ELEVEN INNINGS TO DOWN SEALS

Beavers Finally Turn the Trick With Aid of Nick Williams, Who Muffs Fly.

FOUR PITCHERS IN GAME

Kanaka Joy Retires in Favor of Henley in First, and Gum Gives Way to Kinsella in the Ninth. Story of the Contest.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS. Portland T. Ban Francisco 6. Los Angeles L. Oakland &

Portiand, 7.
San Francisco, 6.
After a bingle-studded eleven nip-and-tuck scramble, with more different kinds of baseball thrown into the skirmish than-could ordinarily be seen in a half dozen games, a couple of tie-ups and a heart-smashing finish, Manager McCredle's crew finally downed the Seals. Four pitchers were used up in the battle, and their offerings were pasted against the fence and into the grassy veidt so often that it made the feminine fans, who were enjoying the first ladies' day of the season, squeal and shriek with joy.

shrick with joy.

Speaking of joy recalls the brief appear-Speaking of joy recalls the brief appearant of one Barney Joy, especially imported from the Island of Hawaii. The big Kanaka is fine to look upon, and for one brief spell he looked like a man who was going to cut loose a scourge like a ravage of locusis, or a barrel full of double-tongued anakes whose bite was as deadly as the sting of a scorpion. He was a swarthy man with a face of crimson, but with an arm as wild as a Texas cyclone. The women who had journeyed to the park to see Captain Mohler's Kanaka feed the Beavers to the white elephants waited the Beavers to the white elephants waited with feer and trembling for him to huri the bail down the alley. Good things never last long, neither did Joy. Shinn put the big Hawailan toy in pickle with a safe poke and then Joy lost his range-finder.

Then there came a rainfall of passes Then there came a rainfall of passes. Lovett took a perch, and while Casey was waiting for his pass there was a jokeful mixup with old man Derrick, who is a candidate for the Home of Ancient Umps, as the centerpiece. Casey had three wide ones to his credit, and as a big bender came up he thought it was the fourth and the ticket for free transportation. The ump called it a strike and Lovett started for second and Shinn for third. Foxy Capfor second and Shinn for third. Foxy Cap-tain Mohier wig-wagged Street and the ball was heaved to Escola and then to Mohier at second. Derrick called Lövett out, waved Shinn to third and called Casey back.

Umpire Derrick Storm Center.

The fighting blood of the fans was roused by the decision, and after that the umpire was the storm center for lots of names not found in Y. W. C. A. tracts. Casey got his ticket, so did McCredie. Then Mohler sent Joy to the tent to rest and yanked Slivers Henley out of coldstorage and put him on the mound. Hen-ley, too, violated the anti-pass law and isaued one to Mott, forcing home Shinn. Casey scored on Esola's bungle. Donahue batted into a double and this closed the deal.

Gum refused any gravy to the Scals in the opening half, but in the second, Street tore off a wallop for two stations. This made Gum woozy and he walked Murphy. Donahue took care of Esola's pop pullet, but Heniey jabbed his bat against a fast one and it brought home two, tying the score. Portland got them right back in the third. Carson was passed and Gum beat out a bunt. Shinn moved them up by a neat sacrifice: moved them up by a neat sacrifice: Lovett got a fielder's choice and while Mohler was juggling, Carson rolled home. Gum scored on Casey's poke, but Lovett was morgued by a smashing-good relay from Murphy, to Wheeler to Irwin.

from Murphy, to Wheeler to Irwin Bassey fanned and stopped things. Three binglets in a row, netted the home talent the fifth run in the third inning. A base on balls, a safe biff and a bungle, gave the Seals another in the This was the end until the fourth. This was the end until the visitors began to fall upon Gum in the ninth. The south paw disposed of Esola without trouble, but Henley poked one safe and Mohler dented the fence for two bags. Hildebrand drew a fielder's choice and then McCredie, who had Kinselia warming up for saveral innings hung the and then McCreme, who had kinselia warming up for several innings, hung the 23 on Gum. Henley was killed off at the platter, but Wheeler came through with a swat straight through the pitcher's box and the Seals caught up and passed us right there.

Mighty Casey Has the Goods.

Here's where Casey distinguished him-self. Mighty Casey! No wonder some poet immortalized the family in baseball! crowd called for Casey to kill the The crowd called for Casey to kill the hall. And Casey did. Bang! He caught one of Henley's finest square on the snout and it knocked the varnish of the rightfield fence. Good for two bags, and how the women did yell. Every he on the ground was howling like a Dervish, and Doc Anderson lost his voice. Bassey dropped a sweet one down and Casey was safe at first. One down. McCredie who had falled the crowd before in just such a pinch, jolted one to fore in just such a pinch, jolted one to Williams, so far out that Casey scored the tying run. Mott died easy and the game floated along to the lith inning. same floated along to the lith inning.

Mohler, Hildebrand and Wheeler died, one, two, three, and then came the can epening. Lovett duplicated Casey's trick, nalling a two-cushion swat. Casey sent him to third with a sacrifice, Here Mohler and Wheeler took the gambler's chance. Henley was told to walk Bassey. Fine head work. McCredle was passed along. Still finer head work. Great chances for a double play. Only one down. Nice head work. Mott skied to Irwin. Two down. So was the ardor of the fans. The head work was still working-with everybody but Nick Williams. It was up to Donahue. Donahue didn't, but dear old blond-headed Nick did. Donahue poked out a long fly to center, Williams reached up into the ozone for it, dropped it—Lovett was home with the winning run. That's all. Time for tea and desert.

PORTLAND ACADEMY IS WINNER

Beats Allen Preparatory School in Interscholastic League Game. The Portland Academy took another game in the Interscholastic League schedule, yesterday afternoon defeating the Allen Preparatory school team by a score of 6 to 1. The game was one sided throughout and the Allen boys had little chance when it came to scoring. Their poor fielding was the cause of their defeat. Both Barber of Allen, and Stone of the academy pitched a good game, only one bit was made off Stone and two off Barber.

The academy started off well by making a run in the first inning, two more in the second, and three in the fourth. After this they were unable to score again. Allen made a lone run in the second half of the third. Bales re-ceived a base on balls, stole second, and
