

PUTER'S STORY OF BUYING OFFICIALS

King of Land Thieves Gives Graphic Recital in Trial of Hermann.

HOW HE WORKED MITCHELL

Long Flirtation With Two $1000 Bills End in Acceptance and Patents Follow—Tarpley Tells of Hold-Up by Senator Mays.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, March 20.—Oregon convicts occupied the limelight in the trial of Binger Hermann today, while men under indictment played minor roles. S. A. D. Puter, the government's heavy-weight witness, was put on the stand this afternoon and began the narration of his relations with Hermann in connection with land operations that have subsequently turned out to be fraudulent. His story was not nearly concluded when court adjourned. He will conclude tomorrow. Puter was preceded by Daniel W. Tarpley, who told in considerable detail the manner in which he, Horace G. McKinley and F. P. Mays attempted to "get rich quick" through the absorption of land in the Blue Mountain forest reserve.

The stories told by Puter and Tarpley did not throw any new light on either the Blue Mountain or the 11-7 land-fraud cases, which were thrashed out in Portland. But the stories of both men were retold today to show their relations with Hermann and to aid the government in its efforts to show Hermann's motive for destroying the fatal letter-press copy-books. Before leaving the stand Tarpley admitted that after his arrival in Washington he was visited by Hermann's attorney-in-law and associate counsel, H. P. Gately, and questioned as to whether he had ever received letters from Hermann. This is the third or fourth government witness so approached by Mr. Gately.

Puter's Story of His Deal. Puter, who gave his address as Multnomah County, Oregon, and with startling directness the full details of the difficulties and cost which had attended his efforts to obtain patents to 12 homesteads, now known as "seven-sevens" frauds in Oregon. He said he first "rounded up" ten people and made an agreement to pay them $150 each to make entries to the patents like himself, and to deeds to them. He then saw Dr. Loomis, of the General Land Office, gave him $300 to make a favorable report on the claims and promised him a like amount when the patents should be issued. He also endeavored to "fix things" with Ormsby, the State Forester, by giving Ormsby's son $500.

After the Loomis report reached Washington, Puter learned that something was wrong, and decided to come at once. Before leaving Oregon he got a letter of introduction to Senator Mitchell from T. P. Mays, of Portland. Puter said he knew Mitchell, but asked Mays to write a "strong" letter and indicate to the Senator that Puter was a man who had "fixed things up." He presented the letter to the Senator on his arrival and also called on Hermann. The latter told him that his matters were being handled into and indicated that things might be going along all right.

Mrs. Watson on Mitchell's Trail. Mitchell visited Hermann and after several consultations it was decided additional affidavits were necessary. It was regarded as necessary to send for Mrs. Watson, who had been in the States. On her arrival, Puter said, he took her at once to Mitchell and affidavits were drawn up. Continuing, Puter said that the next morning Mitchell took Mrs. Watson and Puter to see Hermann, and at this meeting the Senator told the Commissioner about the affidavits and said as soon as they were ready they would be furnished. This formality, he said, was attended to at the Senate, and Mitchell advised Mrs. Watson to call frequently on Hermann.

"You will find a very agreeable old man," he said, "and it will not do you any harm to call frequently." Mrs. Watson called on Hermann several times in the next three days, Puter stating that during these visits he was outside. It was about four days after the affidavits had been furnished that he called on Hermann and said he was surprised at being told that his claims all needed more proof. Hermann advised him to go back to Oregon and get his proof.

Those Two $1000 Bills. Puter testified that he at once called on Mitchell, who also advised the same way. Puter said he told both Mitchell and Hermann that it was useless to do this, that the people who had made the entries were scattered. Besides, he said further, if he did get them together, they would hold him up for more than he had first said. He talked the matter over with Mitchell for two hours, and the result of which Mitchell went to see Hermann that day.

