TOLEDO, O., May 17.-Chairman Walter F. Brown of the Ohio State Central Committee today declared himself unquali-fiedly for Taft, said the Republicans of Ohio were solidly in favor of his can-didacy and that Senators Foraker and Dick owe it to shemselves and their friends to settle the report that they are secretly supporting the candidacy of Vice-President Fairbanks.

He declared however, that the senti-

While it was not so stated, it was im plied that the choice of the board would onform to the desire of the prosecution, and that it was best that the reform forces work out the present Board of pervisors and leave the situation in the hands of the prosecution.

it was also reported that Schmitz had virtually abdicated in favor of a committee of seven. This was strongly denied District Attorney Langdon was asked tonight:

"Has the prosecution entered into any arrangement, tentative or other-wise, for the virtual relieving of the Mayor and the turning over of the actual reins of government to a committee of seven, representing commercial organizations?

"The District Attorney," replied Mr. Langdon, "positively will have no dealings with any committee appointed by Mr. Langdon was also asked:

TESTIFIES ON PARKSIDE DEAL

Ruef Got $30,000 Bribe Which Was Never Earned.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 .- Abraham Ruef today, in his second appearance before the grand jury, testified regard-ing the Parkside Traction Company deal, by which, according to the line of attack laid down by the prosecution, the directorate of the Parkside cor-poration paid to Ruef $30,000 to secure poration paid to Ruef $30,000 to secure a street railway franchise to enhance enormously the value of the lots composing the Parkside real estate tract. The information in the possession of the prosecution is that, of this sum, $1000 was to be paid to each of the 18 Supervisors for voting the franchise and that the remainder, $12,000, was to be shared evenly by Ruef and Schmitz.

Schmitz. Among the directors and stockholders of the Parkside Traction Company were W. H. Crocker, one of the foremost capitalists of San Francisco: Charles E. Green, manager of the vast Crocker estate and an official of the Crocker Westworth Bank G. H. Unit Crocker-Woolworth Bank; G. H. Umb-Crocker-Woolworth Bank; G. H. Umb-sen, a wealthy real estate man; Doug-las Watson, the same; F. W. Tillman, wholesale grocer; Wellington Gregg, an officer of the Crocker-Woolworth Bank, and Joseph Green, capitalist, who was president of the corporation.

Ruef Kept Uncarned Bribe.

All of these men were called before the grand jury today. The fact that several of them were in the inquisitorial chamber but a few minutes gave rise to the report that they had refused to testify. This was not confirmed.

A detail of the charge to be pursued by the prosecution is that the original belief agreed upon by each of the 18 Supervisors was $750, but that, when the Parkside corporation, shortly after the great fire, decided that it wanted a trolley instead of a cable franchise, the price was raised to $1000 each, and the increase was consented to. It is further charged that, the bribery-graft prosecution getting under way at about this time, the effort to have a franchise granted was postponed indefinitely—and that Ruef retained the $30,000 passed.

Will Ruef Return Money?

Ruef was asked tonight when he emerged from the grand jury chamber:

"Have you made any arrangements to return to the men and corporations against whom you will testify in court the various sums of money paid by them to you for corruption purposes or as 'fees' in bribery deals" He re-

When Ruef entered the grand jury chamber this evening it was 6:30 o'clock and he had been waiting in an anteronom since shortly after 1. Several of the grand jurors, following the example set by all of them the day before, rose and grasped the fallen boss by the hand and expressed a desire to help him "in any way they could."

"There is not to my knowledge a Republican leader whose prominence is acknowledged throughout Ohio who favors any candidate for the Presidency except Secretary Taft."

It was suggested to Mr. Brown that a belief exists with politicians in some other states that Messrs. Foraker and Dick, who are opposing the Taft candidacy, control the state party machinery and that the power of the organization is behind them.

"There was never a greater mistake than that," said Mr. Brown. "The Senators do not control the party machinery and they never have swayed and they do not sway the State Central Committee in any of its actions. It is the absolute truth that the committee has never been under their control at any time since its membership was announced. The organization is with Taft."

Harry Orchard has balanced his books. It has been a long and weary task, and the marks of its harrowing hours are visite upon the face of the bookkeeper. But the task is finished at last. Harry Orchard knows what he owes to the people of America and to his own conscience, and he has determined to pay the bill. It may be has determined to pay the bill. It may be has determined to pay the bill. It may be has determined to pay the bill. It may be has determined to pay the bill. It may be has determined to pay the bill. It may be may be all the order like all the others. One day. It is not known how, he remembered the magnet of his boyhood days. That solved the problem. He began to experiment, and the result of that experiment is now in active operation over in the yard, doing every day the work of a score of men, saving hours and hours at it, cutting down expenses, and above all cutting down the time of handling, which is the main thing.

Strong of Mind and Body.

