TELLS HER GRIEF FOR DEAD LOVER

Mrs. Adams Pours Out Pity on Woman Who Killed Arthur Brown.

READY TO RENOUNCE HIM

Betrothed of Dead Senator Anxious That He Marry Mrs. Bradley. Refused to Hate Woman Who Killed Him.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(Special.)—Mrs. Annie Adams, in the hotel where she is secluded under an assumed name, today weepingly told the story of her grief at the death of ex-Senator Arthur Brown, and her pity for the woman who killed him.

"I wrote him the day of his death," she said, "absolving him from all obliga-tions to me if he could brighten her clouded life. I told him I was willing to sacrifice my own happiness if he felt that he bwed a duty to her."

Would Give Him Up to Rival.

This letter, which is now in the hands of Daniel Baker, the United States District Attorney, was the special delivery letter mailed in New York on the day of the Senator's death, and which reached Dr. White, his attendant physician, a few minutes before his distin-guished patient's death. The letter be gan "Dear Heart." It was a letter expressing the writer's deep affection and also the spirit of renunciation. It showed that Mrs. Adams had risen to the height of giving up the man whom she loved for the sake of the unhappy woman he had wronged, and it seemed her ruling motive that he might do that which she was at last persuaded was his highest

Love Greater Than Hate.

'In one of the Senator's letters he had said: 'I want you to see with my own oyes, hear with my ears, hate with my late, and love with my love,' "said Mrs.

'In one of my fast letters to him, on which doubtless he had received just before the shooting, and the sight of which may have driven the unhappy woman to her terrible act, I said, 'It will be easy to learn to see with your eyes and to love with your love, but hate has never been a component of my nature. Love is more powerful, but in time persons, even of that unhappy woman."

Mrs. Adams burst into fresh tears at the recollection and said:

"To think that I am the cause of his

WILL TRY TWO OFFICERS

Penrose and Macklin to Blame for Brownsville Riot.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—On the rec-ommendation of the General Staff, the Secretary of War has ordered the trial by courtmartial of Major Charles W. Penrose and Captain Edgar A. Macklin of Company C, first battalion, Twentyfifth Infantry, under the sixty-second ar ticle of war for "conduct to the preju-dice of good order and discipline," in failing in their duties in preventing and the riot at Brownsville,

The specifications will include among other things the charges that the two officers named failed to exercise due diligence in preventing the occurrence when the condition of affairs at Browns-ville made it necessary that all proper precaution should be taken to prevent a clash between the troops and citizens; and also that they did not examine the rifles of the men until daylight, although they learned of the true state of affairs by I or 2 o'clock in the morning. The details as to the membership of the court and the place where the trial will be had have been left to the dis-

There will be other bills of similar character, and others drawn on radically different lines. All will be considered in detail, and out of the discussion some form of practical legislation is apt to be evolved.

New Plan Means Monopoly.

One of the most practical Westerners in Congress, discussing the President's coal land and have it lity basis. His idea is to ly and cheapen the coal to is my honest opinion that of the royalty system will have the opposite effect, for the minute it becomes impossible for any one to acquire title to public coal lands those who now have title will run up the price of coal, and the consumer will be obliged to pay it. There will not be any great scramble to secure coaling privileges on a royalty basis, for the royalty required will reduce the profits of the individuals or corporations making such agreement, and men are not looking for investments with narrow margins, when the West is full or other kinds of investments that assure large profits. The minute our coal land is withdrawn, the present owners of coal fields will have a monopoly and the people, will pay their price or go without.

In time leases will be made and when coal operators operating under Government leases put their coal on the market they will have to fix a fair price over and above the cost of production, plus the royalty demanded by the Government. The minute that is done, private owners of coal land will drop their price, for they can undersell the royalty men every day and still make a profit. The men developing Government coal land and paying a royalty will not be able to meet the price of the private coal land owners, and then there will be a crash. The knowledge that such a condition will exist will go a long way toward preventing men from making such leases or paying such royalties as the President advocates. His is a nice theory, and on paper it looks all right, but when you attempt to put such a policy into operation I predict that failure will result, at least until the private coal land holdings have been pretty well worked out.

Solution Will Be Found.

This coal land problem is far too in tricate to be solved in a day; it cannot be disposed of on theory alone, and until the many ramifications of the question have been studied out, no new coal land law will be enacted. Even now there are men who criticise the President for withdrawing the remaining Government coal land from entry. It is asserted that he has no authority in law for making such a move, but, be that as it may, the withdrawais are in effect, and are likely to stand until Congress provides a remedy, or legislates directing their restoration to entry. The latter course is not apt to be followed. A great part of the time of the public land committees of both houses will be given over to the study of the coal land situation this Winter, and some legislation is expected to resuit before March 4.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.-Edward M. Shepard declares that the Democratic party should accept the issue of centralization of power in the Federal Government made by Secretary Root in his address on Wednesday.

"I think the existence of the Demoparty is more necessary day after Mr. Shepard said, "and especially do I think so after considering this speech of a man who may be truthfully called a trained statesman, although his dea of what our Government should be is abhorrent to me.

