STATUS OF ONE MAN THE ISSUE

If Alexander Young Joins Union Water Front Strike Will Be Ended.

LAST DITCH

Grainhandlers Demand but One Triffing Concession-Imported Strikebreaker Is Assaulted and Beaten.

Alexander Young, weigher at Oceanic dock, has become the issue in the grainhandlers' strike. If he joins the union, the exporters and grainhandlers can reach an agreement and the strikers will go back to work at the Port Costa scale. This is practically what the present difference amounts to. The exporters are balking at full recognition of the union, which means the unionizing of weighers, emmplers and machine men, in addition to the other grainhandlers. As a matter of fact, all weighers and samplers on the waterfront had joined the union prior to the strike, with the exception of Alexander Young.

It should be stated that there are a number of office men in the employ of the exporters who do weighing and sam-pling, but as the union makes no demand that these shall join the union, they are not involved in any way. The unionizing of only one more man stands in the way of the peaceable adjustment of the con-troversy.

The union representatives think this demand is a reasonable one, and say the exporters should make this slight conces-sion in return for the agreement on the part of the grainhandlers to waive their claim for higher wages and their promise to return to work at the old scale. They are still hopeful that the shippers will see their way clear to meet the men on common ground, and their attorney, Rus-mell E. Sewall, will hold a conference this morning with the union whether to deal further with the

When the last conference between Attorney Sewall and the exporters' commit-tee ended Saturday night, the grainhand-lers were discouraged, and it was doubted whether any settlement would be reached. A final effort may be made today to get favorable action from the shippers.

Think It Small Concession.

"We have conceded things we never thought of giving up," said Oscar Melby, business agent for the grainhandlers, last night, "and we think we are asking only what is right in recognition of the union, and this means the unionizing of weigh-ers and samplers, who, prior to the strike.

Exporters point to the fact that two numbers of the committee of three grainmambers of the committee of three grain-bandlers which is attempting to bring about a settlement and is insisting on the unionizing of weighers and samplers, are samplers. Experters express the opinion that the desire of these two men to get their jobs back is responsible for the solicitude regarding weighers and samplers.

It was reported yesterday that today to was reported yesternay that only would bring further trouble between strikers and strikebreakers and that fights would increase until the strike is settled. Clashes occurred yesterday and it is feared that these will multiply as ong as the strike lasts.

Assaulted by Union Men.

The most serious affray occurred yes-terday when a crowd of union men as-saulted and badly beat John Loftin, a 19-year-old boy. But for the timely ap-pearance of Officer J. J. Murphy, Loftin might have received far more serious in-juries than he did, for, according to his testimony, one of the gang was armed with a nices of iron while another had testimony, one of the gang was armed with a piece of fron, while another had in his hand a large stone.

Loftin and a friend, George Beardsly, have been in the employ of Kerr, Gifford & Co. and for the past two weeks

When they reached the corner of Goldsmith atreet and Albina avenue they were set upon by a crowd of six or seven men. Reardsly escaped by running to a street car. Lottin, however, ensumbered by the sultcase, could not catch the car. He was overhauled by the gang. Two of the fellows upon the defenseless captive. Lottin was knocked down several times. Every time he attempted to get up he was knocked down again and his assailants seemed to have no intention of letting seesmed to have no intention of letting him go. Then Officer Murphy appeared. A call was sent for the wagon, but be-fore it arrived Captain Bruin was on the scene. The young man was taken to headquarters and a physician summoned. Lostin's right eye was swollen shut, his face and clothes were covered with blood and his nose was broken. A sharp cut across the nose at the point of the fracture indicated that he had been struck with some weapon and Loftin swears that one of his assallants had in his hand a heavy piece of iron. Loftin was taken to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Wheeler. He was so hadly beaten that while on his way to the hospital he could hear nothing and seemed dazed,

LEWIS AND CLARK FAIR MONUMENT IN CITY PARK ALMOST COMPLETED.

