Eulogy by Lawyer on Great Octopus of Manifold Virtues.

Argument on Ohio Conspiracy Case Draws Out Remarkable Plea From Standard in Answer to State's Case.

FINDLAY, O., Oct. 16.—That the case of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, on trial for conspiracy against trade, will be in the hands of the jury tomorrow is confidently predicted...

Mr. Phelps followed Mr. Davis for the prosecution and Mr. Troup occupied the rest of the day until after 5 o'clock in making the opening argument for the defense. The prosecution told the jury that there never had been an actual cessation of the Standard Oil trust...

Same Men—Same Trust.

"The people in the case," said Mr. Davis, "claim that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey now owns the stock of these various companies..."

Defense of the Standard.

Mr. Troup, who followed Mr. Phelps, presented the case for the defense. "Much has been said," he began, "about the Buckeye Pipe Line Company, the Solar Refining Company, the Manhattan Oil Company, the Ohio Company, and all of these companies have been alleged to be the property of a New Jersey corporation..."

Other Trusts Are Wicked!

There are trusts, Mr. Troup said, which were inimical to the laws of the State of Ohio, and to any community. For such he had no sympathy. They ought to be wiped out. He illustrated by mentioning the "bridge trust" and "grocery trust," both of which, he said, "you find right in this town and every town in the State of Ohio..."

PET DOG SAVES HER LIFE

Oakland Woman Angers Robber by Throwing Ring Out Window.

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 16.—Shortly before 6 o'clock this evening Mrs. William Betts was held up in her own home at 419 Wheeler street by an armed highwayman, who robbed her of $190. Mrs. Betts was seated at a desk in a front room counting her money, and was wearing a ring on her finger. When she saw the robber enter the door she managed to slip $30 into her bosom.

OPENS SUGAR REBATE CASE

Government States Charge Against New York Central Road. NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—When the hearing was resumed today in the case against the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, and Frederick Pomeroy its traffic manager, on charges of granting rebates to the American Sugar Refining Company, United States Attorney Silman outlined the prosecution's case. He said that the Government will show that on April 26, 1904, Lowell M. Palmer, acting for the shippers and especially for the firm of George H. Edgare, of Detroit, entered into an agreement with the New York Central and Mr. Pomeroy by which sugar could be shipped at Detroit at the rate of 18 cents a hundredweight instead of the rate of 22 cents fled with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

that the sugar company should pay the regular rate of 25 cents and that later the difference of five cents per hundred pounds would be returned to it. Mr. Edgare charged that 19,377 pounds of sugar had been shipped on these terms and that rebate payments had been made on this account. A letter written by Mr. Palmer to Mr. Pomeroy was offered in evidence. The letter, which is marked "personal and confidential," bears the date April 21, 1904. The letter says that Mr. Edgare's son had called on Mr. Palmer and proposed that their sugar shipments for the season be made from New York by canal to Buffalo, as the Edgars had arrangements with the Detroit and Buffalo line to take the sugar at Buffalo for distribution to Detroit and Edgare's other points in Michigan. This arrangement would give them a through rate of about 17 1/2 cents. The letter states that Edgare is in a very trying position in Michigan with the severe competition of the Michigan beet sugar and the Arbuckle Bros. and "something must be done for him in the way of rate this season. The letter continues that if this were not done, Edgare's business would be put on the canal. The letter continues: "If such a course is pursued, it will simply mean the disintegration of the present understanding of the division of the sugar traffic, as if a large shipper like Edgare was permitted to make his own rates, it will only be a very short time before every large wholesale house in the United States will want the same privilege."

"This is to advise that, taking effect immediately, we will undertake to handle Edgare's shipments for Detroit and Buffalo as are to be forwarded from there to points on the Michigan Central Railroad at the rate of 18 cents per 100 pounds. New York to Detroit, to call for the sugar to be billed at tariff rates and refund to be made by voucher." Mr. Edgare produced a number of drafts, which had apparently been indorsed by stamp by Palmer. Some of them were drawn by the National Bank of Buffalo on the Chemical Bank of this city. "I wouldn't identify any such signatures," said Mr. Palmer. "The drafts are alleged to have been made in the name of the rebate."