"He proposes as a policy what we may call the destruction of the state and a complete and final subordination of the state power to the Federal power in Washington. The fight of the Democratic party against this idea goes back to the days preceding the adoption of the Fed-eral Constitution, and to that we owe the act that a Federal and not a consolidated Republic was established."

FINDS CHILD INEBRIATED

Father Accuses Man of Giving Liquor to Seven-Year-Old.

J. A. Lyons, of 245% Front street reported to the police last evening that when he and his wife returned home from work last night they found their 7-year-old daughter, Carmen, in a state of intoxication. He says liquor had been administered to the child by Gus Lavelle, who, the father says, is in the habit of calling on Mary Howell, a domestic, who is left in charge of the child while the parents are at work. Lyons stated that, when he returned, both the domestic and Lavelle were not present, and that it was necessary to call a physician to attend the child. Lyons stated further that Lavelle is known by other names and that had forbidden the girl to receive him at the house.

PRESS SUBSIDY

Will Send Special Message Urging Passage of the Shipping Bill.

MEANS MAKING IT LAW

House Committee Now Tied, but President Would Win Over Two Republicans-Is Restricted to South America and Orient.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Dec. 14.—Yesterday there was every indication that the ship subsidy bill was dead. Today word came that the President will send a special mess-age to Congress urging its enactment, and the situation instantly changed. A special message on this subject will make the ship subsidy bill an administration measure and with the House overwhelmingly Republican, this is equivalent to making it law.

Message Would Break Tie.

Though the Republicans have a ma-ority of six on the Merchant Marine Committee, four of their number are opposing subsidy legislation. One nocrat, now absent, is favorable to it. With a full committee there would be a tie vote, nine to nine, but if the President interferes it is expected that at least two Republicans now oppos-ing the bill will change their attitude and consent to report. The Grosvenor substitute, or a modification of that substitute, makes no provision for trans-Atlantic lines, but confines its benefits entirely to steamships plying between the Pacific Coast and the Orient and between our ports and South America. Speaker Cannon, it is learned, is now ready to accept the Grosvenor substitute, if it be amended by adding a subsidy for a steamship line plying between Pacific Coast ports and all the ports on the west const of

No Benefit to Portland.

The Grosvenor substitute, if enacted into law, will not encourage the es-tablishment of any new steamship lines on the Pacific unless the proposed Can-non amendment is adopted. Otherwise all subsidies for Pacific steamships will be paid to the Boston Steamship Com-pany and J. J. Hill's line from Puget Sound and to the Pacific Mail from San Francisco. Portland will be shut out completely. As the bill passed the Senate last session, there was a prospect that Portland might share in the benefits of the subsidy law, but unless the Senate makes a radical change in Grosvenor's bill, Portland will get no

Committee Deadlocked. WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 .- That Presicial message advocating the passage of a ship subsidy measure at the ent session was stated by several members of the House today. It was that the President had declared the recommendation in his annual mess age was misunderstood. In that message he said that if it were found inexpedient to pass the Senate bill, a measure should be passed to provide for a few lines to South American ports. He did not mean to minimize the importance of other features of the bill, it is said and now purposes to correct any false impression that may have been gained by the House.

No decision on ship subsidy was reached at the caucus of the Republican members of the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries held today. The amendments as drafted by Representative Grosvenor eliminate cargo subsidy entirely and limit the Government's aid to ships to South America and the Orient Even with these changes, the members of the committee from the Middle West do not favor the measure.

May Pay Fare in Advertising.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 .- Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, today intro-duced a bill amendatory to the rail-road law permitting publishers of ewspapers and periodicals to accept the transportation from railroad com-panies for advertising. #### HIGH PRAISE FOR OREGON

GOVERNMENT EXPERT TALKS ON DAIRYING.

Those Engaged in Industry in This DAM MUST BE LOWERED State Have Many Advantages Over Eastern Competitors

E. H. Webster, chief of the dairy divi-sion of the United States Department of Agriculture, is a guest in Portland, and like all others who come here and investigate is predicting wonderful things for oregon, and the Willamette Valley in particular, in the dairying line. The opinions of Mr. Webster have a great deal of weight, as there is no better authority in the United States on dairying than he, although he is still a young

"From what I have seen here I be lieve the natural conditions for dairying in Oregon are unexcelled," said Mr. Webster last night. "I took a drive out in the country this afternoon and saw excellent green pastures and this is the excellent green pastures and this is the middle of December. Taking into consideration the fact that in the East cows must be dry fed about six months in the year 4t is a wonderful advantage that the dairymen of Oregon have.

"The dairymen in this part of the country probably have the best market for their products in the United States. Butter is selling for more in Portland today than in New York. I believe splendid or programming are offered here. A

A great deal has been said about the opportunities in the dairying line that are portunities in the dairying line that are presented in Oregon, so much in fact that many persons have inquired of me if there is not a possibility of the industry being overdone in this state.

"No, emphatically no, was my answer to them. I do not believe that it can ever be overdone out here. The more people who embark in the dairying business, provided they maintain a high standard with their products, the better. With the ever-increasing population there

In the Northern and Eastern states they have adopted more advanced and scientific methods, but that will all come in time, as this is a comparatively new field. The dairymen here will, or ought to, soon learn to select their herds and feed. It is done by some of the big dairymen now, but not by the rank and file. "The United States exports hardly any
