LOSS SAYS LINES WILL BE BUILT

Ready to Bet That the United Railways Project Will Be Carried Out.

ROAD NOT ON THE MARKET

Chief Owner Complains of Unfair Tactics of Rival Interests-Says Numerous Claims 'Have No Merit-Respects to Plunkett.

C. E. Loss, backer of the United Railways, who has been repeatedly taxed with failure to carry on the enterprise. Is in Portland, cornered perhaps, but still defiant. Despite allegations that he has made arrangements to unload the property to his own advantage, Mr. Loss disclaims the charges and says the lines will be built. He offers to bet anyone $5000 to $1000 that the programme originally outlined will be carried out and that he will figure in the construction of the system.

They have knocked down every man we have brought up here," said Mr. Loss.
"They have brought suits without any trace of merit to embarrass us, but we have not yet begun to fight. We have have not yet begun to fight. We have taken it all like a boy so far, but I am willing to bet the lines will be built, and that C. E. Loss will be in it when they are built. are built. When construction is started I would like to see the man who has a dollar in this town that can make me seil. I would not sell out to this knocking bunch if I had to give up the contracting business and come up here and work as a more man. work as a motorman of a car.

The lines will not be built to sell. All we ask is the support of the city, and the backing of The Oregonian. We and the backing of The Oregonian. We have been knocked for fair, and many think we have been hanged.

"I do not deny the road has been offered for sale, but it has been on terms that would insure that the road would be built. I want to see the lines built whether I make a cent out of it or not. I have had no idea in seiling out to make a dollar, but first I have insisted that the roads be constructed.

"I refused a cash offer of $25,000

"I refused a cush offer of $25,000 for the project, which I can prove, just because I did not think the tender carried with it the guarantee that the good faith of the people of Portland would not be tampered with."
"As for making $35,000 out of the

"As for making $35,000 out of the road so far, that is ridiculous. Papers I have in my possession here and now show that I am out stready on the deal about $35,000 or $40,000 instead of mak-ing a cent. I can show this to a dollar, and my attorney, Mr. Emmons, will produce the papers to prove every word "When I hought into the United Rail-

"When I bought into the United Kailways, the liabilities amounted to about $150,000. There has been nothing doing since but to check out. The margin on the Chamber of Commerce sale and the rails did not meet the liabilities the original promoters of the United Railways left behind them. It has been

"We have certainly had more than our share of knocking, and in the opinion of the public I suppose we have begin pretty well hanged. But there may be something doing later. There is nothing here that monoy will not cure. What the prospects for getting the money are I will not say just now.

"The road is not being offered for sale at this time. We still have plenty of time left to build. I believe we can build the city lines in three or four months. If we start construction there is no man amone all those beautiful.

is no man among all these knockers who can buy it from us.

"As to the charges that I ran away from the claim presented by that attorney, Plunkett, they are foolish. I never ran away from anyone, and I never had a judgment against one in my life. I never knew anything about that man Plunkett, but when Dix quit my employ he showed an account book that showed he was indebted to Plun-ket for work done for him personally. I never hired Plunkett for an instant, Dix and Plunkett were manipulators in British Columbia securities. Dix claimed Plunkett could handle bonds, and they were in together on some electrical or telephone properties in British Columbia. I never knew any-thing about Plunkett, although I saw him down here and noticed that he lived expensively and appeared to be trresponsible.

"I suppose Plunkett figured it out that repropose Finnkett agured it out that everyone was giving Loss a kick so he would come down and give me a kick and present a fatilitous bill. That is the only explanation of it that I know of.

"I never would have needed to go outside of Portland for legal talent and I side of Portland for legal talent and I have not done so except in the case of Francis J. Heney, who was employed to do certain things for me when he was here last. I knew him down in San Francisco and for that reason asked him to act for me here. He will probably do some work for me when he returns here. Outside of that Attorneys Emmons and Carey have carried on my legal affairs, and there is no reason why I should go to British Columbia for talent.

"The Flunkett bill for $1600 is an outrage and he known it has no merit. The other knocks that have been handed me other knocks that have been handed me have been uncalled for and come only from rival interests. The bunch of intrenched corporations here seems to want to hog the lown for themselves and out-siders stand no churce. We have cer-tainly had it handed to us, but we are not down and out yet."

Officials of Rall and Water Lines to Beach Hold Discussion.

Passes to the beach next Summer may be rare if traffic men who are now considering the question decide adversely to the pass holder. Officials of all rail and steamboat lines between Portland and the Washington and Oregon beaches held a conference yes-Oregon beaches held a conference yesterday in the general passenger offices of the Harriman lines to discuss the edicts of the Interstate Commerce Commission in connection with free transportation. The second Multnomah and The Dalles Columbias will play here Christmas, and this game is causing almost as much comment as the Seattle game. and Materials and Men Build a Home for Mrs. Carnut and Her. Children.