INDICTED ON 1524 COUNTS.

Federal Court in Tennessee May Fine Standard Millions.

JACKSON, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The grand jury of the special term of the United States District Court, Judge John E. McCall presiding, today read a voluminous indictment against the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, in the transportation of several carloads of oil at rates discriminatory in favor of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Alleged illegal shipments for the past three years are covered.

The indictment contains 1,524 counts, each count constituting a separate offense. The maximum penalty for each is $20,000 fine and the minimum is $1,000. The maximum total fine upon conviction would reach $30,480,000; the minimum would be $15,240,000. The document contains about 500,000 words. The indictment is the outcome of investigation made by Commissioner Garfield of the Bureau of Corporations, and deals with that part of Mr. Garfield's report which he calls "the Grand Junction route." This was an alleged secret arrangement whereby the Standard company was enabled to ship oil from Whiting, Ind., to the South, especially South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama at a rate much lower than the regular legal tariff by a combination over four or more roads and by way of obscure junction points, of which Grand Junction was one.

CAN'T COMMIT FOR CONTEMPT

Judge Adams Decides Against Commissioner—Uncle Sam Appeals.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—In the hearing before Judge Adams, of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, of the contempt case against R. M. Fraser, chairman of the East-Bound Freight Committee, who refused to produce certain records at the hearing of the Government's outer case against the Terminal Railroad Association and was technically placed under arrest at the instance of Special Commissioner of the charge of contempt, Judge Adams today decided that Mr. Rombauer had not the authority to issue a subpoena duces tecum against Fraser or commit the witness to jail, and Fraser was discharged.

PIERCE CHANGES TESTIMONY

Hadley Objects to Oil Man's Orders to Stenographer. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 16.—When the hearing of the state's outer suit against the Standard, Waters-Pierce and Republic Oil Companies was resumed today the statement was made by Attorney-General Hadley that he had found on looking over the official copy of the proceedings of the former hearing that H. Clay Pierce, chairman of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, had ordered the official stenographer to change some of the testimony he had given at that time. This would greatly affect the case, said Mr. Hadley, and he objected her husband. Commissioner Anthony ruled that Pierce could not change his testimony on the official copy of the proceedings, but he asked the jury if they had ever heard the man at St. "Wideaway" New York, who were behind the Standard, ever owning private yachts or betting on horses, or indulging in worldly follies. "No, these gentlemen were earnest workers. They were daily engaged in the development of this country and a market for their product abroad. They employed an immense army of employees—40,000. These employees were not degraded laborers, but the highest class. He asked the jury if they would not individually be proud to have their sons or some of their relatives appointed to a position with the Standard Oil Company. "Of course you would."

McCARREN TELLS WRATH ON HEARST

Indorses Ticket, but Tears Off Its Head Before Doing So.

CALLS HIS ENEMY BOLTER

Brooklyn Boss Holds Ratification Meeting With Oratorical Trimmings While Chanler Lauds His Chief to Tammany.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A special meeting of the Democratic general committee of Kings County, called for the purpose of ratifying the nominations made on the State and local tickets, was held tonight at the headquarters of the party, the chairman of the executive committee, offered a resolution indorsing the platform and candidates nominated at the Buffalo convention. Before the resolutions were voted, McCarren denounced the head of the ticket, who he said, had bolted the ticket in the county. Never within his recollection had such a situation confronted the party as was presented in this campaign. The spectacle of a leader refusing to recognize the ticket which he headed was certainly a novel one. It was an insult to every Democrat in the county and they would be less than human if they did not feel a spirit of resentment.

He called upon all voters to resent what he termed the "unjustifiable vilification of the respective candidates." McCarren continued at some length in a bitter denunciation of Hearst, who he declared was trying to disrupt the Democratic party in the States of California and Illinois. The Independence League was also roundly condemned by the Senator, who styled it a body "organized for the purpose of blackmailing the Democratic party."

