

AROUND THE HORN TO BOSTON TOWN

Old Bark Harry Morse Has Unlucky Voyage From Portland.

HAS MISHAPS FROM START

Meteor Almost Hits Her, and Provisions Run Short—Captain Knows Not Fate of Family in San Francisco Disaster.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—After a passage of seven months from Portland and Astoria, Or., the old bark Harry Morse, Captain H. C. Lund, was towed up the harbor shortly after noon today. The craft, which has been 35 years of hard service, was sent around the Horn for delivery to her new owners, and will be converted into a coal barge, after discharging her cargo of 300 tons of pig iron and 900,000 feet of lumber.

She sailed from Portland, April 12, dropped down the river to Astoria and left there April 18. At the very outset she ran into hard luck, for while still in the river, she collided with the British steamer Victoria and was damaged to the extent of $500.

The long passage of 16,000 miles around Cape Horn was attended by all sorts of difficulties. She ran short of provisions twice. The most thrilling incident was the escape of the vessel from destruction by an enormous meteor.

"It was before daybreak on the morning of October 15," said Captain Lund, "when we were in latitude 11 degrees 50 north, longitude 48 degrees 20 west, that the meteor, with a flaming tail apparently half a mile long, shot out of a clear sky. It came zig-zagging out of the southern sky, and we feared it would strike the vessel, or go close enough to set her on fire. On it came and struck the water very near us with a roar and ozone like the noise of 100 cannon."

The bark left Oregon the day after the San Francisco earthquake and Captain Lund, who has had eight children living in that city, is still in ignorance of their fate.

CALVE'S SECRET ROMANCE

Disappears to Wed Rich American Who Is Blind.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The vague rumors which have been circulating for several days to the effect that Mme. Calve was betrothed to a rich American and would never again appear on the operatic stage, are apparently correct. Last night, having quietly left her apartments, the singer left Paris for a long period, after confiding the news to a few intimate friends, but demanding a pledge of secrecy regarding the name of her husband. Mme. Calve's servants said she went away with her affianced, but they were unable to give any definite information as to his name. It is believed the couple are now on board a yacht.

The whole affair is shrouded in mystery and romance. The future husband of Mme. Calve is described as a rich American, an artist, passionately fond of music, who for a long time has never missed a performance of Mme. Calve, and who until recently had not sought an introduction. Just at the time when the American decided to ask for Mme. Calve's hand in marriage, an accident to an electric apparatus in the residence of the singer, in which he lost his sight, being the cause of the singer.

Upon the return of the couple to France next Spring, it is said, Mme. Calve and her husband will install themselves in a chateau, where a theater similar to Adeline Patte d'Oie at Craigie-Nos-Wales, will be built for Mme. Calve and her friends.

The news of Mme. Calve's marriage has created a sensation in musical circles, although there is still a considerable skepticism on the question whether she has decided to end her operatic career. The old bias against the fact that she has a contract to continue the leading role in "Mary Magdalene" at the Opera Comique, in March.

In response to a telegram addressed to Mme. Calve at her chateau, her secretary writes that the prima donna will sail tomorrow on a prolonged cruise and that she declines to make any communication to the press.

of justice and peace among the people who make war or preserve peace.

Bolivian's Proof of Friendship.

Mr. Calderon said in part: Bolivia has the friendliest feelings towards the United States. In practical proof of this we have commenced the work of our development through the railroads that we are building. We are building about 1000 miles of railroads. This is a most important link of the Pan-American ally. It will connect Peru, Bolivia and the Argentine Republic. It will be possible to go from the Pacific to the Atlantic by the shortest route, not only on account of its cheapness, but by the personal attentions, but by the way he expressed his feelings in such a manner as to dispel any misunderstanding that might have been brought about by wrong reports of the newspapers. Mr. Root's work will be worth a great deal for both countries. His visit to South America has been the discovery of South America for the United States.

Two Currents of American Life.

Mr. Cortes said in part: Evolution in this country has been marked by two currents, both of which have contributed enormously to its present stage of prosperity and power. The first current, which begins with the Pilgrim fathers, is one of spiritual, the appreciation of the sublime, the educational movement, the campaign against corruption in all its forms and the great movement for the emancipation of the slaves. The rival current has moved in the lines of production and in the cultivation of wealth and of material prosperity. The success in this direction has been so complete that I believe you have reached the summit, the one of the great problems that now occupy the minds of the best people of the land is how to avoid the immediate accumulation of wealth. In fact, you have reached the point as to whether an indefinite amount of wealth is not considered an evil that must be checked in some way.

Predicts Noble Destiny.

My view and my hope is that wealth will be squandered in its struggle against spirituality and that this country, which has been so rich in surprises to the world, will in the future, at no distant time, assume the heroic and unknown attitude of a Nation becoming the upholder of the principles of morality and the virtue of justice and good will, not only in political and administrative relations, but likewise in its international relations. By assuming this position, I believe this great Nation will attain a point of real greatness entirely unknown in the history of the world and that indeed it will carry the prosperity of the Nation to a point unknown in the history of great Nations of ancient and modern times. The United States will never have cause to complain of the accumulation of too much wealth and too much love, as you feel now that you have the material wealth.

the history of the world and that indeed it will carry the prosperity of the Nation to a point unknown in the history of great Nations of ancient and modern times. The United States will never have cause to complain of the accumulation of too much wealth and too much love, as you feel now that you have the material wealth.

