

TALKING MATCH WITH A WITNESS

Jerome's Wordy Encounter With Jelliffe Prolongs the Trial.

THAW EVIDENCE NEARS END

Orations Will Occupy Two Days and Verdict May Be Reached Saturday—Contest About Admitting Some of Thaw's Letters.

THAW AIDS FLOOD-SUFFERERS. PITTSBURGH, March 19.—Mayor George W. Guthrie received a letter from Harry K. Thaw today in which a check for $100 was enclosed to aid persons suffering from the flood of last week.

NEW YORK, March 19.—By prolonging his cross-examination of one of the seven alienists, introduced by the defense to testify that Harry Thaw was insane when he shot and killed Stanford White, District Attorney Jerome made it impossible for the defense finally to close its case today. When adjournment until tomorrow was taken, there was pending only the question of the admission of a letter written by Thaw to J. Dennison Lyon, a Pittsburg banker, which Mr. Delmas said would help to fix the young man's state of mind before the roof-garden tragedy and the likelihood that Evelyn Nesbit-Thaw will be called tomorrow briefly to contradict the testimony of Abraham Hummel.

EXPERT FENCES WITH JEROME

Prosecutor Finds Dr. Jelliffe His Equal in Talking Match.

NEW YORK, March 19.—District Attorney Jerome this morning continued his cross-examination of Dr. Sigmund Eliz Jelliffe, one of the alienists for the defense who was upon the stand yesterday afternoon when the jury was sworn. "In your anatomical dissection of the question, doctor," began Mr. Jerome, "did you interpret the question in the light of facts which are outside the question?" "Why, in a way, certainly," answered Dr. Jelliffe. "My knowledge of the alphabet allowed me to read the question, but there is nothing about that in the question."

Question of Definition.

When Mr. Jerome came to the section relating to dementia, paranoia and other diseases, he became insistent. "Now, doctor, does that classification as to paranoia, etc., contain the disease from which Thaw was suffering?" asked Mr. Jerome. "I have already said he was suffering from some sort of insanity. It could have been any one of a number of forms. It is impossible to say which."

Colony Plans to Keep Up Its Organization at Englewood.

NEW YORK, March 19.—At a meeting yesterday of about 40 members of Epton Sinclair's cooperative colony near Englewood, N. J., it was decided not to disband notwithstanding the destruction of the colony's home, Helicon Hall, by fire recently. The assembly met in the barn of the colony.

Brownsville Witnesses Delayed.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—None of Senator Foraker's expected witnesses had arrived when the Senate committee on military affairs met today, and an adjournment of the Brownsville investigation was taken until tomorrow.

similar to the one under discussion, and while I am answering, I don't want to be met with your sophistry," said the doctor.

"You won't," said Mr. Jerome; "but I want to tell you that this is going to develop into a talking match, I can do so far as you can." The witness said in almost every case of paranoia there are delusions. "Were there any in the case of Thaw?"

"What delusions?" "Delusions of persecution."

"In the will in which he leaves a large sum of money for the prosecution of anyone who might cause his death. Then there is the fact that he carried a revolver."

"The insane period prior to the tragedy," Dr. Jelliffe said, "was about two and a half years. He thought that Thaw was insane when he wrote the letters which are in evidence, when he made the will and codicil, and when he married Evelyn Nesbit."

This concluded Mr. Jerome's examination of Dr. Jelliffe. "The witness was not permitted to say why he had not examined the defendant, when questioned by Mr. Delmas. Just as the luncheon recess was ordered Mr. Delmas announced that his re-direct examination of the witness was concluded."

This afternoon Mr. Delmas called Dr. G. W. Pilgrim, president of the State Lunacy Commission. Dr. Pilgrim said he had studied carefully Mr. Jerome's hypothetical question and he did not believe that Thaw knew the act was wrong when he killed White.

When Thaw roamed about the roof-garden, the witness said, he had an insane knowledge of what he was doing, and he probably realized when he pulled the trigger of his revolver that it would inflict the damage it did, but his mind was so overpowered that he was unable to appreciate the nature or quality of his act.

More Experts for Thaw. Dr. Mines Gregory, of Bellevue Hospital, was then called. He said that Thaw did not realize the nature or quality of his act or that the act was wrong when he committed the homicide.

