ST. JOHNS IN A TURMOIL

VIOLATION OF BUILDING ORDINANCES IS CHARGED.

Failure of City Engineer to Remain Ousted From Office Adds to Council's Troubles.

The troubles of St Johns City Council seem to increase at every session, and the one last night was no exception. The City Engineer, W. W. Goodrich, is the center of the discussion. Though dismissed, he still performs the duties of his office and draws his fees as usual. The latest contention is over the bids for the completion of the new City Hall. The contractors have withdrawn their submitted bids, on the ground that the plans and specifications are constantly being altered between the time of submission of bids and the awarding of the contract. As the engineer is not under bonds, no recourse is possible to the city and the additional expense of advertising must be borne by the taxpayers.

Another bone of contention is the violation of the fire-limit ordinance. Recently W. C. Adams erected a frame building in the fire limits and Youngs & Son, contractors on the City Hall, have been granted the privilege of the erecting of a temporary structure in which to store material used in the construction of the hall. Instead of erecting the temporary structure adjacent to the site, it is being put up 300 yards away from it and adjoining another building located in the fire limits.

The City Marshal caused the arrest of one of the Youngs & Son men for a violation of the city ordinance last Tuesday, but the matter went over for the Council's consideration last evening. The Council failed to take any action, and it is claimed the permit granted will enable him to keep the structure indefinitely and dispose of it to other parties. The case will be tried before Judge Thorndyke probably today.

In the former case the Adams structure is completed and is being rented for business purposes. As a special favor the fire limits were recently so altered as to permit a prominent taxpayer to erect frame structures in a district which is rapidly being occupied by business structures. The business interests of the town oppose these special favors and are manifesting against it.

A feature of the session last night was the letting of a contract for the improvement of Ivanhoe street.

Ends Life With Poison in Jail.

ECHO, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Fred Weller committed suicide in the City Jail this afternoon. He was accused of attempting to commit a criminal assault on a little girl named Dempsey Hayes, about 4 years old. He had been bound over for trial this morning. At 4 o'clock he was found dead from a dose of carbolic acid, which had been passed to him. Weller was German, about 35 and had served in the regular army. For some weeks he had been cooking for a saloon chop counter.

NOT A MARRIAGE BUREAU

DEPUTY DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S REPLY TO MURRAY FAMILY.

C. L. McNary Says He Was Asked to Compound Felony, and He Declined.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special)—That Orlando Murray, who slew Lincoln C. Whitney at Portland yesterday, has misrepresented District Attorney McNary in a statement made today by Deputy Charles L. McNary, whose story is corroborated by a well-known resident of Salem. Murray said that he and his sister and mother appealed to McNary for redress of Miss Murray's wrong, but without avail.

As a matter of fact, their request was not for assistance such as a District Attorney could legally give. They wanted him to compound a felony, which would be a breach of duty, by threatening prosecution unless Whitney married the girl. This McNary would not do. He offered to prosecute Whitney or advise him to marry the girl if he had wronged her, but McNary would not use his official power in forcing a marriage. In speaking of the matter today Deputy District Attorney C. L. McNary said:

District Attorney McNary knew nothing of this matter, as he was on his way to Tillamook City to attend court at the time of the trial to his office of prosecuting Murray, his mother and sister, Saturday morning, November 10. This was the only time any of these parties ever appeared at this office. Mrs. Murray gave me a letter of introduction from Mr. Manning, after which the three visitors told me of the nature of the charge against young Whitney, of whose existence even I did not know.

After expressing my sympathy and assuring the parties of the state's willingness to prosecute, I advised them that the facts might warrant a prosecution for either criminal seduction or common-law rape. They informed me that to prosecute was not what they wanted. Young Murray said Whitney must marry his sister, and Mrs. Murray said the unborn child must have a name, and insisted, that I compel Whitney to marry the young woman.

They said they had been advised that I could send an officer out and bring Whitney into the office and tell him that he must marry Miss Murray or he would be sent up. I told them in these very words that this office "was not a marriage bureau; that it did not make, force or enforce marital contracts or compound felonies"; that all I could possibly do along that line would be to ask him to call at the office, and if he did so I would apprise him of the situation in the hope that he would see his way clear to act honorably toward the young woman, providing he was responsible for her condition.

I explained that our next regular term of Circuit Court would convene the first Monday in January, but that a warrant of arrest could be obtained at any Justice court in Marion County upon complaint of any person familiar with the facts; that the District Attorney's office, however, was powerless to issue a warrant in any case. They said that to send Whitney to the penitentiary would do no good; that he must marry Miss Murray. I suggested, if he must not care at the present time to cause Whitney's arrest, that Mrs. Murray go to Hubbard and see him, at the same time repeating that they could at any time go before a Justice of the peace and have Whitney arrested, and we would prosecute him vigorously. They all agreed to go to Hubbard that afternoon on the train and left the office after thanking me for what they pleased to term my kindness.

These facts can be verified by one or more responsible disinterested parties, who were in the office at the time.

Sold Stock in Salted Mine.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 13.—William Whalen, an aged mining prospector of the State of Nevada, who was arrested here for embezzling a number of citizens, securing several thousands of dollars by false representations, was today sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment at San Quentin. He was convicted upon the complaint of Mrs. Milda Martin, who paid him $1000 for stock.

An investigation of the Whalen mines showed the ore was "salted." There are still three more counts against Whalen for salting.

Ex-Klondike King in Jail.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 13.—(Special)—Mike Bartlett, at one time one of the most prominent of the Klondike contractors and mining men, known throughout Alaska, has been sent to jail here as a common disorderly character, under sentence to spend ten days on the city's chain gang. He created a disturbance in the lower end of the
