Delay in Getting Bill From Printer Causes Change in Programme, but House Intends Senate Shall Come to Its Terms.

OLYMPIA, Wash, March 11.-(Special.) OLYMPIA. Wash. March II.—(Special.)

The House cambins appropriation bill passed the House this afternoon with but one negative vote, that of L.M. Stevens. It carries a gross appropriation of $1,000. During consideration of the bill in the House reductions of $200 and additions of $60,000 were made, chiefly by the appropriations committee. The gross figures given are those as the bill passed, and the measure is far and away the largest appropriation bill ever passed by any branch of the Washington Legislaany branch of the Washington Legisla

GIVES BACK HIS SALARY

EX-RAILROAD COMMISSIONER RETURNS $2000.

McMillin Complies With Request of Washington Legislature for Pay He Did Not Earn.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March II.-Ex-Raiload Commissioner John S. McMillin, of by the joint legislative committee on railroads, has returned to the state the $2000 the Legislature said he did not earn last year when he was giving all his time to the defense of a suit against the majority of stockholders in a private enter-prise at Roche Harbor, San Juan County. McMillin's remittance was received. State Auditor C. W. Claussen today.

The ex-commissioner states that he believes he has rendered efficient services to the state while a member of the Kall-road Cammission, but admits private mat-ters occupied much of his attention the latter part of last year, and says since he members of the Legislature feel that the should return his salary for the months since July, he does so herewith Also, he turns in $5 worth of mileage that he was allowed by the state and did not use. Mr. McMillin sends a warrant issued to him for his December salary, $32.23, and his personal check to make the $2000.

As soon as the Legislature convened.

As soon as the Legislature convened, Paulhamus, at that time in personal control of the Senate, went after McMillin as the head of the railroad committee, and after thoroughly probing the office of the Commission, forced McMillin to resign and agree to turn back his salary. This was in January. McMillin was slow in coming through, and a letter was sent him first by Paulhamus and then by Paulmus and Dickson, chairman House railroad committee. The remit tance is the result.
