is not easy to keep trace of their move-ments, and still harder to get harmony of action. A proposition has been pres-ented by W. B. Hall of the East Side Business Men's Club, that an executive committee be formed of one member from each club, so that each organization may keep in touch with all the others and so there may be more harmony of action on anything when necessary and when the measure concerns the whole of the East Side. The question of fire protection is clied on which there is much division of effort that might be concentrated with the effect of accomplishing more.

WANT CARS ROUTED TO HOSPITALS .- A movement is on foot to ask the Port-land Railway Company to route the East Ankeny and Montavilla cars crossing the Morrison bridge to the hospitals and Ex-position grounds, the same as has been done with the Mount Tabor cars. They sny that there is really a larger population tributary to the East Ankeny an Montavilla branches than even the Mount Tabor and Sunnyside lines. They pass through Center Addition where there are several thousand people, and continue to Montavilla. At present these cars go

MOTHER-IN-LAW ACCUSER

Mrs. Morris Accuses Dr. Johnson of Disorderly Conduct.

Dr. Samuel Johnson, of Seattle, was arrested at the Hotel Oregon last night by Acting Detective Kienien, on a war-rant issued out of the City Attorney's office on a complaint charging disorderly conduct. His mother-in-law, Mrs. M. A. Morris, swore to the complaint. Dr. Johnson declares that his mother-in-law has long been intruding herself into his affairs, and says that she is bent on making trouble between himself and wife. The latter receives an income of $300 a month, it is said, from an estate.

Mrs. Morris, the mother-in-law, swears that Dr. Johnson acted in a disorderly

Dr. Johnson states that he received a note from his wife, saying she was ill and wished to see him. He went to the house where she and her mother were staying and asked for admission, but was refused by his mother-in-law. He then returned to the Hotel Oregon, where he has been living since coming to Portland. Dr. Johnson gave ball and will appear before Municipal Judge Cameron this

GIVES INTERESTING READING.-WIlliam FRESH AIR AND EXERCISE

Dr. Wethervee Talks to Holmes Business College Students.

Dr. J. R. Wetherbee, of the Marquam Building, delivered a short address yes-terday morning to the students of the Holmes Business College. The young peo-ple were urged to recognize the laws of health; to take plenty of exercise, sleep eight hours, breathe plenty of pure air and eat wholesome food.

The speaker seemed to think it a shame that the saying "Cleanliness is kin to Godliness" was left out of the Bible, and said that even though the demand for office help is very great at present, busi-ness men will not employ an untidy per-son, for fear that dirty finger marks will

After the address, which was received "The World's Greatest Impeachment," is Snyder gave a plano solo, and the College Quartet also helped to entertain:

work was something of a revelation even are many here.

It was furthermore demonstrated to local satisfaction that Clyde Fitch has not gone stale. Personally I consider "Her Great Match" the best thing he has done since "The Climbers." The namby pambiness that has been noticeable in his recent plays gives way to real human interest. He has created a set of characters who are characters who are genuine, who love and hate, are selfish and generous, who have real blood in their veins.

He has given Miss Elilott a play which really requires her to act and she, who has previously won her way because of beauty and charm of manner now "makes good" as an actress. Her "Jo" Shelby is as far beyond anything she has previous-ly given us as Nat Goodwin's comedy is shead of Georgie Cohan's. The nearest approach was her work in "When We Were Twenty-One" but even that is badly distanced.

Maxine Elliott "shows" even the Pike County critics and herafter we shall hear more of her real quality and less of her beauty, although the latter has faded not

There isn't a cynicism that one recalls an hour afterwards. It is a trifle less "smart" to be typically Fitchesque but the absence of these characteristics does no harm to the play. The dramatic situations, the pretty sentiment and the compelling interest of the story lead the observer to believe that Fitch hasn't paresis after all. From the moment of her first entrance roles. Her humor is delicious and her pathos deeply affecting. Her sincerity impresses itself upon the audience in every scene. She continues to be one of the best gowned women on the stage-and that midnight black hair of her's and her wonderful eyes—the poets may as well continue making sonnets to them. Her support this year is exceptionally good barring Cory Thomas who foozles the part of boss-brewer-who-wants-a-title. Mr. Thomas is evidently an irish comedian in disguise. Charles Cherry, whom I have never seen play a "lead" badly is entirely convincing as the crown prince and Mathlide Cottrelly, than whom there are few better grande dames is a delightful German duchess, Leon Quar-termaine is a satisfactory society youth with a sense of humor, while Suzanne Perry and Gladys Morris fill all require-ments. Muriel Wylford makes a lot of a difficult and thankless part and Wil-liam Sams builds up a "bit" very well the gowns of the ladies are elegant and will probably serve as models for local modistes. The settings throughout bear the New York hallmark and inspire the per degree of admiration.