Invitation to Brazil.

Mr. Do Amarant said in part: The speech of Mr. Root in the Rio Janeiro conference reflected the broad-minded policy agreed upon by the President of the United States towards all the sister Republics of America. The speech of Mr. Root is an everlasting event. It will remain a monument of wisdom and clear-minded spirit of justice and a tribute to universal truth.

Mr. Root, I believe, is quite well aware of the enormous possibilities that the Americans have in trading with the Brazilian people through our chief port, and allow me to say, go to Brazil yourself, study our markets, see our resources on the spot. Be familiar with the twenty-two millions of people inhabiting Brazil, try to understand their European language, and you will see that success will be your reward.

Fruits of Root's Voyage.

Mr. Youcham said in part: The recent voyage through South America of our honorable Secretary of State, who was received by us like the ambassador of peace, progress and American solidarity, is, I am happy to say, producing the results duly expected. The people of America will know more of their Southern neighbors than they did before, and this fact will bring more close commercial relations with natural benefit. My country, Chile, for instance, though very rich in natural products, has but little commerce with the United States, and we are not known. If we want capital to start a new company or to start a new industry, we must go to the European markets, where we are well known, and there we find all kinds of facilities.

Several specially invited guests were present, including Daniel Cheater French, the sculptor, of New York; David R. Francis, president of the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress; Governor Mickey, of Nebraska; Governor Prantz, of Oklahoma; several officers from the army posted at Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley, Kan.; J. E. Hurley, general manager of the Santa Fe Railroad; S. M. Felton, president of the Alton Railway; B. L. Winchell, president of the Rock Island system; and J. Kruttschnitt, vice-president, and J. C. Stubbs, traffic manager of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Americanize South America.

Mr. Pardo said in part: The greatest effort ever made by the United States to make its policy in regard to the Latin Republics known to South America is represented by the visit that the Secretary of State, Mr. Root, has just made to those countries. The Secretary of State, while enroute here, was for himself the affection and esteem of 40,000,000 inhabitants living south of Panama, and for his country, the United States of America, has secured the everlasting regard of the southern portion of this continent. The visit of Secretary Root sooner or later will bring the industrial and commercial Americanization of the South American Republics. Mr. Root has been able to appreciate that the South American countries offer to-day all kinds of security to American capital, because these countries are now on a stable basis and the country is respected, civil and political freedom exists and revolutions exist only in the minds of the newspaper writers, who find in them a good subject to abuse their readers.

Barrett Foresees New Era.

Mr. Barrett spoke but briefly, reserving his principal remarks for tomorrow night. He said: I cannot emphasize too strongly the point that this meeting in Kansas City of the South American diplomats with delegates of people from all over the United States, marks a new era, actually a new era in the relationship existing between the United States and South America.

SPECIAL JURY FOR THAW

JEROME WILL ASK COURT TO PREPARE FOR TRIAL.

Thaw's Counsel Refuse to Discuss Opinion of Alienists on Thaw's Plea of Insanity.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—District Attorney Jerome today served notice upon counsel for Harry K. Thaw that the prosecutor would appear in court tomorrow and ask for a special jury before Recorder Goff on December 1, to try Thaw for the murder of Stanford White, the architect. A panel of 150 names will be required.

Mr. Jerome adds that the case is one that requires attention and dispatch. Thaw is charged with murder in the first degree.

D. M. Delmas and John B. Gleason, of counsel for Thaw, called on their client in the Tombs today. The object of the visit, it is understood, was to confer with the prisoner on a story published this evening, which was to the effect that three alienists retained by the defense to examine Thaw had reported to his counsel their conclusions that Thaw was insane when he killed White. Tonight a representative of Thaw's counsel declared emphatically that the published story would neither be confirmed or denied, as the attorneys for the defense had decided to do no further talking for publication.

HILL IS IN FULL CONTROL

Burlington to Be Made Part of Great System.

OMAHA, Nov. 19.—The Bee says today: Within one week the equity which the Northern Pacific holds in Burlington will pass into the hands of the Great Northern, and within 15 days the Burlington and Great Northern will be merged into one system. When James J. Hill is in control, this statement was made this morning by a man close to the official family of the Hill roads, who has just returned from Chicago, where the intricate operations of this gigantic transaction are now being perfected. He makes the statement without reservation.

So far as the lines of track of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Burlington are concerned, these three roads lack but one little link now of being, in fact, one great system. When the short cut from Billings to Great Falls, Mont., is completed, the unification will be consummated. The western terminus of the Burlington is Billings, where it meets the Northern Pacific. A line has been in course of construction for some time from Billings to Great Falls, where the Great Northern runs on its way to the Coast.

This line will soon be finished and when it is, the three great railroads will be joined and merged, physically, into one great system, but the Federal Government, objecting, the Northern Pacific will not be named in the union.

Sale of Nehalem Timber.

ASTORIA, Or., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—A deed was filed for record today whereby E. Z. Ferguson, of this city, sells to E. M. Snow, of Seattle, about 2000 acres of timber land located in the Nehalem Valley near Milburn.

While the consideration is not made public it is understood to have been about $18 per acre.