Almost finished, the Lewis and Clark monument, whose base was laid by President Roosevelt, May 21, 1968, stands in City Park, at the head of Park avenue, a beautiful monument of white and black granite, about 38 feet high, erected by the Lewis and Clark Fair Corporation at a cost of

On each of the four faces of the dle-the square stone supporting the column-is inscribed the coat of arms of one of the four states whose territory lies within the boundaries of the old Oregon country-Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon. All the granite was quarried on Snake River, below Lewiston, except for the die, which came from Rockland Quarry, California, and is of the same stone as that in the Custom House build-ing in this city. Otto Schumann, who cut the stone, says that the finishing touches will all have been given to the monument by December 1. A plat-form is yet to be built about the base.

whit is right in recognition of the union, and this means the unionizing of weighers and samplers, who, prior to the strike, were all members of the union, with one exception."

The request that weighers and samplers be unionized is not a new one, for it was put forward August 20, when the grain-pandlers asked for a renewal of their ligreement with their employers with the stipulation that during the coming year there should be an increase is wagges and that dook men should all be union men.

Exporters point to the fact that two members of the committee of three grain-bandlers which is attempting to bring a rule be made.

Break Up "Slugging" Gangs.

As a result of numerous assaults by strikers upon strikebreakers going to or returning from work, Acting Chief of Police Gritzmacher issued an order (mostly two or three of them out for a siroll), and beat them up in a most cowardly and brutal maner. "The officers must make every possible effort to stop this brutal practice ble effort to stop this brutal practice and arrest every person found so en-gaged and report all other cases com-ing to their knowledge wherein they are not eyewitnesses, that warrants may be obtained for the arrest and punishment of such persons.

"(Signed) C. GRITZMACHER,

"Acting Chief of Police."

From the wording of the order, it is evident that the police intend to put a stop to assaults and rigidly enforce the law. A number of cases which were not reported to the police have come to light, and these, with the number of assaults which were reported, have made it plain that something must be done to stop the practice. ishment of such persons.

must be done to stop the practice.

Although the union men emphatically deny that they are guilty of slugging, it is plain that the union's orders in this respect are being disregarded.

The order was read to the patrolmen as they went on duty yesterday, and they were made to understand that as-saults must be stopped at any cost.

LAND-FRAUD KING PROMISES INTERESTING READING.

Deals With Cases Where Statute of Limitations Saves Criminals From Prosecution.

Rapid progress is being made by S. A D. Puter on his book of exposure of Oregon land frauds, and it is believed that, barring unexpected delays, the work will easily be ready for publication by January 1 next. He has already furnished which has been carefully revised and of Police Gritzmacher issued an order yesterday requesting patrolmen to keep a snarp lookout for gangs of siuggers. The order is as follows:

"Instruct the officers of your relief, and especially those on duty in Lower Albina and the lower end of town, to be on the lookout for a lot of ruffans, or so-called strikers, committing brutal assaults on some of the grain dock laborers. Several such assaults have occurred within the last few days, wherein a bunch of these ruffans attacked a smaller number of these laborers (mostly two or three-of them out for a constitute to the several such assaults have occurred within the last few days, wherein a bunch of these ruffans attacked a smaller number of these laborers (mostly two or three-of them out for a constitute to the several such as a constitute to the land-looters. important features of the forthooming literary efforts of the distinguished king of the land-looters.

Those in a position to know declare that the appearance of Puter's book is destined to create a great furore throughout the country, and some are sanguine enough to predict that it will be productive of as many sensational developments as Lawson's famous articles on "Frenzied Finance." That the book will prove of more than local interest is evident from the fact that its various chapters will deal largely with personages dent from the fact that its various chapters will deal largely with personages and events in a great many different cities and states. While the principal plot of the story will very naturally be laid in Oregon, Washington, D. C., Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, besides California, will also come in for a good share of attention, and it is expected that something sensational will be evolved from the mass of information that is being gathered from all quarters.

Puter is telling his story in a complete and fearless manner, and leaves very little to the imagination. It involves a large number of prominent Oregon citi-

Deals in Eastern Oregon and through-out Tillamook and other coast counties of the state, hitherto untouched by any official investigation, will be held up to public scrutiny and some of the methods employed by great railway corporations in intimidating those who stood in their way during the frenzied rush to acquire timber lands in 1802 will also be laid bare. It is noteworthy that Putter has been timber lands in 1802 will also be laid bare. It is noteworthy that Puter has had more or less of a criminal career ever since his advent in Oregon nearly 20 years ago, and he does not spare even himself in the recital nor attempt to shield his associates, some of whom have been in the habit of holding their heads at a high angle on account of the supremacy through their ill-gotten gains. Puter is laughing in his sleeve at his critics, and says they know better than anybody why there is a moral necessity for the publication of his book; but whether they do or not makes no difference to him, as the facts are bound to come out, he declares. came out, he declares.

