Discuss Herry Port.—"Judah hetevi" was the subject of the paper which Mrs. Alexander Bernstein read before the Bible study class of the Council of Jewish Women yesterday afternoon in the Selling-Hirsch Hall. This great Jewish lyric poet of the tenth century proved an interesting character study and his works were analyzed and presented by Mrs. Bernstein in an interestingly lucid manner. She is an exceptionally fine gave from Judah he-Levi's works were an elocutionary as well as a literary ireat. This is the poet whom Heine always declared to be his greatest inspiration. Rabbi Jonah Wise, after outlining a suggested course of study for next year, and suggested course of study for next year. a suggested course of study for next year, followed Mrs. Bernstein in a further discussion of the poet, fully agreeing with her in the high estimation placed upon this calebrated author. this celebrated author.

FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN WILSON,-The funeral of Captain James Wilson, a pioneer steamboat man, was held yesterday from the Dunning Chapel, East Sixth and Althe Dunning Chapel, East Sixth and Alder streets, and was attended by a large number of old-time friends. CURIOUS SURGICAL OPERATION.—An in-teresting and rather unusual operation was performed at St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday morning by Dr. Magruder, the patient being P. Fisher, one of whose legs was term off while he was at work on the steamer Charles R. Spencer last Fall. The wire cable also pulled with it a large quantity of skin from the upper parts of the thighs, and several opera-tions were performed, consisting of graftling dog skin on the affected spots, in one lustance a live dog being held in the same cast. All these operations were attended with more or less success until only one small spot remained uncovered, and this Dr. Magruder decided to cover with a place of the mass own skin takwith a piece of the man's own skin. taken from immediately above the affected

TO THE BEEF TRUST: Yes, we fought that meat ordinance. It was the rankest thing in the way of an ordinance that was ever put together. It was thrown down A Rare Opportunity to Promote the Industrial by us, ex-Mayor Williams, Mayor Lane, the Front-street merchants, many butchers, and by every farmer who ships a pound of meat to the city. You danced and crowed in heathenish glee when it went through the City Council, you know you did. You want it enforced, of course you do. We believe that ordinance cost you a sum of good money, and you hate to throw away anything-even the hog squeals (and to preserve the latter we suggest that you buy a phonograph to record them). If you ever try to amend that ordinance or pattern another one after it, you'll find us on the fight, alert as ever. We'll never submit to any ordinance that binds us down and allows you to go scot free.

And now, Mr. Beef Trust, take a shot at that and see if you can hit it.
