Senator Clark Says Yes, but Harriman Says No.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR COOS

Oregonians in Washington to Promote Coast Railroad Find Obstacle in Way of Magnates' Iron-Bound Agreement.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington, May 6.—Senator W. A. Clark of Montana held out strong hope to a party of Oregonians last January, that he might seriously consider a plan of building a spur to his Salt Lake Raircad through Oregon to Coos Bay. The party of Oregonians who were it Washington to appear before the river and harbor committee, went to New York to confer with E. H. Harriman and interest him in the construction of a road to Coos Bay. They were given no encouragement whatever by given no encouragement whatever by his representative, and were not able to see Harriman himself. They re-turned to Washington, had a confer-ence with Clark and he promised to send his engineers to Oregon, and, if their report was favorable, intimated that he would seriously consider the advisability of building the branch realroad.

All this is interesting in connection All this is interesting in connection with facts just given out by the Interstate Commerce Commission, showing an iron-bound agreement between Clark and Harriman, whereby Clark absolutely promised in writing to make no effort to build any railroad north of latitude of Salt Lake City, provided Harriman would make certain joint rates between the Oregon Short Line and Clarks San Pedro road. Under this agreement Clark was not

Under this agreement Clark was not at liberty to build to Coos Bay, had he been willing to do so. This agree-ment with Harriman was in full force and effect at the time the Oregon party conferred with Clark, and it looks on its face as if Clark really had no in-tention of seriously considering the Coos Bay proposition at the time he encouraged the Oregon men to believe

At the Stock Theaters

"The Silver King" at Star.

HE opening bill of the new Star Stock Company, presented last night, was enthusiastically received by audience that completely filled the popular Washington-street playhouse. The Silver King, one of the famous old English melodramas, was well se-ected by the company. From the first to the lifth act there is a strong taread of human interest. Wilfred Denver, Silver King, played by Russel Lee-tret, easily carried off the honors of evening and was called back re-itedly. Miss Adelaide Knight as Nellie Denver immediately won the hearts of the audience by her natural and elever work

The story of the play is that of the lower starts in London life. Captain Herbert Skinner, a spider and crook, weaves a web of crime of which he is the center, surrounded like Fagan with his fences. Wilfred Deaver, a victim of drink and the gambling table, soon falls him victim. Dragging a beautiful wife and children into the depths of poverty and shame. Denver wakes up in the nome of his old friend Geoffrey Ware one night to find him dead, and his own smoking revolver lying on the table.

was a clever piece of acting and the house stormed with applause. Denver escapes and with the officers on his trail takes a train for Liver-pool, jumps from the train, and with a strained leg limps through the country, unknown. He later learns th try, unknown. He later learns the train he was on was wrecked and he is reported dead. He goes to Nevada, becomes a miner and grows rich. Through Jaikes, the faithful family becomes a little and grown that Through Jaikes, the faithful family servant of the Denvers in their palmy days, the outcast sends money and rescues his starving wife and children from poverty, and establishes them in a home of luxury.

In the meantime Skinner lives his gilded life with his cronics, but is final-ly discovered as the real murderer of Ware by Dunver in disguise, and he then goes to his wife, is forgiven and sends Skinner to the gallows.

Eunice Murdock, as Skinner's wife, carried her part well. The entire company made a good impression. The pany made a good impression. The following are the members of the new company: Russel Lee Barrett, Charles J. Lemm, Frank De Camp, Wallis Roberts, Robert J. Lamont, A. C. Perkins, Charles Burnison, William Diel, W. H. White, Adwin George, Bert Marcelle, Harry Robbins, Sam Bransky, Nadia and Adelie Banks. Eunice Murdeck, Minnie Gerschell, Miss Cooper and Adelaide Knight. The play was presented under the personal supervision of Frank De Camp.

"Brown's in Town," at Lyric.

THE Allen Stock Company opened last night at the Loric Theater in the place of the Lyric Stock Company The Allen Stock Company had a hard task last night The old company has hundreds of warm admirers in the city and therefore there formance was so exceptionally good that the old reliable patrons of the playhouse have already sworn allegiance to the company has been strengthened, and deserves to be claused as one of the strongest stock organizations on the coast. It includes Miss Verna Felton, Charlotte Mundorff, Marie Thompson, Mrs. Clara Allen, Forcest Seabury, Irving Kennedy, Raph Belmont, H. N. Dodeson, H. S. Dodeson, Dudgeon, Harry Banchard, Charles Ayres, Wallace Roberts and D. D. Ed-wards. The scenery and settings are new and overything is in harmony. There were three acts last night, or rather three long laughs, with inter-mission so that those in the audience could recover their wind. "Brown's In ould recover their wind. "Brown's In Town' is not a stranger in Portland, but Brown was better treated last night than ever before in the Rose City. He had more laughs coming to him last night than the man who laughed himself to neath. Verna Fallon, who ta night than the man who laughed him-self to death. Verna Feltos, who is good wherever placed, Forrest Scabury, Harry Blanchard and Irving Kennedy were responsible for the uproar. It seemed that overyone had a knack of making fun hast night, or at least every-one in the audience laughed at every thing that was done.

Harry Bianchard, as the rich old father with queer notions upon mat-rimony, was particularly good, and he and Miss Felton probably stood a lit-tic bit above the others. Marie Thompcon as Dick's wife was also very good. "Brown's In Town" is far better than been converted into them.

Is the "Blue Ribbon" Tract of Them All

It goes on the market May 12th at prices away below prices asked for properties not nearly so good. Average cost of lots about $375. Average monthly payment $10.

If we were to tell you big stories about New Mexico, it would not be easy to tell whether we were telling the truth or not, for New Mexico is a long way off, but if we tell you what seems to be a big story about a place not twenty minutes away, we ought to be very careful to tell you somewhere near the truth, for you can easily find out for yourself.

* * Terrace Park is the best residence investment in Portland-it has more good substantial points to recommend it than any other tract in the city. It has location and desirability-it has good neighbors, schools and churches-it has plenty of water-it has view-it has soil-it has strawberries, cherry trees, flowers and garden truck-it has rapid transit. These advantages you can confirm by going to the tract.

* * The "M. V." car goes there every ten minutes. You take it at Second and Yamhill or take an auto at our door, 270 Stark street, any time you wish.

Terrace Park opens May 12. Any lot selected before that date entitles the purchaser to a 10 per cent discount. By the time we open we expect to have half the tract sold.

Today a gentleman who had seen several of the best subdivisions of the city, expressed himself as wanting to see Terrace Park before finally deciding the home question; to use his words: "There is nothing to it—your property is so far above anything else I have seen—you ought to be sold out before they have sold the rim off theirs." There is no boast about this statement-we simply say we were fortunate in getting so fine a tract along

You can make money-you can double it if you buy now. Look at Terrace Park and you'll say so, too. A beautiful lot from $300 to $400—pay $10 a month, and if you want a house we will build that for you.