Harry Orchard is said to be a very different person from the man who entered the prison is months and more ago. It is easy to believe it. Today, at least, he is strong in body, keen of mind, serene of spirit, master of himself and all his purposes. What he said in the interview of yeaterday is told elsewhere in this newspaper. It is not necessary to repeat it here. But it may be of interest to record the impression that he made upon one of those who saw him after these many months of a secusion which he is soon to leave for the fierce light that beats upon the witness chair.

Of course, the clearness of Orchard's mind and the vigor of his body are all of importance and interest, but the most vital thing of all is the attitude of his mind toward the task that lies just before him. That whatever he has said or done since his confinement began has been done or said voluntarily and without coercion or inducements be gave his word in my hearing. I

Will Meet Ordeal Squarely.

Orchard surprised me a good deal. From the stuff I had road about him, I was not prepared to meet just such a clean-cut, well-dressed young follow as he now is. This surprise at first meeting him was increased by his talk and his manner. These conveyed irresistibly a strong impression of sincerity. There was about him an air of composure and gerenity which expressed more plainly than any words he could utter the fact that he has reached a thoroughly satisfactory solution of his problem. He has squared accounts with himself.

I believe he understands perfectly what is before him, and has made up his mind to meet it squarely. He may flinch under the ordes! but I shall be much surprised if he breaks down. Manifestly there has been a tremendous change in Orchard since he was arrested. Men who have lived the life he led prior to that do not easily become interested in ecclesiastical history, the Reformation and the lives of George Whitfield and John Wesley. It strikes me as significant and illuminating that Orchard has can and imministing that Orenard has chosen that line of reading. I can hardly believe that he is doing it for an ulterier purpose. His manifest intelligence, aleri-ness of mind, great comprehension and ready humor are more than sufficient contradiction of the reports of his failing strength and failing mind. O'K. DAVIS. ONE HAT IN SEVEN YEARS

When it came time for the Pennsylvania Railrond to rebuild its terminal freight yards at Greenville, Iersey City, facing on New York Harbor, there cropped up that old problem of how to handle the iron.

Greenville stands to religiousness. Tediousness means time, and the object of the railrond of today is to annihilate time. Medern transportation demands that the eliminated.

When it came time for the Pennsylvania as the mouth of the Mississippi does to rivers. Every second of the day and night, 365 days in the year, a vast volume of freight pours into it, and this must be distributed for Europe or North, South, East and West. They handle cars there by the hundred thousand, and they handle freight by the millions of tons. It was wearl-some to think that so much of it was to be handled in the old, laborious way. The men who planned the new Pennsylvania became impatient.

There must be some other way, they declared "It must be found"—and seconding to custom they concluded by saying, "Find It!" The word went forth to all the men of the country who work at that sort of thing, "We must find according to custom they concluded by saying, "Find It!" The word went forth to all the men of magnet, a simple contrivance looking like a double crown of corrugated iron and steel, its two poles strongly marked, with its armatures concealed, and all suspend-ed from the chains of a heavy crane, Around this chain is wrapped the current wire, which gives the thing life or takes it away. Nowadays a big steel car, piled high with rails, or pig iron, or scrap iron, or wheels, rolls within reach of the crane, and the man in charge swings the magnet those rails appear alive. They fairly leap up to the magnet, ten tons of them at a time, all in neat and orderly array.

As the crane holsts, the pieces of metal swing clear almost without a rasp or sound, and then just as noiselessly they fall into the new place appointed, in the car or out of it, into a waiting barge or on blocks. It is all so simple and easy, It is the same way with scrap

When the magnet dips its nose into a pile of scrap it emerges looking like an alligator pear, and every time there are the 10 tons hanging to it. It does not take long to fill or empty a car at that rate. And there is never any argument or shouting or halts for breathing spells -the magnet never tires so long as the electricity is there to stimulate it.

They made a test over in the yards the other day to determine the difference between the old way and the new way. Six men were put to work unloading one car of wheels, while the magnet, which is at-tended by four men, went to work on a load of exact size, material, and weight. The magnet loaded and unloaded its car in one hour, while the six men labored manfully at extra pressure for a half day and were just through.

That settled it. Other magnets were ordered, and will soon take their places in the freight city. When they are all put in operation the effect will be startling to the old-time railroad man,

WASHING DISHES WEEKLY

New Experiment in Solving a Domestic Problem.

A quickeyed spinster counted over a hundred utenslis hanging along walls and shelves. "What on earth do you want with so much ware?" she inquired. "Only three in your family, and you have enough vessels to cook for a hotel." The hostess explained: "Well, you know servants are very hard to get, and harder to keep, so I do all my own cooking. I do not care to pot-wrestle every day, so I laid in enough vessels to last a week; then I take a day off and assist Mary, my washwom-an, in scrubbing everything." This young woman shed a light, and now several members of the Sewing Society are laying in great quantities of pots and kettles, "Why not?" they say. "We have our clothes washed once a week. Why sling pots and ketthes every day, or three times a day?"

These difficulties, in connection with the
