DEATH OF A PIONEER WOMAN.—Mrs. Hannah L. Easterbrook, a pioneer of 1853, and widow of the late Captain George C. Easterbrook, died at the home of her son, George W. Easterbrook, 146 East Twenty-sixth street, February 5, after a lingering illness, aged 89 years and 9 months. She had been an invalid for the past six years. Mrs. Easterbrook came to Oregon by water, crossing the Isthmus of Panama in 1850, her husband, who had been a sea captain, having preceded her by four years. For a time he had charge of some lumbering interests in the Willamette Valley, but his love of the sea drew him to the coast, near Long Beach, where with his wife he acquired considerable land. There they lived together until the death of Captain Easterbrook 14 years ago. They became well known to those who spent their Summers at that resort. She is survived by an only son, George W. Easterbrook. The interment will take place in Ilwaco this afternoon, if the body can be taken there in time.

ADMEN'S LEAGUE MEETS.—At the meeting of the Portland Admen's League last night a most interesting and instructive paper on "Advertising From a Jeweler's Standpoint" was read by E. J. Jaeger. A report of the Spokane convention was made and plans for the annual admen's banquet were discussed. The committee in charge of the banquet promise the most unique evening ever given in Portland. Already over 100 plates have been spoken for and from present indications the members of the local league will be compelled to cut down their number of guests considerably. At the next meeting of the league an address will be delivered by W. Cooper Morris, cashier of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank, on "Portland as Compared With Other Pacific Coast Cities." Mr. Morris has just returned from an extensive trip and his address will be full of interest.

PHYSICIANS MEET.—The County and City Medical Society, which held its regular meeting in the Chamber of Commerce last night, was addressed by Dr. E. N. Hutchinson on "Bacteria of Diseases of Cattle Which Are of Importance to Man." Dr. Hutchinson was peculiarly well fitted to speak on this subject, being in the service of the Government in its veterinarian department in connection with the Department of Agriculture. Among those diseases mentioned as transferrable to man were lumpy jaw, anthrax, actino mycosis and others. Tuberculosis in the bovine has been proven to be nontransferrable. Dr. Hutchinson's paper was thoroughly interesting from every standpoint and called out much practical discussion.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.—Sunday, February 10, will mark the second anniversary of the founding of the Piedmont Presbyterian Church and services appropriate to the occasion will be held. A special feature of the day will be a platform meeting in the evening conducted by the men of the congregation. Addresses will be made by K. K. Baxter, Otto Dekum, Charles Vesper and W. O. Ashby. C. E. Mack will preside. The orchestra under the direction of S. E. Burns will furnish music. The Piedmont Church is one of the most aggressive of the suburban churches of the city and has enjoyed uninterrupted prosperity under the pastorate of Rev. L. M. Boozer.

COFFMAN-BENHAM NUPTIALS.—Miss Pauline Benham, daughter of Mrs. H. C. Hutchinson, and Dr. W. R. Coffman were married last night at the residence of the bride's mother, 737 East Madison street. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. After the ceremony a reception to friends was held. 500 invitations having been issued and nearly all accepted. Miss Benham is a graduate nurse of the Good Samaritan Hospital and popular among her friends. Dr. Coffman is a well-known Portland physician. Immediately after the ceremony the young people left for a brief honeymoon trip. They will reside in this city.

W. C. T. U. MEETS.—Mrs. S. Alice Hanson, county W. C. T. U. president, was present at the Wednesday afternoon Central Union meeting, conducting the opening devotional exercises and also giving a very interesting and timely talk on department work. A number of visitors were present from other unions, in addition to local members, and much interest was manifested. Mrs. Adah Unruh, Mrs. H. J. Shane and others made remarks. At the conclusion light refreshments were served and a delightful social hour spent.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.—The following new officers of Blackmar Circle, No. 20, Ladies of the G. A. R., at Sellwood, have been installed: President, Mrs. Julia Updycke; senior vice-president, Mrs. Mary Jackson; secretary, Miss Pearl Stacy; treasurer, Mrs. Louise Wills; chaplain, Mrs. Lenora Chapman; conductor, Miss A. R. Burnside; guard, Mrs. Olive Beach; assistant conductor, Mrs. Jennie Bauer; assistant guard, Mrs. Alice Owens; delegates to convention, Mrs. Hoard and Mrs. Stacy.

MISSING CHINESE DEAD.—It was learned by the police yesterday that Charles Cummings, whose Chinese name was Cum Sing, died two weeks ago at a Chinese hospital on Second street of consumption. He was reported as missing a week ago and foul play was feared for a time. His friends did not know of his death then. He was formerly interpreter in the Municipal Court.