A T Milwaukee Sunday was enacted the opening chapter of a pretty story that will be concluded next Sunday. The tale illustrates the kindly disposition of the people of that town. S. Carnut, employed in the O. W. P. shops at Milwankee, died several weeks ago, leaving a wife and several small children without means of support, except an acre of The Oddfellows' Lodge and of about $400 in cash and material were

Modern Woodmen Camp each donated $50 and subscriptions to the total amount obtained. Sunday morning at an early hour Mayor Shindler and about 15 others, including some of his opponents in the late city election, went to the acre owned by Mrs. Carnut, where lumber had been previously delivered, and started work on a cottage for the widow and her fatherless little cover. fatherless little ones. All were carpen-ters or handy with tools, and made good

At 1 o'clock, to the surprise of the band of workmen they were summoned by special messenger to Woodmen Hall. special messenger to Woodmen Hall. They obeyed, and they were agreeably surprised to find that the women of Milwaukee, having learned that the men were building a home for the widow and her orphans, find quietly prepared as fine a hanquet of good things as the time would permit. The men all agreed that it was enough. The repast over they returned to work and by dark had nearly inclosed the cottage.

Next Sunday it is expected that the cottage will be completed, ready for Mrs. Cornut and her children. The subscriptions came from many sources, so that practically the whole town shares in the honor. It is Milwaukie's Christmas token to the widow and children of the fellow townsman. pend to a large extent. Seth Kerron, Oregon's star fullback for three years, is out with the team, and will probably appear in the line-up. Lieutenant Gregg, of the Fourteenth Infantry, of Vancouver, a former Princeton player, has also turned out for practice, and is showing up in fine form. Multnomah will be provided with plenty of strong substitutes in case of accident to any of the players.

The second team is working hard for the Christmas game, and will try to wipe out the defeat of last year at the hands of The Dalles team by a decisive victory this season. Manager Schell says that the second team will average 173 pounds, which will give them an advantage in weight over the Columbias of 18 pounds to the man. In Sterling, Blackman, Mc-Micken, Carlson and others, Multnomah has a line that should hold like a stone wall. Foley, Alexander, Austin, Rupert and Taylor, of Hill Military Academy, will take care of the back field, and they are all strong players. The Columbias will depend on team work and the punting of McInerny and McCoy to bring victory to their standard. In Captain Murray The Dalles has a quarterback who is considered as one of the best field generals in the Northwest. He is also a fierce defensive player, and in the game with Oregon Agricultural College often smashed the plays before they were fairly started.

Everything considered, the two teams should be about evenly matched, and many football followers predict a scoreless game.

HUGE CROWD SEES WHEELMEN

Walthour and Bedell Still Behind, Spurts Proving Abortive.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12-Interest in the six day bicycle grind around the track at Madison Square Garden was so great at 9 o'clock this evening that the management closed the ticket office and refused to admit any more people, as the police officers were afraid of a panic some serious accident on account of the congested condition in the garden.

Up to a late hour the relative standing of the teams had not been changed. Bobby Walthour and John Bedeil, the reconstructed team, were still one lap be-hind, and, although they did their ut-most to reduce this handicap, neither was able to gain more than half a lap, and then he had to drop back into the and then he had to drop back into the bunch.

The score at midnight was 1291 miles and four laps for all teams except Walthour and Bedell. Who had covered 1291 miles and three laps.

The fallure of Walthour and Bedell to catch up may be due in a measure to the fact that for the last 20 hours Bedell has been suffering from indigestion, so that his stomach has not been able to retain solid food. Today Bedell felt better and was able to eat a chop.

The desire of Thomas Brennan, an 18-year-old youth, to witness the race cost him his life last night. The lad scaled an iron picket fence and tried to climb into a window in order to gain admittance to the garden. He fell and landed on the picket, one of which penetrated his abdomen.

NORCROSS TO COACH O. A. C.

Writes Denying That He Will Play for Seattle.

CORVALLIS, Or., Dec. 12-(Special)-It is practically settled that F. R. Nor-cross will coach the Oregon Atheletic Club football team next year. A letter from him received here yesterday an-nounces terms upon which he will come and it has been practically settled that the arrangement will be entered into. Norcross is en route East, and will not return to the coast until time for his work here to begin next season. In his letter he says that the talk from Seattle to the effect that he was to play against Multnomah for reasons of so-called revenge is without foundation. It also states that he left Scattle carlier than he originally intended in order to avoid the pressure brought to induce him to play in the coming games between the Seattle and Mulinomah teams.

An attack of typhold fever usually leaves one with an enormous appetite. The wasted body cries out for foed material to repair the loss of body tissues.
