Elaborate Precautions Taken for Moyer-Haywood Trials.

HOUSE RENTED FOR JURY

Will Not Be Allowed to Separate Until Trial Is Ended-Provision in Courtroom for Newspaper Men.

BOISE, Idaho, May 2.- The jury which will try William Haywood, first of the accused in the Steunenberg case, will keep house during the trial. The law of Idaho provides that such juries shall be kept together and in seclusion from public contact and the higher courts have always insisted on a strict compliance with the provision. Therefore, rather than take any chances with the publicity of a hotel in this case. Sheriff Shad Hodgin, responsible for the custody of the jurors, has hired a house for them. The house, an attractive, well-built structure, standing on a neat lawn and garden, is just across the street that flanks in the street that street that flanks the rear of Ada nty Court House and within about 300

Special Exit From Court.

To make the daily journeys of the jury as direct as possible, the Sheriff has constructed a temporary stairway from the rear of the second story of the Courthouse. Its upper landing is the platform of a fire-escape and it is reached through the antercom of Judey Wood's chamthe ante-room of Judge Wood's chan bers. The jury can, therefore, be taken directly to the stairway without leaving the ralled enclosure of the courtroom.

An official cook has been retained and arrangements have been made with local stores for a good and varied supply of food. Four balliffs—two. for day duty and two for night service—will guard the pury. The house will be carefully and constantly watched. Entry to the open lawn will be prohibited, one of the day balliffs will remain at home while the jury is in court, and the night bailiffs will do no sleeping during their watch.

Rearranging Courtroom.

The courtroom is being partly reconstructed, in order to increase the seating capacity both in and outside the rail. Two musual features of the courtroom are that the jury box occupies the space di-rectly in front of the bench that is gen-erally filled by the clerk and his impos-ing desk, and the witness chair is in the middle of the chamber, between the ends of counsel tables and directly in front of the middle gate of the rail. The jury faces the room, but its chairs are on swivels that may be swung around to face the judge. The witness chair is on a platform and is visible from all points

Extra Space for Newspaper Men.

Many extra chairs and tables are being placed on either side of the room within the enclosure for the use of the daily press representatives and a long desk has been built along the outer side of the rall for the special writers and artists. Spe-cial seats are being placed for members of the Boise bar and the seating capacity of the public part of the room increased to about 300. Judge Wood and Sheriff Hodgin are co

WILL REVISE ALL SURVEYS Ballinger Adopts New Policy to Help

Oregon Settlers. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, sane theme Ballinger, of the General Land Office, has taken up and will carry out the suggestions made to him by Senator Bourne in regard to facilitating public land surveys in the State of Oregon. The commissioner realizes that Oregon has been discriminated against in the past, and that its public land affairs have been allowed to get into a most unsatisfactory condition. This is, to a considerable degree, due to the land fraud investigations, which have been in fraud investigations, which have been in progress for the past two years or more, but now that prosecutions are well under way and the land office records have been thoroughly investigated, the commission-er believes that everything possible should be done to clear up the accumilation of public land matters and dispose of pending contracts and pending applications. A special inspector will be sent to Ore-gon to make final investigation of every gon to make man investigation of every survey contract that is under suspension. Some of these date back for ten years; others were suspended more recently. In some instances there has been ample ground for suspending these surveys, either because of errors on the part of surveyors, or because of evidence of fraud Burveyors, or because of evidence of fraud on the part of settlers on the lands covered by such surveys. But in other instances the records fall to show any evidence of fraud or any evidence of inaccuracy in the surveys. In all these cases the commissioner is anxious to accept the surveys, if correct, pay the surveyors, and open the lands to entry.

Senstor Bourne urged the commissioner to reinvestigate those surveys which showed evidence of fraud on previous examinations, and, in case the element of fraud be eliminated, urged that these surveys, as well, be approved, so that the lands might be thrown open. Commissioner Bailinger has promised to do this.

Why Send Examiner.

Why Send Examiner.

Up to the present time, a special examiner of surveys has not been assigned to duty in Oregon, because the work would not justify it, but the commissioner has notified Senator Bourne that if it is found, upon the new examinations, that there is sufficient work in Oregon to require the entire time of an examiner one will be detailed to duty in that state avoidables.

entire time of an examiner one will be detailed to duty in that state exclusively, as is the case in Washington.

In a recent letter to the commissioner. Senator Bourne suggested that examiners of surveys report their findings to the Surveyor-General in Oregon, instead of submitting their reports to the General Land Office in Washington. He pointed out that when the reports are sent to Washington they are frequently allowed to lie fide for six months or a year, thereby causing needless delay. Commissioner Bailinger has notified Senator Bourne that he will hereafter permit the examiners Bailinger has notified Senator Bourne that he will hereafter permit the examiners to inform the Surveyor-General of tile result of their imspection of surveys, and will also inform the contract surveyors whenever errors are found.

The final report on all surveys must, of course, he reported to Washington in the end, because no one but the commissioner has authority to accept such surveys. But, by reporting progress from time to time, to the Surveyor-General, the examiners will save from six months to a year on all survey contracts, maximuch as the surveyors themselves will thus be enabled to make.

veys are made. Under the old custom, the errors were not reported until the close of the season, and corrections could not be made until a year later.

Not Much Red Tape.

Heretotore all applications for surveys were forwarded to the General Land Office in Washington, and very frequently remained unacted upon for a year or more. Before any survey was authorized the commissioner required evidence that the applicants for surveys were bona fide settlers, and in order to ascertain this fact, he would order an investigation, the result of which would not be reported to him until the following Winter. At the suggestion of Senator Bourne, this practice is done away with, and the examiner of surveys will receive all applications from the hand of the Surveyor-General, and make his field examinations without awaiting instructions from Washington. Under this system applications will be acted upon within a menth or two from the time they are filed, and whenever the investigation is satisfactory, the Surveyor-General will be authorized to recommend to the General Land Office that the survey be made. Heretofore all applications for

As no one but the Commissioner can authorize surveys, it will be necessary to refer to Washington before making any contracts. But, if the system is carried out as proposed, there is no reason why a survey cannot be authorized within six months of the time the application is received, and another six months or a year ought to be ample to complete the survey and throw the land open to entry. This will be a great saving in ished. Lee, the sailor most seriously

Commissioner Ballinger assured Senator Bourne that just as soon as there is
