

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF THE LADD FARM, SHOWING ROAD WHICH IT IS PROPOSED TO OPEN THROUGH THE TRACT TO CONNECT EAST GLISAN STREET AND VILLA AVENUE

In all probability it will be announced at a special meeting of the Montavilla Board of Trade this evening what kind of a highway will be opened through the Ladd farm, between the Base Line and Sandy roads, to connect East Glisan street and Villa avenue. Secretary William de Veny, of the Board of Trade, said yesterday that Mr. Ladd had agreed to announce today just what he would do about opening this street and how wide the street would be made. It is announced that Mr. Ladd favors a 100-foot street through the farm, and was opposed to any street less than 80 feet wide.

Prior to his departure for the East Mr. Ladd was not inclined to favor any street being opened through the farm, but since his return he has informed several of the people interested that he favors either an 80-foot or 100-foot street, but is opposed to a 60-foot thoroughfare. He said that he did not want to antagonize the people of Center Addition and Montavilla, nor did he want to be antagonized by them.

Plans for plating the farm along artistic lines have been adopted and are being worked out. A surveyor has been at work for several days in the field.

For several years the people living east of the Ladd farm have wanted to get a street through it, and the people of Center Addition voted for annexation largely for this purpose and for Bull Run water. Villa avenue extended to a connection with East Glisan will follow the right of way of the Portland Railway Company. Beyond the Wilbert lane in the city limits there have been some differences as to whether Villa avenue should be 60, 70 or 80 feet wide, but the recent decision of the people between Wilbert lane and West avenue is that they want a 60-foot street. However, if the Ladd estate will open an 80-foot, or 100-foot, street it may change the situation materially with those who have heretofore opposed a wide street.

Secretary de Veny said yesterday that he favored an 80-foot street to the city limits, provided it does not delay the putting down of a water main to Montavilla from the Bull Run system. He says that the outcome depends on what answer Mr. Ladd gives the people of this evening. He hopes that as a result there will be a fine street, not only to Montavilla, but on to a connection with the Sandy road, or Fairview.

There are large and growing settlements east of the Ladd farm at both Center Addition and Montavilla, probably 3000 people altogether, who are deeply interested in the proceedings to get a street through the farm that now stands like a Chinese wall between them and the rest of the city. Councilman Kellaher said yesterday that there was no question that these people were entitled to a hearing, and remarked that he stood ready to assist them in every way possible.

When informed that the farm was being platted, he remarked that he would oppose any plat that did not have connecting streets. It is said that the plat will be on the "contour" plan, following the natural inequalities of the surface of the tract.

ASSISTS THE POOR

Local Needlework Guild Makes Annual Distribution.

RUNS SHORT OF SUPPLIES

Various Charitable Institutions Draw Heavily Upon Organization for Articles of Clothing—Donations Are Requested.

The distributing bureau of the Portland Branch, Needlework Guild of America, presented a busy appearance yesterday, when a host of earnest workers toiled from early morning until dark filling the requisitions of the various charitable institutions of the city for clothing and household supplies. Mrs. S. J. Reed, president of the Portland Guild, was in charge of the day, but Mrs. W. H. Brewster, Mrs. Alexander Bernstein, Mrs. E. S. Hamilton, Mrs. William Jones, Miss Kate Gilie, Miss Anna Cremen, Miss Kate Cronin, Miss De Fries and others gave their services and distributed about 1000 articles among the many institutions of this city. It was found that there is need for fully that many thousands of garments and the Guild regrets that it has not been able to supply this heavy demand made upon it.

The organizations supplied by the Guild last year were the Magdalene Home, People's Institute, St. Agnes' Baby Home, Visiting Nurses' Association, St. Mary's Orphanage, Salvation Army Rescue Home, Baby Home, Children's Home, Crutenden Home, Day Nursery (Flower Mission), Home for the Aged, St. Vincent's Hospital, Good Samaritan Hospital, Father Home's Boys and Girls' Aid Society, Juvenile Court, Detention Home, Volunteers of America, Home for Working Girls, Open Air Sanatorium, and ten private families.

No reserve stock was held this year, but funds will be kept on hand to supply calls upon the Guild for clothing. There was a distressing lack of outside garments for both men and women, boys and girls, and donations of trousers, coats, shoes, cloaks and dresses will fill an urgent demand. Sides of all sizes are also needed, and articles for men in hospitals will also be welcome to the distributors.

The Needlework Guild has come to be recognized as one of the most practical of all agencies for distributing clothing for the poor. It does away with constant and individual solicitation and begging from merchants and families, and the management is more anxious for the merchants of Portland to form a chapter and make their donations to charitable institutions through this medium. Mrs. Reed, the president, states that merchants would find it no less trouble to give what they feel disposed to donate to charity all at one time and thus be relieved of the embarrassments of a year-round canvass.

