COMMERCIAL CLUB DINNER.-An entirely new departure was authorized at a meet-ing of the board of governors of the Commercial Club at its weekly meeting commercial Club at its weekly meeting yesterday. Following out the suggestion made by an ex-member of the board, a popular dinner was called for Friday evening, January 3, having for its object an informal discussion by members of the club and their guests of current matters of interest, the dinner to be strictly informal, business men simply dropping into the club for a 8 o'clock dinner which will be a very simple one dropping into the club for a 8 o'clock dinner, which will be a very simple one at a cost of $\mathbb{R}$ a plate. A free discussion of a subject to be selected will be expected and many having ideas of interest will be heard, and it is believed that a great amount of latent talent will be developed if the success of the dinner is such as to warrant a continuance of the idea in the shape of a regular monthly dinner. The continued success of the regular weekly lunch meeting of the board of governors, at which such a thing as a lack of quorum is unknown, presages success for the project. presages success for the project.

PLANS FOR SELLWOOD BANK.-D. M. Donaugh, president of the Sellwood Board of Trade, announces that there is no of Trade, announces that there is no doubt about the organization of the Sell-wood bank. Temporary quarters have been secured for the establishment in the cigar factory building, which will be occupied by the middle of January. Work on the brick bank building, on the southwest corner of Union avenue and East west corner of Union avenue and East Thirteenth street, will be started as soon as the plans now being prepared are as the plans now being prepared are completed. Present wooden structures on the ground will be moved. Peter Hume, of Brownsville, who made the proposition to the people to start the bank, will arrive shortly and effect the incorporation and organization of the bank company. J. M. Nickum, Theodore Nolf and other local capitalists are taking an interest in the bank project. There seems no doubt but the $10,000 of the $30,000 cantial stack it is premosed to issue will capital stock it is proposed to issue will be taken by residents.

ORATOR STEVENS SAVES DAT .- It was due to J. D. Stevens that the meeting of the Sellwood Library Association last Monday night was not a failure. The cars were not running to Sellwood becars were not running to Seliwood because of the strike, and Dr. Rader, who was scheduled to speak, could not fill his engagement. A crowd assembled in the Baptist Church to enjoy the entertainment Mr. Stevens, who is well known as a Shakespearean student and reader, was asked to fill in the vacancy by A. N. Wills, who was presiding. Without a moment of preparation Mr. Stevens mounted the platform and for more than an hour entertained the audience. He gave readings from Shakespeare, also comic and serious selections from German embezzler, the drug firm of Woodard. and serious selections from Gercomic and serious selections from Ger-man, French and Irish prose and poetry, and held the attention of the audience to the close of the entertainment. The audience was not disappointed, and Mr. Stevens, was heartly thanked for his

LIFE INSURANCE AGENTS INVITED TO EXPRESS THEIR OPINION

PECULIAR PENN MUTUAL CASE IN OREGON

A subscriber writes to us that while soliciting in Oregon he came upon a peculiar case in which the Fenn Mutual Life Insurance Company was interested. About four years ago Mr. Campbell, a soliciting agent for the Penn, secured the application for insurance on the life of a Mr. McLennon, of Antelope, Or. The applicant paid the agent $10 in cash and gave a note for the balance of the first year's premium. The company accepted the application and issued a policy and sent it to the general agents at Portland.

About the time the policy arrived, Mr. McLennon, the assured (who bad paid his premium and been accepted by the company), met with an accident. His horse ran away and ran him into a barbed wire fence. McLennon suffered h badly lacerated leg and bled to death. The agent of the Fenn Mutual, learning of the death of the insured, quickly returned the policy to the company, but did not return to the widew the money the applicant deposited with the application nor return the note which was given for the remainder of the first year's premium.

The widow will sue the Fenn Mutual Life

The widow will sue the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. We regard her cause as a just one. Technically, as it may turn out, the company may not be liable, but morally, it seems to us, it owes the widow the amount of the policy.—Coast Review, August, 1906.

Life insurance agents professing to be the friend of good practices and of honest general agents and solicitors are invited to express their opinion of the conduct of the Penn Mutual and its sgents as set forth in the above case. Address J 11, care Ore-