BURNSIDE BRIDGE PERFECTLY SAFE

Engineer Stutsman Denies Sensational Newspaper Story.

GARBLED HIS INTERVIEW

Draw Rest Rotten and Will Have to Be Replaced, but Main Structure Will Stand Against Any Flood, He Declares.

Timid folk who have been alarmed by sensational "story" in the Ladd newspaper, to the effect that the Burnside atreet bridge is rotten, weak and wobbly street bridge is rotten, weak and wobbly and doomed to fall into the river at the next freshet, need worry no longer. Harry Stutsman, the bridge engineer, who was quoted as authority for the statements made in the article, says he gave out no such interview as that attributed to him. On the contrary, he says there is not the slightest ground for apprehension as to the condition of the structure. The only foundation for the structure statement made by Mr. Stutsman to County Commissioner Lightner to the effect ty Commissioner Lightner to the effect that the draw rest was old, and that the county would have to provide for replac-ing it in making up the bridges for the

"I did not say to Commissioner Lightner, nor to any other person, that the Burnside bridge was in a dangerous condition and liable to be swept away at any time," declared Mr. Stutsman to an Orespondent representative lear slocks. On the gonian representative last night. On the contrary, I have said and now say again that the Burnside bridge is absolutely safe and will stand indefinitely. It has better foundation piers than the railroad bridge, or any other bridge on the river.

What Stutsman Really Said.

"Commissioner Lightner came to the oridge and asked about possible repairs He said the cost would be included in this year's estimate. I pointed out to him that the draw rest was old and would have to be replaced as soon as possible, as the timbers were rotten. I also said that the east end approach would have to be re-placed with a steel viaduct, according to placed with a size! viaduct, according to the conditions of the bridge franchise. The total cost of these improvements, I told him, would be $100,000. I said the draw rest might be swept away, should there be high water, but that would not affect the bridge itself in the least. The draw rests of both the Morrison and the railroad bridges were carried away several years ago, but the draws were op-erated the same as before. It only re-quired more care on the part of the river captains in passing through. I simply re-ported these matters to Commissione

Shortly afterward a man came to n and represented that he had been sent by the County Court to investigate the con-dition of the Burnside bridge. I told him what I had told Mr. Lightner. I did not say that the bridge was in the least un safe. Engineer Taylor was present and heard what I did say. Neither did Mr. Taylor say that the bridge was unsafe. It would only mean that new piling would have to be put in for a draw-rest.

And this flood would have to come down like a millrace before these piles would be carried away—back-water from the Columbia would not affect them in the least." "The draw stands on concrete founda tions and is said to be as safe as builders can make it. I am of the opinion that it will stand any flood such as those that ome every year; in fact, I think it will old its own with any other bridge over the river."

BRIDGE IS OUT OF DATE.

Madison-Street Structure Must Be Replaced by One of Steel.

It is conceded that the Madison-stree bridge will have to be replaced with a steel structure. W. B. Chase, ex-City Engineer, under whose supervision it was rebuilt some seven years ago, recently made the statement to the East Side Im-provement Association that the Madison bridge is a good structure, one of the best of the kind, but that it was not designed to carry the heavy street-cars that now use it. Sometimes three and four heavy electric cars, loaded with passengers, are on the bridge at the same time, and it was such traffic as this to which Mr. Chase referred. The East Side Improvement Association has taken up the matter of a new steel bridge on Madison street, and will inves-tigate the condition of the present struc-

"Last year the County Court ordered a thorough examination of the Madison-street bridge. The experts that made this examination reported to us that the struc-ture was good for four years more, at the end of which time every timber in it ought to be replaced. This gives the bridge three years more of service. Its foundations are said to be in the best of endition.
