

PITCHERS' BATTLE IS WON BY WALSH

Americans Shut Out Nationals in Third Game for the Championship.

VICTORY BROUGHT BY ROHE

Pfeister Loses Grip in Sixth and Blond Scotsman's Three-Bagger Scores Three—Walsh Is Invincible in Box.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Today's game between the Chicago teams of the National and the American Leagues was a battle royal between pitchers and the American League won, 2 to 0. Twenty-one batsmen struck out for 12 of those the credit goes to Walsh. In addition he gave only one pass and allowed two hits in the first inning. Thereafter the Nationals, until the ninth, never had any sort of a chance to score. According to the official count, 15,769 enthusiasts encouraged by slightly warmer weather, were present when the game began.

Pfeister Goes to Pieces.—Pfeister, the left-handed pitcher, went into the box for the Nationals. His control at first was good, but by no means perfect. He quickly settled, however, and pitched superbly until the sixth inning. It was here he went to pieces and the game was lost. Tammehill, reputed to be a weak batter, singled down the third-base line. Somewhat disconcerted, Pfeister allowed Walsh to walk and a moment later hit Ham in the stomach, breaking it. A doctor was called and O'Neil went to first for Ham and finished the game for him.

Rohe Wins More Laurels.—Then came Rohe, the substitute, to bat. It was his right-hander, a young man whose accidental presence in yesterday's game by reason of Davis' illness brought victory to the Americans. Again the fate of the game depended on his and again he did not fail. He waited patiently for a ball that suited him and swung with all his strength. The ball bounded like a buckrabbit over the catcher's head and under the benches in the great field. Tammehill, Walsh and O'Neil crossed the plate amid wild cheering and the noise of many megaphones, while the author of the scores stood on third base receiving the congratulations of his team-mates. Dominoes sent a weak fly to Evers and the agony was over.

Nationals at Walsh's Mercy.—On their part the Nationals started out like winners. The first Hoffman sent a clean single to center. Sheekard struck out and then Hoffman killed all chances to score by trying to steal second, where he was thrown out. Gessler, who had already doubled to left, but it did not do good, for Chance went out, Isbell to Dominoes.

Afterward till the ninth the Nationals never gave a hint of designs on the home plate. Walsh held them completely at bay, apparently growing stronger and steeper every time they came to bat. The game began the Nationals swung viciously at his offerings, but before the contest was half over they were bafled for the rest of the game. They were unable to get a run, but mostly when they did not strike out they sent a pony growl as a second or short and were out easily.

Last Chance to Score Lost.—In the ninth Gessler went to bat for Evers and Gessler sent a fly ball that bled his grounder for a moment. Hoffman went out via Isbell, Gessler reaching second. Sheekard for the second time missed three good ones. Gessler beat Sullivan's throw to third because the catcher flung the ball for a moment. A hit bled a run, but Schutte became a victim of Walsh's curfew and mere third game of the world's championship series was over. It took a large force of policemen to protect Walsh and Rohe from their frenzied admirers who thronged into the field, but they finally reached their carriage without being halted on anybody's shoulders. Evers, Tinker and Tammehill divided the fielding honors.

WICKES A HEAVY DRINKER Pullman Car Magnate Worried When Wife Was Awary.

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A new and sensational turn was given the litigation in connection with the late Thomas Wickes, ex-vice-president of the Pullman Palace Car Company, late today, when Frank O. Wickes, a nephew of the Pullman official, added another "victim" to the list of women involved in the so-called Wickes scandal.

Mrs. Thomas Harrington, of St. Louis, is the one on whom the spotlight had not been previously turned. According to the evidence the lad first saw the woman when he was awakened in a room in a house in St. Louis and found the apartment in which he was sleeping also occupied by the wife of the Pullman magnate. Young Wickes' testimony related to this one point exclusively.

Es-kenator William Mason, who is conducting the case for the daughters and son, asked where Mr. Harrington was, all the time. He was in an adjoining room all the time, was the reply.

Sidelights on the domestic life of Wickes were revealed when George Mackereel, who conducted the dual role of butler and coachman in the Wickes household, took the witness stand.

"Mr. Wickes drank a great deal," he said. "He got home and found his wife was away. He would go to bed and take probably six or seven drinks to prevent himself worrying. When he went to bed I had to fix up several kinds of drinks for him to take to bed. Generally I put in five or six bottles of beer, one bottle of whiskey, two or three bottles of lithia water and a bottle of buttermilk."

"My, did he drink all these?" exclaimed Harrington.

"Generally most of the drinks were gone, though sometimes only a little."

In reply to a question as to the mental condition of Wickes, the butler said he thought at the time that Wickes was growing weaker and weaker, because of his getting wild and crazy, and he became unbearable, so the butler left his employer.

PORT ENGINE DISABLED CRUISER CALIFORNIA HAS ACCIDENT ON TRIAL TRIP.

On a Long Run to Eastward Off Santa Barbara Vessel Made Over 22 Knots.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Oct. 11.—Owing to an unfortunate accident to her port engine, the cruiser California faltered on her trial trip. The engine which had been under way for 2 1/2 of the four hours required. Up to the time the engine was disabled the California had been making much better than the required 22 knots.

That no one was injured at the time the trouble occurred is little short of miraculous. A parting piece of the intermediate crank pin bearing of the port engine was forced out, the heavy steel shield being crumpled up like paper and hurled directly across the platform where several men had been standing a moment before. Any one in line of the missile would likely have been killed. The water pipes were knocked about and other minor damage was done before the engine could be stopped.

The port engine did not work smoothly during the standardization trials Tuesday, and Wednesday all the brasses were replaced. The builders did not have a chance to try out the engine before today's endurance test, and before the ship had been under way half an hour the engine began to knock badly, but when she continued to toll off the knots for two hours of the time of the test it was hoped that the run would be completed without accident.

Chief Engineer Gardner, of the Union Iron Works, believes that the damage can be repaired tomorrow and that the endurance run can be held Saturday.

At the time the accident occurred the California was going about 22 knots an hour, while speed she had averaged all along. The haul had made a long run eastward and was heading back toward Santa Barbara when the accident happened.

Chief Engineer Fred A. Gardner, of the Union Iron Works, has notified the California trial board that it will be necessary to take the cruiser back to San Francisco to repair the breakage that occurred on the run today. He asks that the endurance run be held in the north.

The board has taken no action as yet on this request.
