Moderates Take to the Woods Against American Intervention.

SMALL BANDS PLUNDERING

Leaders of Palma Party Reported at Head of Men Who Are Gathering Forces-Montalvo Suddenly Leaves Havana.

HAVANA, Oct. 31.-(Special.)-Reports of a Moderate uprising in Santa Clara and Matanzas Provinces reached here to-night, causing great alarm in the city, and bringing back the old feeling of unrest which prevailed just before American intervention.

The movement is said to be concen trated in ten or a down bands of roving Moderates, composed of a score of men each. Several bands are reported in different parts of Havana Province and along the north coast. Among the cities which report having seen the insurrectionists are Punta Brava and El Cano. In these cities the bands are composed of a greater number of men than are reported to be rising in Santa Clara and Matanzas Provinces and committing depreda zas Provinces and committing depreda-tions on plantation owners in the vicinity. So far they have taken to the woods and are gathering horses from the plantations. The names of the leaders are not given in the reports received, but it is said on good authority that the highest members of the Moderate party are implicated. Among the names mentioned are those of Montalyo, Fravye andrado and others. At Montalvo, Freyre Andrado and others. At midnight Governor Magoon was still awaiting detailed reports, but none had

General Montalvo visited the National Palace this afternoon and it is now rumored that he left this evening. Where he has gone is unknown, but rumors say he is with some of the Moderate bands which have taken to the woods.

W. C.T.U. CONVENTION ENDS

Surpasses Others in Attendance and Volume of Business.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 31 -With jub lee exercises given by the president of the state organizations having made a net gain in membership, the National con-vention of the Women's Christian Tem-perance Union, which has been in session here since last Friday, was brought to a close tonight. close tonight.

In point of numbers and volume of busi-ness' transacted the convention is one of the most interesting in the history of the organization. The adoption of a number of resolutions, among them one asking President Roosevelt to mention in his annual message to Congress the liquor traffic as "one of the evils that menace our Nation." logether with a number of other recommendations of various interest, were among the features of the day's hundreds were turned away. In his Burwood speech Mr. Taft first discussed the trust question. He declared that, while the Democrats talk a great deal about the trusts, there is a lack of sincerity in it all. They do not, in the first place, tell what a trust is, nor do they give any well defined plan for their suppression. The Secretary then went on to define the term trust as it is commonly used and to enumerate the evila growing out of such institutions, He then took up the history of antitrust legislation, claiming that the only effective laws for the regulation of these great corporations have been enacted by Republican votes. Mr. Taft spoke of the many difficulties the present administration has encountered in its efforts to enforce the anti-trust law. He declared that some of the consti-tutional limitations on the prosecution of criminals are absurd, and their effect in nany cases is to defeat the ends of jus-ice. He declared that many of the technical obstructions of which criminals, through the shrewdness of their lawyers, are accustomed to take advantage, should be removed. Notwithstanding these difficulties, he said, the administration's activity and the good work of the last Congress had cre-

"But this very prosperity," he continued, "Is the source of some serious em-barrassment. When a Nation grows rich the individuals who make up the Nation grow rich also and in some cases some of the individuals always grow far richer than others. We have developed a crop of Crossuses without precedent in history, and, moreover, the long-distance telephone, the ocean cable and the de-velopment of corporate agencies enable these multi-millionaires to unite their wealth in huge combinations which threaten the commercial liberties of their fellow citizens and even bid defiance to

Mr. Bonaparte likened the trusts to a pen of pigs in which the big, strong, overfed hog crowded the little ones away from their feed and got far more than

"Our big, strong, greedy, overprosper-ous trusts are animals of the like order. They crowd their smaller and weaker fellows from the feeding trough so that these don't get their fair share of our National prosperity. The problem is how to so fence off the great beasts as to give the little ones a show. "The Democrats propose to cut off the supply of swill, or, in other words, to destroy our prosperity by unsettling all our business relations. No doubt this process would soon make the big hogs as thin a razorbacks, but would the small ones fare any better?

"Remember, we don't complain of the former because they are themselves big and fat, but because they make others small and thin. The fatter the big pigs become the better for their owner and the more money the trusts make the better for the American people, provided in the one case all the little pigs get fat too, or at all events as fat as these can and in the other that all dealers outside of the trusts have a fair field and the trusts

No Danger of Strife With U.S. Says H. B. Miller.

JAPS BUILT UP COMMERCE

They Realize Good Will Must Exist If Trade Is to Flourish and Are Anxious to Foster Both.

Japan is not looking for either an armed or commercial war with the United States, but instead is anxious to strengthen the friendly relations which now exist between the two countries. There is no country in the world which the Japanese arise, I am certain that the statesmen of regard in a more friendly spirit than they do the United States. This is the view of the newspaper stories to the effect that Japan is preparing for a war with the United States, taken by Consul-General H. B. Miller, of Yokohams, who is now a guest at the Oragon Hotel. He holds the deep-rooted conviction that the Japanese government is not antagonistic to America and its interests, and scouts the idea of the two countries neeting in conflict.

"I do not believe that the Japanese want to create any trouble with this country,' said he yesterday. "I am firmly convinced that there is no country whose good-will is more earnestly sought than that of the United States.

"I do not think that the Japanese are acting because of hidden motives when they complain of the treatment of their students in San Francisco. The Japanese are an intensely sensitive people, and it also might be well to mention that they are a very sensible people in their international relations.

"They are great admirers of President Roosevelt. Throughout Japan there is a distinctly friendly feeling towards Amer-ica, and I feel sure that the Japanese will not do anything rash to break the pleasant relations which now exist.

"They are not likely to create war, and their thoughts at this time are primarily in the direction of the creation of a great commercial and industrial nation. They are bending every energy toward the establishment of manufactures to provide for the Oriental trade. They realize better than we do that the commercial rela-tions with this country are growing more intimate and extensive, and that peace and good-will is essential to the expansion of their trade.

"So far as I know, Japan has great faith in the present Administration and believes that her citizens will get fair DESPITE his 70 years and more, the such feverish heat through the veins of John Elkington, a local taxidermist, that yesterday afternoon he came to the con-clusion that one of Cupid's darts had penetrated the cardiac region of his anatomy, and that the only remedy was contained in the balm of matrimony. Acting upon this idea, he repaired to the County Clerk's office and told his troubles to Dep-Clerk's office and told his troubles to Deputy Christenson, who forthwith issued a marriage license entitling Elkington to lead Mary V. Shaver, a blushing damsel of 61, to the altar. "Tou see, it was just like this," explained the prospective pridegroom, as his eyes grew brighter and his cheeks took on a crimson glow. "Mary said she was lonely in this world and I said I was ditto, and without everpoopping." I up and tells her I would go popping I up and tells her I would go and get the license and that we would be together the rest of our lives; so make it good and solid, young man." The accommodating deputy did as requested, and not only added a flourish or two on the precious document to make it more in search of the other party to the trans-
