CHURCH WILL CELEBRATE

CALVARY CHURCH IS 65 YEARS OLD.

Two-Day's Session Marks Quarter Century of Active Work by Loyal Congregation.

This evening at 8 o'clock the members of Calvary Presbyterian Church, Tenth and Clay streets, will commence the celebration of the 25th anniversary of their organization as a congregation. The program for the two days has a large attendance is anticipated. No church gathering in the city contains a larger number of loyal, kindly, warm-hearted people...

"We are told that the saloons as well as other lines of business should suspend operations one day each week because all lines of business prosper and increase as a result of so doing. Then is Sunday closing really a move in the direction of making the liquor business more successful? It is quite likely that a nice, respectable, high-class, Sunday-closing saloon would be more successful in leading young men to redemption, than one which is open every day...
