HOOD RIVER, Or., April 22.—(Special.)—After 50 years of happy married life, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Clarke, of this city, celebrated their golden wedding Saturday night, surrounded by a happy throng of children, grandchildren and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Clarke have been strolling down life's golden pathway together since April 20, 1857, when they were married at Ingersoll, Ontario Province, Canada. After a short residence there they went to Wood-stock, Ont., where Mr. Clarke was engaged in business for a number of years. M. Four years in New Mexico decided them to return to Kansas, and they did so, locating at Eldorado.

But, again becoming dissatisfied with Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke arrived at the conclusion that Oregon was the ideal place, and came to the Far West in 1890, taking up their residence at The Dalles. For nine years they lived at Wasco's well-known county seat, where they have many friends and several relatives, and in 1899 came to Hood River. The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer which does not always excite suspicion because of its insignificance; but as the poison becomes more firmly rooted in the blood, the mouth and throat ulcerate, copper-colored spots appear, a rash breaks out on the body, the hair begins to come out, glands in the neck and groins swell, and often ulcerating sores form on the limbs, hands or face. But this is not all: if the poison is allowed to remain it works down and attacks the bones, causing necrosis or decay, and makes a complete physical wreck of the sufferer. It will not do to tamper with a disease so powerful as Contagious Blood Poison, for every day the virus remains in the blood the trouble is progressing toward a more dangerous stage, and may in the end get beyond the reach of any treatment. There is but one certain, reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, and that is S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers. This remedy attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the blood and forcing out every particle of the poison. It makes the blood pure and rich, strengthens the different parts of the body, tones up the system and cures this humiliating and destructive disorder permanently. The improvement commences as soon as the patient gets under the influence of S. S. S. and continues until every vestige of the poison is driven from the blood, and the sufferer completely restored to health. S. S. S. is not an experiment, it is a success and has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison in every stage, and being entirely free from minerals, is a safe as well as certain treatment.
