It might please the boss too well and tend to breed favoritism. And in longshoring circles it is unlawful to curry fayor with the boss.

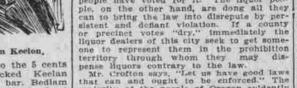

This phase of longshore etiquette might or might not be of interest were it not for the extensive trouble in which it has involved a whole working shift, foreman involved a whole working shift, foreman and all. For, in trying to observe this rule, an argument with a streetcar con-ductor arose which provided temporary employment for a whole corps of physi-clans, landed the whole shift and the streetcar crew in the Municipal Court yesterday forenoon, and resulted in five longshoremen and a motorman being held to the grand jury on charges of battery, under bail of 500 each.

to the grand jury on charges of battery, inder bail of $160 each. The battle in question already has been alred. At occurred on an "L" car on Halsey street, in Lower Albina, several nights ago. At the time the fight was supposed to have started because of labor feeling, and there was much agi-tation in labor circles. In court yester-day it was revealed that 5 cents carfare was responsible.

was responsible. Tom Keelan. Tom Keelan, whose identity was lost largely in a maze of antiseptic babdages, told the story of the trivial beginning of the gory affray. Five longshoremen and the strawboss got on the car. Ordinarily one man would have paid for all, but since it is forbidden that the foreman's since it is forbidden that the foreman's fare be paid, each workman subscribed 5 cents to pay for the ride, the fund be-ing placed in the hands of Robert Mc-Lean. When Conductor Hamilton took the fare he observed that the sum lacked 5 cents of being sufficient to pay lacked 5 cents of being summered to pay for all. Hereupon the longshoreman thought the amount was near enough. The conductor insisted on having the additional 5 cents; and since the money had been placed in a common pot and each man claimed to have paid in to the acting treasurer of the shift, the wrangling commenced. Just which side struck the first blow is a matter of dis-pute. There were enough witnesses on hand to start a South American rev-olution, but each had a different story. The longshoremen and their witnesses witnesses charged that the motorman, E. L. White, emerged from the fore platform in the Tom Keelon, midst of the discussion as to the 5 cents and without warning whacked Keelan

He BOISE, idaho, May 17.—(Special.)—Judge Fremont Wood, who is presiding at the Haywood trial, is an Eastern man who came to Idaho about 20 years ago. He is large of stature, is 42 years old and a mun of kindly disposition. He has a high forehead, a prominent brow and keen eyes and enjoys a reputation for composure and dignity. O. M. Van Duyn is the virtual head of the prosecution, being State's Attorney for Canyon County, in which the crime with which Haywood was charged was committed. He is a man well-learned in the law, but alleged to be more carnest than brilliant. The chief attorney for the state is James H. Hawley, a native son of Idaho, who bears the reputation of being the eleverest criminal lawyer in the state. It was Mr. Hawley who defended the miners in the Coeur d'Alehe cases and who procured their acquittal. The senior counsel for the defense is Clarence S. Darrow. He is an Ohioan by birth and 50 years of age. Frequently in recent years he has appeared in labor cases, and he was counsel for the anthracite strikers in the arbitration proceedings of 1902-3. Mr. Darrow also has been active in politics.

PARDON OF JAMES WHITE Attorneys State Reasons for Action

by Governor.

FORTLAND, May 17.—(To the Editor.)— Governor Chamberlain has been publicly criticised for pardoning James White, con-victed of kidnaping a sailor; and, in justice to the Governor, we wish to publish the following facts, all matter of record. In the trial Judge Frazer presided A. C. Spencer, Deputy District Attorney, and W. Ty Hume, employed as private prosecutor by the British Comaul, represented the state. Twister Jurots found the defendant guilty and recommended him to the mercy of the court after a long session of deliberation. When the application for partion was made, the Governor, following a long-time custom of or a statement 'about the case' from the statement 'about the case' from the states of that thete has been printed, and, while Judge Frazer did not recommend a phe says, facts favorable and unfavorable to the defendant's case. Mr. Sponcer and Mr. Hume both recommended the pardon. Ten of the 12 jurors (one of them having in the meantime died) also recommending in the par-don. Besides this, a potition was presented to the Governor recommending the pardon and this petition was remarkable, not only for the large number, but for the high for orders.

to the Governor recommending the pardon and this petition was remarkable, not only for the large number, but for the high standing of the petitioners. Thus the Governor had before him the judgment of all the sersons who were in-strumental under the law in proscutting, convicting and sentencing the defendant, and this judgment was favorable to a par-dor. It cannot be said that any of the gentlemen were unduly prejudiced in favor of the defendant and they had opportunity-to know better than anyone the circum-stances of the Case. The Governor, there-fore, had ample justification for his action. The undersigned represented the defend-ant as his attorneys in the trial.