O'Connor; treasurer, A. E. Davis; standing committee, Mrs. N. J. Duncan, Miss L. A. Averill and Miss Nellie Gibson. Rev. James W. Corby, of Rochester, N. Y., the new pastor, has arrived.

BODY NOT IDENTIFIED.—All efforts to identify the body of a man found in an Italian vegetable garden at Farrell's Crossing on the Woodlawn division of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company Tuesday morning have proved unavailing, and the remains are still at Finley's undertaking establishment. The unknown is supposed to have fought his way through a barbed-wire fence while insane Monday night and to have died from exposure in the open field, where he fell from exhaustion in the snow.

THIEF LOSES NERVE.—A thief who had stolen four ivory pool balls, a silver cup and saucer and a silver napkin-ring lost his nerve when he spread the plunder out on the bar at the Keystone Saloon, Fourth and Flanders streets, and offered it for sale late yesterday afternoon. He turned on his heels and fled. Word of the matter was telephoned to police headquarters and Detective Sergeant Baty hurried to the place, but the man had escaped. The property is held by the police.

CIGAR GAMES UNDER BAN.—The official ban of the police was placed on the game known as the American Handicap, in use at cigar stores since the slot machines were ordered removed. Acting Chief Gritzmacher issued an order to the Captains yesterday instructing that all of the devices be removed "forthwith" or complaints will be laid in the Municipal Court. The police will permit no sort of gambling in establishments.

WILL DISCUSS FAIR PROJECT.—The live-stock show committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet this afternoon to talk over the question of holding a live-stock exhibition in Portland next Fall. The committee will probably come to the conclusion that it is advisable to hold such a show. The committee is composed of C. E. Ladd, Richard Scott, W. P. Olds, H. C. Campbell and M. D. Wisdom.

JUDGE CAMERON TO GIVE ADDRESS.—Judge Cameron addresses the educational department of the Woman's Club on "Public Playgrounds" this afternoon at the home of Mrs. O. P. M. Jamison, 575 Main street. The department extends an invitation to all parties interested in the movement to attend.

THE OREGONIAN'S NEW MAP AND ATLAS INDISPENSABLE.

Information and Data of the Greatest Value in Home and School Included in the Latest Edition.

More than 20,000 copies of the first edition of The Oregonian's Wall Chart can be found in the homes of the people of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California. It is conceded by educators everywhere to be replete with information that is invaluable to those seeking knowledge and a great aid to school children in their studies. The chart was so highly appreciated by the people and was such a success as a premium that The Oregonian at great expense has had new maps of Oregon, Washington and Idaho made, showing all of the projected railroads as well as those now in operation. These new maps show all of the changes in county boundaries up to September 1, 1906. The maps were made by the best geographers in the country and are positively the latest and most correct maps of the states mentioned in existence.

The new edition of The Oregonian's valuable World Chart and Atlas contains all the information of the first edition and has several new features of great value, especially to residents of Oregon, the most notable being a map of Multnomah, Washington and Clackamas Counties and a portion of Clark County, Washington, showing Vancouver. This map shows the bridges being constructed by the Northern Pacific Railroad Company across the Columbia and Willamette Rivers, the course of the Northern Pacific Railroad across the Peninsula, as well as the electric roads now being operated in and around Portland, with the distances between towns and stations. This map was arranged in the circulation department of The Oregonian and can't be found anywhere else than in The Oregonian's great World Chart. Other new and valuable features include life-like pictures of all the Governors of Oregon, their politics, dates of election and the time they occupied Gubernatorial chairs; life-like pictures of all the Presidents of the United States from Washington down to and including the present incumbent, Theodore Roosevelt, with date of their of their election and terms served; a fine picture of Oregon's Capitol building and the costly structure of The Oregonian building adorn the front sheet of the Chart. Comprehensive maps of our new possessions, the Philippines, Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands; a map of the Republic of Panama, showing the canal zone with scale of the excavation that must be accomplished before the two mighty oceans are connected. Another feature of interest is the life-like pictures of the living rulers of all the countries of the world, the coats of arms and flags of all nations.

The war between Russia and Japan with its horrors and terrible carnage is still a theme for discussion in public gatherings, in the home and on the street. The Oregonian's great World Chart contains a full and comprehensive map of land and water that were the theater of action during the terrible months in which human beings were pitted against each other until the mountains and seas were red with blood. This valuable map carries with it a succinct history of the war, the events that led up to it, the number of men engaged on both sides, the fatalities, the capture of prisoners and munitions of war, the peace terms and the lessons taught by the terrible conflict.

