BURGLAR IS FASTIDIOUS

TRIES ON TAILOR'S SUITS, BUT TAKES NONE.

Robs Proprietor With Politeness of a Chesterfield—Begs Pardon for Intruding.

As Charles R. Warner, who conducts a tailoring establishment at 234 Stark street, morning his shop at 3 o'clock yesterday morning for the purpose of pressing a number of suits for guests at the Oregon Hotel, he was greeted by a gentleman burglar, who requested him to deliver over his valuables. The tailor lost no time in complying with the request, which was backed up by a blue-barreled revolver, and handed "Mr. Raffles" about $8 in silver and his watch.
Warner says he believes the man had entered his place for the purpose of securing a suit of clothing, for when he examined the shop after the robbery, he found most of the suits and overcoats lying scattered over the floor, and several articles appeared as though they had been hurriedly tried on. As far as he knows, nothing in the line of clothing is missing.
As the thief was leaving the shop, after turning the trick, he almost ran into Special Policeman Morgan, who took him to a customer of Warner, and made no effort to stop him. His appearance was that of a well-dressed young man, and when Warner shouted, "Stop the thief," Morgan thought he was trying to play a joke on a friend, but by the time matters were explained, the fellow had succeeded in getting out of sight. Warner states the appearance of the fellow was not at all unusual, for he was fashionably dressed, spoke like an educated man, and was gentlemanly in his bearing.
Warner requested the man to leave him 25 cents for his breakfast, to which the robber replied, "With the greatest of

JOE VILLA KILLS HIMSELF

ST. JOHN'S BLACKSMITH CUTS THROAT WITH KNIFE.

Spends Last Cent for Drink and Ends Life in Boxcar After Prolonged Debauch.

Joe Villa, a blacksmith, of St. Johns, committed suicide yesterday afternoon, by crawling into a boxcar and cutting his throat with a pocket-knife. Despondency and drink are supposed to have been the causes of his act. There was not a cent of money in his pockets when his body was found. Villa was dying when found in the boxcar in front of the Standard Oil Company's warehouse on the East Side by C. S. Malley, the night-watchman. A string of boxcars had just been switched into the yard, and Malley was going around to look them over. Noticing a stream of blood dripping from one car, he looked in and cried "Hello!" "I have cut my throat," came in a weak voice from the interior of the car. Malley did not stop to investigate, but ran to a saloon at the corner of Hawthorne avenue and East Water street, where he told of his discovery. E. T. Grazer, who was in the saloon, telephoned to police headquarters, while others ran to the car. When they reached it Villa was dead. Patrolman Gittings and Jailer Enolcott took charge of the body until the coroner arrived.
Villa, it is supposed, boarded the car at the Peninsula warehouse of the Standard Oil Company. He was fairly well dressed. Villa leaves a wife in Brownsville, Or., and has a brother-in-law working as a cook in some restaurant in this city.
About six weeks ago Villa bought a blacksmith shop in St. Johns, on credit, but lost it. Saturday night he was in a saloon on Tamhill street and asked the bartender for a drink. He was given two but did not have money with which to

WIRE-TAPPING SWINDLERS

Four Men Under Arrest in Cleveland on Fraud Charges.

CLEVELAND, O., March 31.—In the arrest today of three men and a woman giving their names as Edward Weiss and Max Morris, of New York, and Charles Drucker and Claudia Carlson, of this city, the police believe they have caught a clique of clever wire-tappers wanted in several cities. The arrests were made following an alleged attempt to swindle J. D. Marks, a wealthy scrap-iron dealer here, out of $500. A draft signed for that amount by Marks was about to be turned over to Weiss, when two policemen, secreted near where the transaction was in progress, arrested Weiss and Morris. The others were taken in later as accomplices.
Marks told the police that Weiss told him he was in a position to procure race reports secretly in New York on the strength of which Marks was promised a large amount of money. They had planned to go to New York Monday. Marks says. Today he mistrusted the plan and sent for a policeman. A meeting at Marks' office was arranged for and the arrests occurred.
Drucker, Weiss, Morris and Miss Carlson are held on suspicion.

HOOD RIVER, Or., March 31.—(Special.)—Herbert Williams, a Minneapolis man, has purchased 900 acres of uncleared land near White Salmon which he will cut up into 30 and 40-acre tracts for settlement by Eastern people who will raise fruit. Mr. Williams has been here looking over his proposition, but will soon return to Minneapolis. He says he will return in the Fall when he will be accompanied by 25 families from Minnesota,
