MEET AT CHAMPOEG

Pioneers to Celebrate Provisional Government Day.

PROGRAMME FOR MAY 2

Judge George H. Burnett Will Pre side and Robert A. Miller Will Deliver Annual Address.

Arrangements have been perfected for the appropriate celebration of the 64th anniversary of the organization of the Provisional Government of Oregon, at "Old Champoeg" on Thursday, May 2. Judge George H. Burnett, of Salem, will be the president of the day, and Hon. Robert A. Miller, of Portland, a native Jackson County, will make the annual address. The Parrott band will provide music for the occasion. The exerclses will be held in the Provisional Government Park.

ernment Park.

The Oregon City Transportation Company will give special rates for the round trip from Portland, leaving this city at 645 A. M., and returning, leaving Champoeg at 4 P. M. This will enable those who live south of New Era to take the early northbound train to that point and intercept the host as it goes up the river on the morning trin. All such persons will be returned to New Era or Oregon City in time to take the southbound evening train. This excursion for a day up the Willamette River and return affords a most delightful outing, and all who can most delightful outing, and all who can till do well fo take advantage of the poportunity, particularly strangers in the ity. Meals may be secured on the boat

TRANSFERRED TO SEOUL

Thomas Sammons in Portland En Route to Corean Consulate.

Thomas Sammons, who for several years has been American Consul-General at Niu Chwang, Manchuria, spent a few hours in Portland last night on his way to Puget Sound, where he will take a steamer for the Orient. Mr. Sammons has just been transferred from his Manchurian post to Seoul, Corea. He has not yet received notification of the change, but expects to find his new commission awaiting upon his arrival at Tacoma.

Mr. Sammons is well acquainted in the Pacific Northwest, as he was for 17 years a resident of Tacoma, where he was engaged in newspaper work. Later he was for six years private secretary to United States Senator Foster, and was then appointed to the Manchurian Consulate to succeed Henry B. Miller. At Seoul he will succeed William. B. Hayward, who died recently.

On leave of absence Mr. Sammons has been in the United States for several mouths and has just returned from Texas, where he went to attend the funeral of a brother. He will join his family in Tacoma, and it is probable that they will sall on the Tremont for the Orient tomorrow.

The says, is growing rapidly, as the natives become familiar with imported goods. Of the foreign trade, he says, the Pacific Coast is getting its full share. A large part of the four and lumber received at Niu Chwang comes from Portland and the Puget Seund cities. The extent of this foreign trade is shown by the fact that between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 worth of cetton goods alone and $15,000,000 worth of cotton goods alon are shipped into Manchurla each year.

The ancient reservoir is located about 70 miles to the southwest of Cairo, and Mr. Whitehouse says the work of executing it can be says the work of excavating it can be accomplished at a cost not to exceed $4.000,000. His plan has been pronounced by experts to be the most wonderful project ever undertaken in the history of Egyptian irrigation, and the United States Department of State has obtained a copy of the original entry of the land by Mr. Whitehouse. If it is found that his leaved rights have been interfered with legal rights have been interfered with, an attempt will be made to force Lord Cromer to withdraw his opposition.

First Waitress Still Living.

Father of Vassar College.

A recent press notice announcing that Rev. Thomas S. Vassar, D. D., of the South Baptist Church, Newark, N. J., had celebrated a half-century in the ministry recalls the fact that he is one of the descendants of that distinguished family that founded Vassar College. It was the sturdy old brewer, Matthew Vassar, who founded the college for women, believing that girls should have equal chances with boys in matters of education. He amassed a neat little fortune from his brewery and went to visit the Old World. When in London, he passed down a quiet street one day before the doors of some charitable institution and on a brass plate he read "John Guy, done in his lifetime." The words set the old his lifetime." The words set the old man to thinking. He had meant to leave his money to some good work when he was gone. Why not use it for that work while he lived? To think was to act, and when he came home he immediately set about building and equipping a college for women, to the end that he might see the beneficial results of the word "in his lifetime." A room was reserved in the college for him, and he often came as a guest to watch the growth of the plant whose seed he had sown while yet alive.