The Guild receives ready-made garments and household supplies and distributes them evenly and without favoritism, so that they find their way to the needy and deserving poor of the city. This not only makes it easier for the contributors, but simplifies the matter of the clothing supply for the many institutions which have come to depend upon the Guild.

While the annual distribution was made yesterday, donations will be received by Mrs. Reed and all section presidents at any time and in any amount. The members of the Guild are urged to contribute to the fund. Membership in this organization involves only the donation of two or more made-up garments each year. As many more can be sent in as the member can give, but only two are required. Mrs. James S. Reed, the president, telephone Main 5701, will give all information required.

an hour in which to get beyond the city limits.

He made for the door and had been forgotten when, half an hour later, he was discovered making a reconnaissance of the corridors, apparently trying to get some word to his friend. He hung about with such persistency that he was finally discovered and lodged in jail. Fair will probably be charged with contempt of court, which will mean a substantial sentence for him if conviction follows.

DECLARE FOR A CARLINE

Union-Avenue Property-Owners Will Make Formal Demand.

Union-avenue property-owners met last evening and decided to advocate and work for an electric railway on Union avenue, between East Burnside street and Hawthorne avenue, to be a part of an "all-East Side" car line. Dr. C. H. Rafferty was elected chairman. There was a thorough discussion of the subject. W. H. Markell, W. L. Boise, C. E. Fields and others of the property-owners had already talked with Manager Fuller, of the street railway company, and the latter said his attention had been called to the matter only through the newspapers, hence he had not yet given it much consideration.

He expressed a willingness to take up the matter. It was decided last evening to lay the matter before the Portland Railway Company with a view to securing a franchise for the company on Union avenue between East Burnside street and Hawthorne avenue, and the routing of some of the cars now using the Steel bridge by way of Union avenue and the Morrison bridge.

W. L. Boise pointed out that the important thing to be obtained was a car line on the East Side that would do away with the innumerable transfers and provide street-car facilities for the pupils who attended the East Side High School. He also maintained that if such a line were established it would do much to build up business on the East Side.

C. E. Fields, W. L. Boise, E. J. Daly, W. H. Markell and W. H. McMonies were appointed to confer with the officials of the Portland Railway Company relative

HOSE READY TO DIE

LOVED WOMAN HE KILLED

Murderer Denies That He Accepted Earnings of Her Shame—Says Mistress Was Unwilling to Abandon Fast Life.

Henry Hose, the convicted murderer of Madge Wilson, admitted yesterday that he did not sleep any after the verdict of the jury was rendered until 5 o'clock the next morning. He was still sleeping when his attorney called to discuss the subject of an appeal, and was not awakened. In the afternoon Hose declared that he wanted the whole thing ended as soon as possible.

"I would sooner see it go the way it is going," said he, "than to be placed behind bars for life. The only statement I wish to make is that nobody tried harder than I did to make a decent woman out of Madge. I thought a great deal of her. I had a chance on two different occasions to go to work on a ranch, and tried to get her away from the city, but she was too deeply fascinated by its allurements. I told her more than once that I would give my last drop of blood if I could make her happy and contented.

"I am not trying to whitewash myself, or anything like that. When she was not under the influence of liquor or opium she was a well-behaved woman.

"I realize that I did wrong, and feel sorry for it. Good friends who responded and still suffer for what I have done, and I shall gladly suffer any punishment the court may give me. I hope I may rest in peace from now on.

"There is another request I have to make: Please say that I give my thanks to those people who contributed to a fund to pay the funeral expenses of Madge, and also deny that I was living off her earnings. I came here with $20 that was paid me after my discharge from the Army, and I can prove that I earned $100 more working for wages here. That makes a total of $320, and as I only met Madge in Portland last summer, we could have lived pretty well with that money without my depending on her for support.

"Hose stated that he was born November 25, 1874, at Hoesen, Germany, and has a father, brothers and sisters still living there. He also has an uncle in Wisconsin. When asked if he intended to testify in the Philippines, Hawaii and in different parts of the United States.

Company on March 15, 1906. This was done, declares the plaintiff, after the acceptance of a proposition from the defendants that if the stockholders of the Oregon Traction Company would consent to the sale of the property to the United Railways Company the latter would pay them the full amount of the cash they had paid upon their subscriptions to the stock of the Oregon Traction Company.

Diels' Case Up on Appeal.

The case of the City of Portland against William M. Manning yesterday brought suit in the State Circuit Court against the Portland Steel Shipbuilding Company for $12,300 damages on account of personal injuries alleged to have been sustained by plaintiff September 12, while in the employ of the defendant in rebuilding the steamship George W. Elder. The complainant recites that while operating certain tools which it is claimed were defective, he was struck in the left eye by a piece of steel, entirely destroying its sight.