That night he called on Mitchell and had another conference, he said, and he took out two $1000 bills and laid them on the table in front of Mitchell, saying that this amount represented all that he (Puter) could spend on the claims and get out whole if he got patents. He testified that he told Mitchell to take the money and get the patents. He said Mitchell took one of the bills and tossed it over to Puter, saying that Puter could not afford to spend so much. Puter said he tossed the bill back and it passed several times in this way. Finally, Puter testified, Mitchell took both bills and kept them and said he would see what could be done.

Hermann Issues Patents. Mitchell called on Hermann that day and then advised Puter to call on him. This, Puter said, he did, and Hermann told him that he thought things could be arranged so that the patents would issue. He said he had the matter up personally. The witness testified that Mitchell saw Hermann again the next day, and later that day Puter met Hermann. Hermann next shook hands with him, he said, stated he had seen Mitchell many nights about the city.

A day or so later, Puter said, he called at Hermann's office and was taken to the basement of the General Land Office, where his patents were being made out. He said he took the trip for the West at once, upon reaching Portland, after stopping for a short time at his home in Berkeley, Cal., found the patents waiting for him. His total expense, Puter said, had been $7,000 or $8,000. At this point in the story court adjourned for the day.

Puter claims, he fell from his horse and was injured. He did not go to the Puter claims and, when asked if he was not going, the witness testified that Loomis said: "I am a special agent of the Land Office; mum's the word."

Held Up by Mays.

Tarpley, who has been convicted of land frauds in Oregon, gave the details of acquiring with Horace McKinley about 17,000 acres of school land in what was later the Blue Mountain forest reserve. F. P. Mays of Portland, he said, had demanded part of this land, he said he offered to relinquish the land to the value of $5000, but Mays wanted more, saying that the amount named would not go anything like far enough in Washington. He testified that Mays threatened to have his lands "checker-boarded," if he did not give up more money or land.

Witness said he had been called on when he reached Washington February 25 by H. P. Gately, one of Hermann's counsel, and asked if he had any letters from Hermann. He had none.

Loomis' Effort at Immunity.

Mr. Worthington continued his effort for the defense to ascertain whether Dr. Clarke Loomis, of Oregon, was influenced in the testimony he gave yesterday for the government by promises of immunity or believed that he would receive immunity from the charges now pending against him. The witness said he had never had a promise of immunity, "but I am satisfied I could obtain immunity," he said. He was allowed to give the details of his negotiations with Loomis after the latter's conviction for land frauds in Oregon. During a single day Puter went six or seven times between the witness and Loomis, who was then the Attorney General, and Secret Service Agent Burns, in Portland, Loomis said, to arrange for his immunity. The effort was made for the Government because Mr. Heney wanted Loomis to state to Puter what he knew before he would let Loomis come before him. Loomis said the gist of the matter was that he repeated over and over again to Puter that he did not know he knew anything that the attorneys wanted, but was very anxious to make any arrangement possible for immunity. He said he did not know that Puter conferred with the Government attorneys, but certainly believed that he had.

Justice Stafford ended the inquiry when the witness began to state what Puter had told him as "not coming from the Government attorneys."

Only Time He Was Bribed.

In his experience as Special Agent for the Land Office in Oregon, Dr. Loomis said the money he took to report favorably upon the 12 Puter claims was the first and only time he had taken money for reporting on claims. He said he had not been influenced in this case by the money he received. The claims in question were 12 homestead claims which Puter had obtained in the Cascade forest reserve. Mr. Worthington placed in evidence a letter to Loomis from Hermann instructing him to examine the 12 claims and 33 others. His report to the department, he said, was the same in all cases. "I never failed to give entrymen or anyone in trouble all the chance to get out I could," he said. He added that he had often made reports as Department Agent without going upon the land reported on.

Gas Kills Usher on Wedding.

CHICAGO, March 20.—On the eve of the day that he was to officiate as usher at a fashionable wedding, Calhoun Mason, 25 years old, great-grandson of a former Mayor of Chicago and a member of the prominent Mason family, was found dead in bed yesterday. Apoplexy was the cause of death, the gas jet in the room having been left partly open. His relatives believe his death was accidental. They said outside health, which was not grave, the young man had no apparent motive to end his life. Mr. Mason was a student at Yale University for two years. His great-grandfather, Rowell B. Mason, was Mayor in 1871, and his grandfather was the late Edward G. Mason. The young man was to have been usher at the wedding of Alfred Manierre and Miss June Parkinson.