When Mr. Jerome took up the cross-examination, he repeated the details of Thaw's action immediately preceding the shooting, as well as of the testimony of the alienists. The questions were as to the difference between sane and insane persons.

"I think he had insane knowledge," was Dr. Gregory's reply to each of the questions. When Dr. Gregory was excused, Mr. Delmas recalled Dr. Wagner, who had already testified for the defense that Thaw was insane when he shot White. Answering the hypothetical question, he said in his opinion Thaw's reason was such that he did not know the nature or quality of his act, or that the act was wrong.

Mr. Jerome cross-examined Dr. Wagner briefly. The latter declared that the knowledge displayed by Thaw at the time of the tragedy was the knowledge of an insane man. Dr. Wagner was excused and Dr. Britton Evans recalled to answer the hypothetical question as framed by Mr. Jerome. Using this question as a basis, Dr. Evans declared that Thaw when he killed White did not know the nature or quality of his act. Every move Thaw made the night he killed White was taken up by Mr. Jerome and in each case Dr. Evans replied that he had an insane realization of what he was doing.

It was expected that Dr. Evans would be the last witness of the day. Mr. Delmas asked for the reading of the letters of the United National Bank president of the United National Bank, which were introduced in evidence or referred to in any way. Mr. Jerome said some of the letters were in his office, where they had been copied. He offered the letters would not be used and neglected to return them to the court.

After they were sent for, Mr. Delmas spent some time in reading one. One length found. Thaw leaned over the reporter's table and whispered: "That letter is important. It has something in it about a friend of Jerome's."

Mr. Delmas offered the letter in evidence, but Mr. Jerome immediately objected. He said the letter should have been offered as a part of the case for the defense on direct evidence. He said he had no objection to the contents of the letter whatever. He added:

In order, however, that I may not appear to be excluding anything which might help the jury to arrive at a just conclusion, I am willing that all the letters go in, the evidence without being read, the stipulation being that either counsel shall have the right to refer to such parts of the letters as they desire in summing up. In his offer, Mr. Jerome said he had no objection to the letters being introduced, on the ground that it is reopening the entire case.

Mr. Delmas repeated the offer of the one letter as a matter of "right and justice." The letter, he declared, would help to show the condition of Thaw's mind prior to June 25 last. Mr. Delmas said the case was nearing its close. He had hoped to close the taking of testimony, but Mr. Jerome's examination of one of the alienists had upset his plans. He went on:

However, we hope to close early tomorrow. It is too late in the case to have an adjournment in evidence and be subjected for argument. The task of reading over 4000 pages of testimony already imposed upon counsel before summing up is a heavy one and I am unwilling to undertake more.

Adjournment for the day was taken with the matter of the introduction of the letter pending. Daniel O'Connell, counsel for the defense, stated after adjournment that Evelyn Thaw might be the final witness tomorrow.

AMERICANS IN PERIL

Nicaraguans Threaten to Loot Captured Cities.

INCENTIVE TO SOLDIERS

Proclamation of Zelaya Spurs Them to Revenge and Vows Destruction of Salvador and Honduras as Nations.

PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, March 14, via New Orleans, March 19.—A turn of sinister significance was given to the Central American war today by the finding on the persons of captured Nicaraguan soldiers proclamations promising them loot of the first cities which they can capture in both Honduras and Salvador.

Americans in Puerto Cortez are anxious, because American residents are the principal property-holders of most of the Honduran cities. Any doubt as to the completeness of such a loot is dispelled not only by the wording of the proclamation, but by the experience had in 1894 by some of the persons now living at Puerto Cortez, who were present at the looting of Choluteca, Honduras.

Nicaraguan soldiers, aided by about 200 of their women, pillaged every house but one in the town. The worst feature of the looting of Choluteca, which the proclamation recalls, was the indignities offered both to the women and to helpless persons.

SALVADOR GOES TO RESCUE

Sends a Well Disciplined Army to Help Bonilla. PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, March 14.—(Via New Orleans, March 19.)—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—All doubt was removed as to the attitude of Salvador in the war between Honduras and Nicaragua, March 8, because of the landing of a considerable force from Salvador near San Lorenzo, upon the coast of Honduras, within a few hours' march of the old historical city of Choluteca, where President Bonilla, of Honduras, had established headquarters and has organized his forces. The force was
