of the most serious omissions bids fair to block construction this year of the large number of new buildings planned for educational and other institutions. This was due to the fact that no emergency clause was added to the bill giving the Board of Control custody and control of the State Capitol and otherwise adding to the powers of this board, coupled with the fact that are amendment. coupled with the fact that an amendment was made to the general appropriations bill providing that all expenditures for new buildings, penal, educational or charitable, be under the direction of this charitable, be under the direction of this board. This appropriation bill is effective April 1 and the moneys are available for use that day, but the other bill giving the board powers will not take effect for 50 days from the close of the session. Had this latter bill carried an emergency the board might right now be in consultation with the university and state college regents and trustees of the normals, so that early next month plans for the new that early next month plans for the new building would be under way, and con-tracts would be awarded early and con-struction be under way this Summer. As it is, 90 days will be lost and before construction will be well started Winter will be at hand to block progress.

Another break made by the legislators nivides responsibility for maintenance of the Capitol. For '90 days Secretary of State Sam H. Nichols will be in control. Thereafter the Board of Control will take charge. Sam Nichols will not surrender one bit of authority until he has to do so, and in consequence the other new law requiring the board to make a number of extensive mprovements to the Statehouse will have to be inoperative until mid-Summer, when the board will have full charge and can go ahead with its will be at hand to block progress. full charge and can go ahead with its Pacific University Says Property Forfeited.

LIQUOR SOLD ON PREMISES

Land Was Originally Owned by University and Early Deed Restricted Sale of Liquors-Defense Is Statute of Limitations.

HILLSBORO, Or., March 19 .- (Special. The clebrated reversion of land cases, suits brought by Pacific University, opened in Circuit Court here this morning. The first case at bar, and which is now on trial, is that of the college against Mary R. Miller and husband, Charles F.

Miller.

Pacific University first deeded block 2, in Forest Grove. In 1857, and the particular piece of property now being sought has changed hands many times. In the first, and several of the deeds following, there was a clause restricting the sale or gift of liquors as a beverage. In some of the later deeds, bringing the chain of title down to the Millers, the restrictive clause. down to the Millers, the restrictive clause down to the Millers, the restrictive clause was not in the instruments.

The University, upon the ground that liquor has been sold on the place, asks that the court give them possession under the rights of the restrictive sentence. The defense is making a fight on the grounds that the University has for 17 years had knowledge that the restriction has been violated, and that by not acting upon their alleged rights the school organization has lost its privilege by the statute of limitations.

ganization has lost its privilege by the signite of limitations.

Milion W. Smith is counsel for Pacific University, assisted by Attorney Latour-ette, of Portland, and Bagley & Hare, local attorneys. S. B. Huston, of Portland, and E. B. Tongue, of this city are attorneys for the Millers.

The case is exciting considerable interest here because of the long drawn and many attemps of Pacific University to stop the sale of liquous in Forest Grove, and for the reason that the property involved is now very valuable. The block in which the property is located was originally sold for $30, and Miller, it is stated, paid $300. There are several more cases of the same type, the decisions of which will largely depend upon the out-
