N FRANCISCO, April 21.—(Special.)— Beavers ended their week's series with the Committers today by dropping both games, bringing their grand total of defeats up to six and their victories to one. Portland was outplayed and out-generaled in each contest, and at no time had a peep-in. Oakland played classic baseball, both at the bat and in the field, and won twice without turning a hair. Kinsella, the youngster who has been doing such good box work of late, was sent in to toss the afternoon game. For sent in to toss the afternoon game. For a few innings he had everything, pitching as nice a game of baseball as any fan would care to watch. But after Donahue had made a couple of had pegs and the infield had gone to sleep on apparently casy chances, the young pitcher seemed to lose his cunning, and the Commuters began to clout most everything that he shot over the rubber.

Cates, on the other hand, received grand support. He had nothing save an grand support. He had nothing save an occasional spit ball, but the work behind him was so good that, try as they would the Beavers could put but two over on him. One of these came in the second and the other in the fourth. Both were the result of good wallops by Mc-

Creedie and Donahue Creedle and Donahue.

The morning game was a huge joke, as far as the Beavers figured. It went but eight innigs, a mistake on the part of the boy who hangs up the numbers being responsible for this. During the game the Beavers hit nearly as hard as the Commuters, but they could not run bases, and in the field they booted the ball early and offen.

Picnic Under the Trees Along the River - Roads in

The Portland Automobile Club gave the first road run of the season yesterday. At 11 o'clock a large number of machines gathered at Multnomah Club, and Lewis Russell, president of the club, started the parade down Morrison street. The long line of cars crossed the bridge, went out East Morrison to East Twentieth, over Twentieth to the Base Line road and swept along, one after the other, all the way to the Twelve-Mile House.

From there the party made its way to a point about three miles east of the roadhcuse, then turned to the south and sped through a farming country to the hills. Long, winding, steep roads were encountered, but no accidents occurred, and the machines passed safely down to the Sandy bridge. Considerable com-ment was caused along the way by the long procession of machines. Farmers poked their heads out of doorways and stood wondering at the big turnout.

After reaching the Sandy, the entire party disembarked, lunch boxes were brought out of the tonneaus, and the peo-