Woman Stainer of Glass.

The recent successes of Miss Mary Elizabeth Tillinghast, the foremost artist in this country in stained-glass work, bring to mind that Cornelius Vanderbili ofice paid $30,000 for a single example of her skill. She was selected by Mrs. Russell Sage from a competing list of glass-workers from all the world to execute the remarkable window in the First Presbyterian Church at Syracuse, N. Y. She designed and executed the window in the Observatory in Pittsburg, which represents Urania standing with an uplifted torch. The famous Hutton window in Grace Church. New York, is also her workmanship. Some of her rare color effects are obtained by overlapping three and four pieces of stained glass. Miss Tillinghast is unable to attend to more than half of her orders, but like the lives of the most famous people, hers had its early chapter of hardships, and success came to her only after a long struggle. and success clong struggle.

CUTICURA REMEDIES A PERFECT SUCCESS

"I wish to let you know that I have used one set of Cuticura Remedies—one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura, but two vials of Cuticura Resolvent Pills—which cost me a dollar and twenty-five cents in all. For a year I have had what they call ecrema. I had an itching all over my body, and when I would retire for the night it would keep me awake half the night, and the more I would scratch, the more it would itch. I tried all kinds of remedies, but could get no relief. A friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies which I did, and am very glad I tried them, for I was completely cured. If any of my friends should be troubled with the same disease, I will cheerfully recommend the Cuticura Remedies, and if I know any one who wants to know how I cured myself. Irrigation Conditions Caused by a Famine in Tumello Creek.

PRINEVILLE, Or., April 5.—(To the Editor.)—In The Oregonian of April I, a Laidiaw correspondent seems to be opposed to the Columbia Southern Irrigating Company operating in Crook County on the west side of the Deschutes River, with its head gates on Tumelio Creek The article referred to states that the company is at fault. This is not borne out by the facts. The Columbia Southern Irrigating Company is certainly held by the State Land Board to be responsible for the reclamation of lands in its segregation, and it is to be expected that the board will see the work of reclamation coursels. But it is hardly fair to the company to blame it for an almost unprecedented water families in Tumelio in the company's contracts. But it is hardly fair to the company to blame it for an almost unprecedented water famine in Tumello Creek. The older inhabitants of that district all say that the Tumello, which at normal stage is about the volume of the Clackama, or slightly smaller, went nearly dry 17 years ago, and again last year. During all that time its flow was as unfalling as the Deschutes.

While the Columbia Southern ditch was being constructed the flow of the creek was normal and was measured by the state engineer and the company's engineers several times, the measurements corresponded every time. The volume was adjudged by the state engineer to be sufficient for the irrigation of 27,000 acres of land, and on the strengts of the engineer's report the company went ahead with its work. Suddenly with the aim of the company aimost in sight, the water famine of 17 years ago recurred, bringing disaster and delay to the Columbia Southern. All previous calculations, based accurately upon mathematical measurements by experienced and competent engineers, were set at naught in a moment. The State Land Board is undoubtedly right.

The State Land Board is undoubtedly right The State Land Board is undoubtedly right in seeing that the company shall provide enough water to irrigate its segregation and thus safeguard the settlers' interests before granting further patents. But we submit it is hardly fair to the Columbia Southern to use its misfortunes in the manufacture of advertising matter for its more successful neighbor on the east side of the Deschutes River—the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Company.

Company.

It is said that the Turnello water supp It is said that the Tumello water supply is short again this year. The Deschutes is also lower now than it has been for 30 years, at this season. The fact that a water famine may occur any year has been demonstrated so forcefully that the State Land Board cannot fail to see—that one or two large storage reservoirs constructed on the Tumello, together with the normal flow of the creek in dry seasons, will cover thoroughly every acre of the segregation with water.