A facsimile of the Declaration of Independence is also a new feature and one that will be appreciated by everyone who loves country, home and liberty. A map of the Philippines, Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Republic of Panama all carry notes of absolutely correct data concerning the territory. A full map of the United States and a chart of the world hold places in this combination of chart and atlas. The whole is grouped upon four large sheets and bound to hang on the wall. The retail price of this encyclopedia and geography is $2.50. You can secure one by subscribing for The Oregonian for six months and paying 30 cents additional to cover express charges from the publishing-house.

THEATER PARTY FOR BOYS

Managers Seaman and Gould to Entertain Newsboys at Empire.

Every newsboy in Portland has been given an invitation to go to the Empire Theater tonight and see a play written around the life of a member of their craft, though a girl instead of a boy. This is "Nettie the Newsgirl," and the boys may get some pointers from this bright and clever girl who sells the big dailies in the City of New York. The invitation has been extended to the boys from Manager Gould of the company and Milton Seaman, manager of the Empire Theater, and a rare good time is promised every one of them who attends tonight.

WILL DO ITS DUTY

Anti-Saloon League Asks Fair Measure of Forbearance.

AFFAIRS TO BE SET RIGHT

President of League Makes Statement — Superintendent Rader's Term Has Expired—No Successor Yet Elected.

PORTLAND, Feb. 6.—(To the Editor.)—The editorial in this morning's Oregonian on the Anti-Saloon League is timely. Though it seems to press hardly upon the management of the league, the principles it sets forth as those which should govern the management of religious and philanthropic institutions are sound. The present writer would not admit that The Oregonian is before him in the recognition of these as the only sound governing principles for such institutions, and I am persuaded that the body of trustees of the Oregon Anti-Saloon League share this opinion.

The Oregonian has given, it seems to me, a reasonable explanation of the seeming intolerance upon the part of some of anything that has the appearance of an exposure of an officer of the league. This indisposition upon the part of some, at the first presentation of allegations affecting the management and the moral character of a trusted official, is not to be taken as indicating that such persons will close their eyes to final and complete proof. It is an indication, however, of a disposition to challenge to the utmost allegations affecting the character of those whom they have long come to trust until established by the clearest proof.

In this they may not always act wisely, but they certainly act quite as near the line of justice and strict integrity as those that are overhasty in either making or accepting as true damaging charges.

But to come to some important facts which affect the present case. It is not true, as has been strongly implied, if not positively asserted in the columns of the press, that either the board of trustees or the headquarters committee, the executive committee of the board, has by official action indorsed or exonerated or expressed confidence in the superintendent, Mr. Rader, under the present accusations. Individuals, including some officers, have expressed their personal feeling of confidence, as they had a right to do; but, so far as any expression of judgment either as to financial management or as to moral character, the attitude of the league is that of suspended judgment pending the final issue of investigation.

Personally, I may say that I knew nothing of any allegations affecting the character of Mr. Rader prior to Saturday evening, January 25, when they were conveyed to me by Dr. Clarence True Wilson in support of a petition for a call signed by him and others and addressed to me as president of the league. Whether my colleagues knew of them I cannot say, but such were never discussed prior to that time in any official board meeting, or in private conversation in my presence. We did know of the financial affairs of the league being in such a case as to call for our immediate, careful attention. Shortly after the coming into office of the new executive board, on November 1, we addressed ourselves to the matter of investigating the financial affairs of the league, with a view to meeting as early as possible all outstanding bills and providing for the ultimate liquidation of the notes. We had gone so far as to appoint two of our number as an auditing committee, choosing for this two of the most competent men in the league. We had already appointed an extra monthly meeting of the entire committee for the purpose of following up these investigations with persistence and thus giving much additional time to the interests of the league. It was with no little surprise that, while in the midst of these efforts to right a condition of affairs which we found on taking up our office at the beginning of a new fiscal year, in addition to the burden of financial entanglements left as a legacy from the preceding administration, there was thrown upon us, as from a clear sky, the storm of moral assault upon the character of our superintendent. All that Dr. Wilson has had to say regarding the financial condition of the affairs and the character of Mr. Rader has had with us all the more weight because the occurrences in both respects were under his own administration, and, as he himself declares, long ago came under his cognizance. Dr. Wilson told the writer that he was cognizant of the substance of all he has said early last Summer, and the wonder to me is how he could have consented for six months to stand at the head of the league and not have exerted himself actively to have the wrong righted.

In view of these facts it is but a claim for common justice for an administration with this burden thrown upon it at its inception to ask of the community a fair measure of forbearance until it have time to do the work of remedy thoroughly and with justice to all concerned. I believe that I am warranted in pledging to this community and to the State of Oregon, who have stood by the Anti-Saloon League in the past, that the present administration in the executive board will do its whole duty so far as it is able to see it and has the power to perform it.

By the terms of the constitution, Mr. Rader's term as superintendent expired at the same time as did Dr. Wilson's term as president. A successor was not at that time elected, and the question of a successor is now pending as unfinished business on the docket of the league.