LONDON, March 20.—The woman suffragists attempted today a demonstrative raid on Parliament more imposing and more numerous than any of their previous efforts. The police, however, had timely warning and made preparations that resulted in making the demonstration somewhat ineffective. The net result was some amusing disorderly scuffles and the arrest of nearly 50 suffragists, who were at once liberated on bail. Previous to the demonstration an indignation meeting, largely attended by the "Suffragettes" and their friends, was held, where the speakers denounced the House of Commons for stifling the Dickenson woman suffrage bill. The raid was led by Lady Harborton, assisted by the most prominent women who took part in the previous raids. The women drove up in wagons and, after promading before the House of Parliament, attempted to storm the House of Commons, where police reinforcements, drawn up for the occasion, awaited the onslaught and drove the women back. After this first rebuff, the women made a second determined attempt to penetrate the police cordon, but failed to do so. In accordance with instructions, the police employed against the women used as little force as possible.

Accused of Swindling Druggists.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Accused of defrauding wholesale drug houses out of $20,000 worth of goods, William H. Bode-mann is sought by the police. He conducted the Western Drug Company at 22 West Van Buren street. The police have received many complaints by mail in which officials of wholesale drug companies assert that they have been defrauded. Efforts to trace property sent the contrary have failed, but the police are working upon the theory that the goods were reshipped to distant places immediately upon receipt. Little of value was found when the police recently went to the place.

DENIES THEY VOTE STRIKE

Morrissey Says Trainmen's Ballots Not Yet Counted.

CLEVELAND, March 20.—J. P. Morrissey, grand master of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said today there was no truth in the report that the trainmen employed on roads west of Chicago had rejected the wage scale recently offered by the general managers of the various lines and that the men had voted to strike if their demands were not granted. Mr. Morrissey said that while it was true that a vote was being taken upon the offer of the managers, the result could not be decided before next Tuesday. The officials of the brotherhood today expressed the opinion that a peaceful settlement of the wage question upon the Western railroads will be reached.

Whether or not trainmen on the Oregon branches of the Harriman system will walk out in compliance with a general strike order from the Western Federation of Miners is still problematical. So far as can be learned, it seems that the Northwestern trainmen voted to strike.

Federation Not in Goldfield Fight.

DENVER, March 20.—Problems arising from the labor situation at Goldfield, Nev., have become so serious that C. E. Mahoney, acting president of the Western Federation of Miners, has decided to take charge of the interests of the federation in person, and left last night for the gold camp. He said that the federation is taking no part in the quarrel between the I. W. W. and the men of the mine, but is desirous of the men belonging to that organization. "We were affiliated with all the Industrial Workers of the World," he said, "but at the last convention the question arose as to whether the federation should continue with the I. W. W. The question is not settled, going over to the next convention, so that the Western Federation of Miners does not feel called upon to take any active part in the present controversy."

More Steel Men Strike at Hammond.

HAMMOND, Ind., March 20.—The strike situation at East Chicago was intensified today when 350 men, employed by the Inland Steel Company, walked out. The reason for the walkout was the demand of the laborers for an increase of 25 cents a week. The men struck yesterday at the Interstate Steel Company and 1,200 at the Republic Iron & Steel Company and the walkout today brings the total number of strikers to more than 5000 men. Some rioting occurred today and one of the strikers was beaten by one of the guards at the Inland Steel Company's plant.

The commission, however, fixed today into effect the additional time and that its schedule must be filed at once. The Pullman Company, from its Portland office, has requested an extension of 30 days more time in which to file a schedule of its rates, charges and regulations. The time specified for filing was 30 days from the date the bill went into effect, which was March 15. The Pullman Company said it will be impossible to grant the additional time and that its schedule must be filed at once.