Three New Corporations.

Articles of incorporation of the Realty Association of Portland were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by N. W. Rountree, H. R. Reynolds and Warren E. Thomas. The capital stock is $100,000.

The Oregon Chair Company has also been incorporated by A. J. Kingsley, Margaret White and J. N. Teal. The capital stock is $25,000.

C. A. Bell, Sanderson Reed and A. C. McIntosh have incorporated the Hawthorn Lumber Company, which is capitalized for $5,000.

Saloonkeeper Is Convicted.

A jury in Judge Fraser's court yesterday afternoon found Emil Johnson, who owns a saloon at Sixth and Stark streets, guilty of selling liquor last election day. The case was submitted about noon. One obdurate juror stood out for acquittal for several hours, but finally yielded after Judge Fraser had called the jury in and suggested the advisability of reaching a verdict rather than to put the county to the expense of another trial.

FORTUNES IN MILK

Oregon Cows Produced Nearly $28,000,000 in 1905.

BUTTER 10,000,000 POUNDS

State Food and Dairy Commissioner Bailey Gives Interesting Statistics in His Annual Report for Last Year.

Oregon's dairies and creameries sent out in 1905 products valued at approximately $25,000,000. State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bailey has just completed his report for the year which he will submit to the Legislature when it meets in January. Commissioner Bailey estimates that the output for 1905 will exceed that of last year by fully 10 percent. In compiling his figures he received reports from creameries, dairies and cheese factories throughout the state and his figures are as accurate as it is possible to obtain.

The milk, condensed milk, cheese and butter produced in Beaver state for the year 1905 were valued at $27,255,000. Milk alone represented $24,700,000 and the other products $2,555,000. It is believed that $25,000,000 is a conservative estimate of the dairy and creamery products made from the milk.

If the milk produced by the Oregon cows were placed in one tank the $2,500,000 gallons would fill a reservoir 740 feet square and 20 feet deep and be enough to float several ships. Estimating that there are 500,000 people in Oregon there were 185 gallons for each person. But his report for the year which he will submit annually, principally in the form of condensed milk, cheese and butter.

The creameries made 7,000,000 pounds of butter and there were 3,000,000 pounds of dairy butter produced. All the butter was valued at $2,500,000. If this butter were made into a solid cube it would be 50 feet high and 25 feet square. Butter is usually retailed in two-pound bricks. If the bricks made from this butter were placed end to end they would reach 471 miles.

About 200,000 cases of condensed milk were made, nearly all of which was shipped out of the state, a great deal of it going to Alaska. The output of condensed milk was valued at $185,000. About 4,000,000 pounds of cheese was manufactured, estimated to be worth $45,000.

Commissioner Bailey has been at work compiling his report since the first of the year. Notices were sent to the various creameries and factories requesting that reports be made in accordance with the requirements of the pure food law. The proprietors have been dilatory in making out the reports, as the law sets no specific time for their being submitted.

Commissioner Bailey this week received the last of the reports from the large concerns. He was assisted in his work by F. McIntosh who has been acting as dairy inspector. At the next Legislature Commissioner Bailey will probably request that an amendment to the pure food law be made, requiring the reports be submitted to him within a given time.

OREGON TRACTION COMPANY STOCKHOLDER CLAIMS $34,550 TO BE DUE.

The United Railways Company was made the defendant in a suit filed yesterday morning by L. Y. Keyser, one of the stockholders of the defunct Oregon Traction Company. Keyser's personal claim amounts to $34,550, while those assigned to him swelled the total to $33,835.

WOULD NOT BE SEPARATED

Vagrant Ordered Out of Town and Put to Jail Without Success.

The law tried to separate two fast friends yesterday forenoon and failed. The result is that the two friends occupy adjoining cells in the city jail and the city has them to support during the next five days.

The two men are recent arrivals from Tacoma and are distinguished by a strong aversion to any kind of work. They were arrested for wandering about the streets late at night and when arraigned before Judge Cameron yesterday forenoon on a vagrancy charge pleaded not guilty. It was proved, however, that they have done not a stroke of work since reaching Portland three weeks ago. Nor have they ever been seen apart, being inseparable as the Siamese twins. It developed that the larger, Mike Course, secured a few hundred dollars by light work in Tacoma and that he has been supporting the friend, Jerry Fair, buying meals, lodgings and liquor. The brace has been out of funds for three days, although Course said he was expecting a remittance from his home in Michigan.

Judge Cameron thought the two should be separated before the man who arraigned them. He accordingly ordered Fair out of the city and sentenced Course to five days that he might have a place to remain until his money arrived. Fair was given
