and were married by Rev. Dr. Broderick of that place. The first intimation of the elopement came this morning, and was as follows: "Steubenville, O., Oct. 11.—Mrs. James Scott, Pittsburg; Frederick and James were married here yesterday. NELLIE."

Bride Skilled Violinist.

James Scott, father of the new daughter-in-law of the Vice-President, is connected with the works of the Crucible Steel Company here, and the family is not very well known. Miss Nellie Scott, now Mrs. Fairbanks, who is but 23 years of age, is, however, one of the best lady violinists of Pittsburg, as well as one of the best-educated young ladies. She is a graduate of Miss Somers' school in Washington, D. C., as well as some of the schools of the Eastern Coast.

It is understood that Mr. Fairbanks objected to his son's marrying Miss Scott, but this cannot be verified here, as all members of the Scott family deny it. Young Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks are said to be in Pittsburg tonight at the home of the Scotts, but, if so, the Scott family will not uncover them, saying the day has brought enough sensations.

How They Worked Scheme.

Fred C. Fairbanks, who is 25 years of age, came to Pittsburg two days ago and registered at the Schenley Hotel, where he made all arrangements for the elopement. This the young couple seemed to think necessary, since the parents of Miss Scott, hearing rumors of objection on the part of Mr. Fairbanks, also had set their foot down on any further intercourse between the two young people. Fred and Nellie, however, managed to meet, and the plan was worked out and mutually approved. All this time the Scotts did not know that young Fairbanks was in town. Yesterday afternoon Miss Scott announced that she was going to the home of a schoolmate in Ohio for a few days and she left on an afternoon train for Ohio. In the smoker of the same train, as it pulled out from the Pittsburg depot, was Fred Fairbanks, but he did not remain in the smoker after the train passed out of the sheds and out of range of spying eyes. Reaching Steubenville, just over the state line, the pair alighted and were married.

Love at First Sight.

It was just one year ago that the young couple met. Miss Scott was visiting a Miss Stout at Indianapolis, when she met the son of the vice-president and it was a case of love at first sight. When Miss Scott returned home about a month ago it was with the understanding among friends that the engagement would be announced early in October and the marriage take place in November.

Fred Fairbanks is in business at Springfield, O., where the couple will reside.

The father of the bride is one of the old Carnegie Company's vice-presidents and at present is general manager of the Lucy furnace plant of this city.

CONTENTS TODAY'S PAPER

The Weather.	YESTERDAY'S Maximum temperature, 30 degrees; minimum, 51.
TODAY'S—Rain; southerly wind.	Foreign.
Russia Grand Dukes and nobles flee to England from terrorists. Page 1.	Japanese officials expelled from Russian sphere in Manchuria. Page 4.
National.	Cuban Liberals halt Taft and Bacon as savers. Page 4.
Isle of Pines not affected by intervention. Page 4.	Politics.
Independence League bolts Hearst's deal on Judiciary ticket. Page 5.	Republicans nominate non-partisan ticket for Judges in New York. Page 4.
Hughes denounces Hearst's appeal to class hatred. Page 1.	Domestic.
Hue and cry for Stevie, who is believed to have gone to Venezuela. Page 5.	Lois bandit holds up Nevada stage. Page 4.
Decision on Miners' Federation case Monday. Page 11.	Son of Vice-President Fairbanks elopes with Pittsburg girl. Page 1.
Northwestern road to extend through Oregon. Page 5.	Booker Washington speaks on race conflict. Page 11.
Standard Oil official testifies against it and reveals secrets. Page 2.	Great snowstorm from Atlantic to Great Lakes. Page 7.
Sport.	Americans win third championship game at Chicago. Page 7.
Pacific Coast notes: Portland 5; Fresno 7; Oakland 1; San Francisco 0; Seattle 4; Los Angeles 7. Page 7.	Tommy Burns and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien matched. Page 7.
Oregon Irrigation Association meets at Hood River and elects officers. Page 6.	Mrs. Snyder is given rigid examination in the session at Hillsboro. Page 3.
Falling rock smashes trestle and kills two men near Livingston, Mont. Page 6.	Cruiser California's port engine disabled in endurance test in Santa Barbara channel. Page 7.
Hood River people show attracts a great crowd. Page 6.	Commercial and Marine.
Official figures on English hop crop. Page 17.	Chicago wheat market closes at loss. Page 17.
Stock market unsettled at close. Page 17.	Union and non-union men handle grain on different docks. Page 16.
Charles F. Doe asks Port of Portland to reduce drydock charges on steamer Elder. Page 11.	Portland and Vicinity.
W. L. Douglas, now in Portland, likely to run for Governor of Massachusetts. Page 1.	Senator Patton admits that P. S. Malcolm will be appointed Collector of Customs in Portland. Page 12.
High Prices are charged for fuel in Portland. Page 10.	Threatening water sent to Judge Cameron believed to come from band of Russian nihilists. Page 11.
Digested at methods of rival paving companies. Mayor Lane threatens to deny them contracts. Page 11.	Board of Trade plans to build office building. Page 18.
Harriman lines will build exclusive freight depot for East Portland. Page 10.	Woman jumps from window and is severely injured. Page 13.