LOVED BECAUSE HE'S HATED

Chanler Lauds Hearst at Tammany Ratification Meeting.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—The Democratic organization of New York County formally opened its campaign with a big ratification meeting at Tammany Hall. W. R. Hearst was not present, as he is touring upstate, but the ticket was represented by Louis Stuyvesant Chanler, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor of both the Democratic party and the Independence League. Mr. Chanler, Bourke Cockran, Senator Thomas Grady and others spoke. Not all who wished to attend the meeting could be accommodated in the hall and overflow meetings were held outside. Mr. Chanler said that the issue was not merely a question of party lines, but of Democracy against plutocracy. Of Mr. Hearst, Mr. Chanler said:

He has created an organized hatred stronger than any political organizations, but the people love him because of that hatred. How gladly would Ryan, Rockefeller, Morgan, McDonald and Belmont have welcomed the young and energetic California wealth. He could have had everything young and energetic gentlemen, he committed an unpardonable sin. He turned his back on his own class and made common cause with the common people. Jefferson is dead. Jackson is dead. Lincoln is dead. The reverence for their worship their traditions and follow in their footsteps, but my friends, we are alive. We want the young and energetic gentlemen, we have them in the present platform that will follow the election of Hearst and the Democratic-Independent ticket.

PRESIDENCY THE PRIZE

descend to the level of Hearst, nor does he follow the Hearst tactics and resort to misrepresentation of the position of his antagonist. Nevertheless, he makes very plain the difference between the Republican and the Hearst platforms, and clearly pictures the sort of government that will follow the election of Hearst and the Democratic-Independent ticket.

What Handicaps Hughes.

The heaviest handicap that Hughes carries in this campaign is the support of men of both parties who are identified with the big corporations of New York State. Some of these men he attacked when he was exposing the life insurance evils, when he was forcing the overthrow of the Republican bosses, and when he was exposing the gas graft. Yet in spite of his past attitude towards them, these same corporation men are compelled to support Hughes, for they dread Hearst. Along with this class are the heads of corporations that are transacting perfectly legitimate business. Business interests generally fear Hearst, for they realize that a Hearst administration would work havoc with all business in the State of New York and this they want to avoid. Hearst in his campaign repeatedly charges that Hughes is a "corporation attorney" and he would make the people believe that all corporations are corrupt and should be obliterated. Hughes draws a distinction and would protect legitimate business, though he is as determined as ever to put an end to oppression of the people at the hands of corporate wealth.

Murphy Handicaps Hearst.

But Hearst is not without his handicaps, and in fact is more heavily handicapped than his opponent. In the first place he is handicapped by reason of his corrupt deal with Murphy, whereby he literally bought his nomination at the Democratic convention. But he is still further handicapped because he has lost the support of some of the strongest Democrats in the state, notably Mayor McClellan, of New York City, and Pat McCarran, the Democratic boss and leader in Brooklyn. "I cannot allow a hired agent of the corporations like McCarren to define my Democracy or dictate unworthy candidates for me to support," said Hearst in one of his speeches, yet while he repudiates the Brooklyn boss who opposed him at Buffalo, he looks across with Boss Murphy of New York City and ignores the fact that Murphy is a Democrat of McCarren stripe, and forgets that along with them will go no small part of the McCarren following. Hearst can ill afford to antagonize the recognized Democratic bosses, for he needs all the Democratic votes he can get to insure his election. He is not apt to draw heavily from the Republican ranks. The laboring men who have voted the Republican ticket in recent campaigns are very apt to support Hughes this year, for if they withstood the appeals of Hearst and disregarded the concoctions of the Hearst newspapers in the past, they are not apt to be captured now by the high-sounding phrases of the yellow editor, or to give heed to the empty warnings of his big dailies. This class is composed of men who think, and men who do their own thinking are not being fooled by the campaign arguments put forth by Hearst and his paid servants. Nevertheless, Hearst is a mighty strong candidate; probably as strong as any man the Democrats could have named this year, and Hughes is not letting the grass grow under his feet, especially as he is aware that Hearst has really been conducting his campaign for a year or more prior to his nomination, and is today merely following up what has gone before. Both sides are thoroughly aroused, and it is to be a fight to a finish. Red Eyes and Eyelids, Weak Eyes And Tired Eyes Need Murine Eye Tonic.
