TALKS ON SWEATSHOPS—According to Miss May Montgomery, president of the Portland branch of the National Consumers' League, the purchasing public is largely responsible for conditions that result in "sweatshops" and factories where practical slavery obtains. She is within the power of individuals, she declared at the meeting of the Probaal Society, held yesterday afternoon in St.
Helens hall, to control manufacturers in the introduction of better conditions into the lives of their workers by buying only goods bearing the Consumers' League label.

MACCABEES INSTALL OFFICERS—Portland Post No. 1, Knights of the Maccabees, held its annual installation of officers Thursday night at the hall of the Pythias Temple, Eleventh and Alder streets.

SCHOOL EXAMINER RESIGNS—Professor D. A. Grant yesterday resigned his position as a member of the County Board of School Examiners. He was succeeded by Superintendent Robinson.

DAMAGE SUITS NEAR END

TWO CASES GIVEN TO JURIES IN CIRCUIT COURT.

Sealed Verdict in J. W. Armstrong's Cause Against Lumber Company Will Be Opened This Morning.

Two juries in damage cases were sent out at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the State Circuit Court and sealed verdicts in both cases are looked for this morning.

In the suit of J. W. Dryden against the Portland Lumber Company, a sealed verdict was reached about 8 o'clock and will be delivered in Judge Cleland's division at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Dryden alleges damages amounting to $2000 on account of injuries received while working in a lumber camp maintained by the company.

The other case is that of L. C. Smith against the Portland Railway Company.
This was tried before Judge Gantenben, and up to a late hour no verdict had been reached. Smith, the guardian of his son, George L. Smith, asks for $2000 damages for injuries sustained by the boy in a street car accident last summer. The accident resulted in injuries to the boy's eye, and it is claimed that his eye has also been affected slightly since the mishap.

FINDS HUSBAND REPULSIVE

Italian Maiden Objects to a Marriage Without Love.

Claiming that her husband was repulsive to her and that she was fraudulently procured into a marriage with him, Mrs. Assunta Marasco, a young Italian woman, applied to Circuit Judge Sears yesterday for an order annulling the matrimonial contract. The young woman's story is an unusual one. She was induced by her brother to come to America from Italy. When she arrived several months ago her brother, she said, insisted that she marry his friend, Gaspare Marasco.

Her brother said she was contented in making the voyage around the Horn and landing at New York. Her brother, she said, and told her of the young fellow who was to marry her. Very shortly the room-to-be was brought around, whereupon the young immigrant experienced the shock of her life. The man was repulsive to her and she said so, but the brother kept up his pleading until the wedding ceremony. She felt an order annulling the marriage should be made.

Owing to a technical imperfection in the complaint it was handed back to the young woman's attorney to amend the matter in due season.

FILES NEW DIVORCE SUIT

Mrs. Gertrude Meyer Takes No Chance in Litigation.

In her anxiety to secure a divorce from Louis Richard Max Meyer, Mrs.
Gertrude Meyer has filed in the State Circuit Court two complaints asking divorce. The first was filed in September and was followed yesterday by a second.

In the first instance the divorce action was made the cause of action, and the husband's inhuman treatment is now pleaded.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer have been married twice. After their first marriage they separated, having at the time four children. A year ago they were re-married, thinking that experience would result in a more harmonious marriage in harmony. Mrs. Meyer sees out in her new complaint, however, that they were no sooner under the one roof than she was subjected to the same treatment as in her first marriage. She says, and his conduct has become such that she cannot live with him.

FALSE ARREST IS CHARGED

J. Q. Adams Asks $25,000 Damages

From J. W. Thompson.

J. W. Thompson, who has an office in the Columbia building, yesterday in the United States Circuit Court was made defendant in a $25,000 damage action brought by J. Q. Adams of the Omaha Hotel Supply Company.

Adams alleges that on May 28, 1906,

FUNERAL OF Mrs. W. L. MURRAY.—The funeral of Mrs. W. L. Murray, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital Thursday after a lingering illness, will be held this afternoon from Holman's chapel at Third and Salmon streets. After the ecclesiastical burial service has been conducted by Rev. M. L. Booser, of Piedmont Church, the Women of Woodcraft, Antra Circle, of which Mrs. Murray was an active member, will hold religious services. Mrs. Walter Reed and Miss Beulah Cadwell will be the soloists. Mrs.
Murray, who was well known in Portland, was the wife of W. L. Murray, the M. A. C. swimming instructor.

She leaves a large circle of friends to mourn her death and a family of five children. These are Robert H. G. Louie, J. Bruce, William L. Jr., and Hazel Hislop Murray. Friends are invited to attend the services at the chapel. The interment at Riverside will be private.

REWARD FOR MURDERERS.—The mystery surrounding the death of Dr. Philip Edwards Johnson, whose married body was found in the water beneath the foot-bridge last Monday night, remains as much of a puzzle to the authorities as on the night the corpse was discovered. It is estimated that the sum of $1000 would be paid for the arrest and conviction of the murderer, but as far as the police are concerned it would not stimulate them to make any further effort, were the amount $1000. This is explained by the fact that detectives of this city are not allowed to receive rewards for work done by active members of the force, and any such tenders earned by them go to the fund for sick and disabled members of the Police and Fire Departments.

Elks' Lodge rooms last night and enjoyed the best ladies' night musical programme of the season. The feature of the programme was the superb rendition of several vocal solos by Miss Kathleen Lawler. She captivated the large audience by her sweet and melodious voice and prolonged that she was compelled to respond to several encores. S.
J. Story was another bright star and his violin obligato was well received. The audience also took part. Several selections were given by the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company artists through a mammoth phonograph. Besides the singing and dancing there were cards and refreshments.

Mrs. H. T. ATKINSON DEAD.—A message was received by friends in this city last night announcing the death of Mrs. H. T.
Atkinson at Juneau, Alaska, on January 10. Mrs. Atkinson was the wife of Rev. Henry T. Atkinson, formerly pastor of the Fourth St. M. Church at this place. The funeral will be held in Juneau Sunday morning from the Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Read Asks New Trial.

Motion for a new trial was filed by J.
W. Reed, Mayor of Estacada, in the State Circuit Court, yesterday. Reed was convicted of fraud in the Sellwood election district. He now claims that the proceedings leading up to his conviction were irregular and that he was not given a fair trial.

Adams was arrested at Spokane and returned to Portland without extradition.
When the case came up for trial in the police court it was dismissed.

Adams alleges that newspaper accounts of his arrest, in addition to being printed in the Portland papers, were sent out over the country by telegraph. All this, he claims, greatly injured his standing before his fellow men. He also charges that his arrest was done by Thompson maliciously.