J. R. WILSON.

EAST SIDE THEATER A GO

COMPANY IS INCORPORATED TO BUILD PLAYHOUSE.

General Committee of East Side Push Clubs Arranges to Sell $60,000 Stock.

Articles incorporating the East Theater Company were submitted and adopted at a meeting of the general committee held last night at the East Side Club rooms in the Sargent Hotel on Grand avenue. The capital stock was fixed at $60,000 and the par value of a share was set at $10.

Presidents of the several push clubs were incorporators. They are: Chauncey O. Ball, Center Addition Progressive League; C. Ben Riesland, Woodstock Push Club; H. B. Dickinson, Montavilla Improvement League; Charles Hyle, Montavilla Board of Trade; D. M. Donough, Sellwood Board of Trade; J. T. Gregg, Woodlawn Improvement Association; H. A. Calef, East Side Business Men's Club; W. L. Boise, East Side Improvement Association; G. Everet Baker, Mount Tabor Improvement Association. Most of the incorporators were present, but those who were not will sign up today.

Tentative plans for the proposed theater building were submitted by Architect Otto Kleeman. They were satisfactory. It is expected that the building will cost all the way from $60,000 to $70,000. With the cost of the equipment and furniture, supplied by Manager Corday, the total cost of the theater will not be less than $100,000. It is proposed that the opera-house will be so constructed that it can be emptied within three minutes. It will rank as one of the finest in the Pacific Northwest.

Blank subscription papers for the purchase of the stock of the company were distributed. Mr. Boise and Mr. Cordray explained that it was hoped that many small blocks of stock would be sold, so that the people of the East Side would have a personal interest in the enterprise. It was explained emphatically that a subscription was in no sense a donation, but that every dollar of subscription would bear 6 per cent interest.

Addresses were made by Mr. Dickinson, Mr. Riesland, William Deveny and others from suburbs, who pledged their support of the enterprise. W. L. Boise, H. H. Newhall and T. Hislop made talks in which they declared there could be no such thing as a failure, but that the money would certainly be raised in a very short time. Mr. Boise mentioned several large subscriptions that were ready. An enthusiastic and optimistic spirit pervaded the meeting.

SOCIETY CIRCUS ASSURED

WILL BE HELD AT THE ARMORY SHORTLY AFTER LENT.

Nearly 1500 Members of M. A. A. C. and Third Regiment, O. N. G., Will Participate in Show.

Preliminary plans have been made for the society circus to be given after Lent in April by the Multnomah Club and the Third Regiment, Oregon National Guard. Nearly 1500 persons will participate in the mammoth production which will be presented in the Armory drill hall and the talent will be exclusively local. It will show three nights in succession.

Heralded as "The Greatest Show on Earth," it promises to be almost as good as the average circus and to Portland people it will be a thousand times more enjoyable, owing to the fact that everyone who is slated to take part in it is well known. The enthusiasm and interest already taken in the society circus spells for it success in great big letters.

The plan is to fashion the production after the stereotyped circus performance of the day and there will be no details lacking. In addition arrangements are being made for a great extravaganza and chorus.

The performance will consist of all forms of acrobatic and aerial feats, bareback and fancy riding, hipprodrome racing and dancing by a French ballet. One member of the Multnomah Club has already expressed his willingness to make a high dive from the top of the roof of the Armory into a four foot tank and there will be several "leaps for life."

It is asserted that there are almost as many acrobats in the Multnomah Club and among the members of the Third Regiment as are to be found in a traveling circus. All of them are amateurs, but many of them are daring and skillful enough to become professionals if they were so inclined. They will perform all the hair-raising aerial feats, such as jumping from swinging bars and catching each other, performing on the rings and walking the tight ropes.

The bare-back and fancy riding will be another great feature. The members of the Portland Hunt Club will take part, many of whom are splendid riders and who are able to do fancy stunts. The races will be equally important.

The French ballet promises to be one of the big hits. Several dozen of the most prominent young men in Portland will execute the fancy stunts. There will be 30 clowns and burlesque stunts galore.

Of course there will be a menagerie, a side-show and a concert. Unlike Barnum & Bailey, the society circus will have a street parade and it will be as complete and as good as the circus itself.

In 1894 the members of the Third Regiment gave a circus which was a great success in every respect and was the talk of the town. But the affair in April will be on a much larger scale. There are available at the Multnomah Club 600 young men of its members, and the 800 or more soldiers of the Third Regiment will take part.

The committee on arrangements consists of Colonel C. E. McDonell, Major T. N. Dunbar and Major Frank Baker, of the Third Regiment, and Chester C. Murphy, George W. McMillan and Morris Dunne of the Multnomah Club.
