Detectives at Work in Thompson Murder Trial.

VENIREMEN QUESTIONED

Defense Is Suspicious of Lou Nelson, of Seattle, and the Prosecution Asks About a Sleuth Named Coates.

TACOMA, Wash., Dec. 7 .- (Special.)-Inquiry as to the use of private detectives for both state and defense, tes-timony that veniremen had been asked concerning the case by strangers since being summoned to court, and open statements by coursel that outside forces were at work for and against the defendant marked the second day of the trial of Chester Thompson for the murder of Judge Emory. The in-timations of secret influences at work were borne out in the queries put in the examination of veniremen for jurors or were made by counsel. Mr. Morris, of Seattle, counsel for the defense, was particularly anxious if any of them knew of a Seattle detective named Lou Neison. Friends of the Thompson family say he has been working for the state. On the other hand, Attorney Harvey, for the state, was anxious to learn if any of them had an acquaintance or knew by sight Walter G. Coates, who it is alleged has been performing the same service accredited to Nelson. Neither side chal-

After the state had made its first peremptory challenge and the defense its first and Judge Snell had secured a juror by agreement of counsel, the 18 names on the regular panel were ex-hausted and the court ordered another venire of 50 names.

There are now 11 veniremen passed for cause. The state has five more chal-lenges and the defense 11. The high spirit shown by counsel and the determination of both sides to fight over every inch of the way make it improb-able that a sury will be selected before

CUTICURA REMEDIES WORK WONDERS

Mr. A. C. Barnett, proprietor of a general store in Avard, Oklahoma, tells in the following grateful letter how Cuticura cured him and his son of terrible eczemas;

"My little boy had eczems. His head was one solid sore, all over his sealp; his hair all came out, and he suffered very much. I had a physician treat him, but at the end of three months he was no better. I remem-bered that the Cuticura Remedies had cured me, and after giving him two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, according to directions, and using Cuticura Soap and Ointment on him daily, his eczema left him, his hair grew again, and neither he nor myself have had any eczema since.

As to his own case, Mr. Barnett says: "I suffered with eczema, a burning, itching, breaking out on my face for more than a year. I took treatment from physicians for several months, which did no good. I was then advised to try Cuticura I took six bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and weed Cartisura Seep and Obstantia used Cuticura Soap and Ointment freely every day. I began to improve soon after starting to use them, and when I had taken the six bottles of the Resolvent my face had become clear, I had good color, and all eruptions had left me.