PUZZLE PICTURE: MEANWHILE, WHERE'S THE TIGER?

MORAN FEARFUL OF DEFEAT

Not a Dollar in Campaign Fund and No Prospect of Getting Any More.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—District Attorney Moran has not yet decided whether he will run for Governor.

Mr. Moran, who is now a guest at the Hotel Portland, has received word that the Democratic nominee, John B. Moran, the noted District Attorney of Boston, has decided to withdraw and that party leaders are urging his name as a successor. Ex-Governor Douglas stands ready to succeed the present candidate as nominee if he is satisfied that the cause of his party demands his acceptance. The state election in Massachusetts will be held next month.

Mr. Douglas, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Portland Sunday on a pleasure tour of the West. Since he has been here he has received a telegram from one of his trusted friends that Moran, who is the regular Democratic nominee, has decided to decline the nomination. Mr. Douglas yesterday as much as said that he would accept the mantle if it falls from the shoulders of Moran.

If Mr. Douglas is drawn into the race, the tariff question will be the magnet to effect his return and active participation in Massachusetts politics. He was elected Governor of his state in 1904 and his term expired one year later. Every possible influence was brought to bear to persuade him to try for the election the second time, which was practically assured, but he was firm in his determination to quit political life. But now he may go back.

Douglas a Staunch Democrat.

The fact that he is a Democrat, with Massachusetts overwhelmingly Republican, and that he ran during the Presidential year when the Roosevelt boom carried many weak Republican candidates to victory, did not prevent Mr. Douglas being elected the Chief Executive of his state. There is a normal Republican majority of from 50,000 to 60,000 votes in Massachusetts out of a total vote of about 500,000. Mr. Douglas was elected by a plurality of 25,000 votes, and was the only Democrat on the state ticket for that year who was successful. Roosevelt carried the state by a plurality of 22,000.

During the campaign of 1905, in which Mr. Douglas refused to be a candidate, Charles W. Bartlett was the nominee on the Democratic ticket and he was elected by a plurality of 25,000 votes. Mr. Bartlett was the nominee on the Democratic ticket as soon as Douglas had left the arena the Republicans experienced but little trouble in regaining their lost ground and elected their candidate, Curtis Guild, Jr., with a creditable plurality. Governor Guild is running for a second term and is the man

DIES OF BURNS AT 117.

Frank Mitchell, 117, Died Today, of Burns Received by Her Clothing Catching Fire.

FRANKFORD, Ky., Oct. 11.—Aunt Jane Mitchell, colored, aged 117 years, died here today, of burns received by her clothing catching fire. Her husband died a short time ago at the age of 109 years.

RAILROAD CONDUCTORS WANT NEW UNDERSTANDING WITH COMPANIES.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Railroad conductors from all sections of the country will convene in St. Paul Sunday, and about 50 are expected. Grand Chief Conductor A. B. Garrison, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will attend. The main question to be discussed, according to a circular sent out by the committee, is the reason why railroads discharge passenger conductors so frequently.

"While delays, vacancies, indefinite as it is, does not necessarily mean dishonesty, it is implied," says the circular, "and the public accepts no other interpretation." The conductors, it is stated, want to make some proposition to the railroads for the protection of both employers and employees. One plan, it is said, is to ask for an increase in wages, raising the present scale of $10 to $20 a month, and making a remuneration which would remove temptation.

DIES OF BURNS AT 117.

Frank Mitchell, 117, Died Today, of Burns Received by Her Clothing Catching Fire.

FRANKFORD, Ky., Oct. 11.—Aunt Jane Mitchell, colored, aged 117 years, died here today, of burns received by her clothing catching fire. Her husband died a short time ago at the age of 109 years.

RAILROAD CONDUCTORS WANT NEW UNDERSTANDING WITH COMPANIES.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Railroad conductors from all sections of the country will convene in St. Paul Sunday, and about 50 are expected. Grand Chief Conductor A. B. Garrison, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., will attend. The main question to be discussed, according to a circular sent out by the committee, is the reason why railroads discharge passenger conductors so frequently.

"While delays, vacancies, indefinite as it is, does not necessarily mean dishonesty, it is implied," says the circular, "and the public accepts no other interpretation." The conductors, it is stated, want to make some proposition to the railroads for the protection of both employers and employees. One plan, it is said, is to ask for an increase in wages, raising the present scale of $10 to $20 a month, and making a remuneration which would remove temptation.