Oregon Electric Company May Build to Forest Grove.

GROUND IS LOOKED OVER

President Swigert Explains Visit to That Town and Hillsboro—Plans for Extension Are Not Yet Matured.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—An electric line from Portland to this place is contemplated by the Oregon Electric Company, the successor of the Willamette Valley Traction Company.

C. F. Swigert, of Portland, president of the company, was in Forest Grove and Hillsboro today, discussing the project with leading citizens.

The Oregon Electric Company is building to Salem a 56-mile electric road, which will be finished next summer.

Behind the Oregon Electric Company are Moffatt & White, of New York City, owners of the Portland Gas Company, and C. F. Swigert, H. C. Campbell and A. L. Mills, of Portland.

President Swigert, when asked last night about his visit to Hillsboro and Forest Grove, gave out the following statement: "I was at Hillsboro and Forest Grove with S. E. Huston, in the interest of the Oregon Electric Company, successor to the Willamette Valley Traction Company."

MAROLIS IS NOT DEAD.

North Yakima Authorities Believe He Left to Avoid Humiliation.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Dec. 12.—(Special.)—No trace of missing Lew Marolis has been found since he disappeared a week ago Tuesday.

The theory is that he left here to avoid the humiliation of being branded as a deserter.

Miss Ambrosia Adams, to whom Marolis was to have been married in March, still believes that he was either murdered or drowned.

TWO PORTRAITS ARE ADDED

Presented to Washington Historical Gallery by E. S. Meany.

OLYMPIA, Dec. 12.—(Special.)—Governor Mead has received from Professor Edmund S. Meany, of the State University, handsome portraits of two former delegates in Congress from the Territory of Washington, namely, J. Patton Anderson and Arthur A. Denny.

Anderson was elected territorial delegate in 1853, with an appointment as Territorial United States Marshal.

Denny was elected territorial delegate in 1855, and served two years. He returned to his home in Florida and afterwards was a delegate to the Secession Convention.

Arthur A. Denny, born in 1835, frequently is referred to as the "Father of Seattle."

He and his family were among those who arrived at Alki Point November 13, 1851, and in 1852 laid out the present town of Seattle.
