I think you will agree with me that the only rightful object of such a campaign in an intelligent and enlightened democracy like ours. Is to give the voters the best possible opportunity to determine, soberly, candidly and reasonably how their votes should be cast, and this without resort to improper, secret or unjust influences. that it is your duty and mine to conduct this campaign as far as the conduct of it devolves upon us, with these ends and none other in view. Chief of Police Gritzmacher is perfecting plans for improving the department, and especially for policing the East Side in a manner much more worthy of that large district's needs. Five new se geants, appointed by him last Saturday night, will probably go on duty in their new positions about May 25, when the annual inspection will be held. At that time the entire force will be reviewed by Mayor Lane and subordinates. Instead of having but one patrol sergeant, there will be six. The East Portland district will not have a police station for a while, but it will be policed in a style never before attempted. More patrol sergeant, should be in charge of a patrol sergeant. Similar conditions will prevail on the West Side. Sergeants Golds and Rosson will be attached to the day relief, inner command of Captain Moore; Sergeants Cole and Hogeboom will be on duty with the first relief, inner command of Captain Sharer, and Sergeants Wendorf and Johnson will be assigned to the second relief, commanded by Captain Sharer, and Sergeants Wendorf and Johnson will be assigned to the second relief there will be a sergeant in the field on the East Side and the West Side. Inasmuch as arrangements are not yet complete for the establishing of the East Side station, business will be handled on th sides of the river from headquarters. Under the new plans, with the sergeants and 17 additional patrolmen, the size of the beats will be cut down and far better protection and better police work along all sizes is promised.

primaries have been invited to attend the gathering and make short addresses. What the leaders are counting on most is the presence of those candidates who were not successful. They also will be requested to speak, and in addition to this long list of speakers County Judge Webster and W. M. Cake will speak for party harmony.

A special effort will be made by the campaign committee to have all the defeated candidates present, and letters have been sent inviting them to attend the meeting. Whether they will all appear and engage in the big love feast that is being prepared by the officials of the Union Republican Club, is a matter of conjecture. It is safe to predict however that not all these who matter of conjecture. It is safe to pre-dict, however, that not all those who drew a lemon at the primaries will be on hand. The time for the wound to heal has been too short, but it is the belief of Chairman Cake and Secretary Sherwood that all but one or two of those who did not receive the nomination will attend the meeting and renw their will attend the meeting and renew their pledges of supporting the entire Republi-can ticket.

Challenge for Joint Debate.

R. W. Montague, chairman of Mayor Harry Lane's campaign yesterday sent a challenge to Chairman Cake of the Re-publican campaign committee, for a joint debate between Mayor Lane and Mr. Devlin. No action will be taken on the letter from Chairman Montague until there is a meeting of the executive committee and this will not be held until Wednesday or Thursday. It is almost sure that nothing will come of the chal-lenge. At the Republican headquarters. there is a strong sentiment against any such an action, but the officials will not express themselves, for it is their wish that action be taken on Mr. Montague's letter by the entire executive committee. In the opinion of some of the party leaders, the present age is not of political debates. It was all right, they say in the days when there were but few pewspapers and there was no other

In his letter to Chairman Cake, Chairman Montague explains his reason for sending the challenge and says that such meetings between the two candidates for Mayor would be of benefit to the voters. In hundreds of homes in Portland, pianos are to be found today that are idle-voiceless; perhaps now and then an occasional touch is given to relieve the silence, but the keys await in vain the power of some influence able to awake the dormant melody that is locked within. A piano, without a player, is like the artist's brash without the hand to guide it. A "silent" piano may be a thing of beauty, but quite completely lacking as "a joy forever." Today, thanks to the Pianola, any piano may be transformed into an inexhaustible musical treasure-house. The Pianola will enable every member of the household to gratify his or her particular taste in the matter of music. It opens the door to endless entertainment of the highest possible class, not only for the home circle, but for friends and visitors. It brings to any one the power to reproduce thousands of selections in the most finished and artistic manner—as to tempo and expression -and removes the necessity of tedious hours and years of study.

The Pianola is the one perfect instrument in the field of players—the one indorsed by the great musical critics and artists, the one chosen by nobility, society, wealth and culture.
