TOLD MRS, HARRIS TO SWEAR FALSELY

Witness Makes Sensational Statement About Cashier of Lewiston Bank.

IDAHO LAND-FRAUD CASE

Spokane Woman Says Robnet Talked Over Matters While in Church and Sought to Show Her Everything Was "All Right."

MCSCOW, Idaho, May 31.—(Special.)— Testimony tending to show that J. B. West, former Register of the Lewiston Land Office, was bribed by the Lewiston National Bank officials to expedite the "putting through" of the land-office entry-"putting through" of the land-office entry-men of the bank officials, was the sen-sational statement made on the witness stand this morning by Mrs. May J. Har-ris, of Spokane, while testifying in the North Idaho land conspiracy case. She said that when she demurred to swearing faisely, incidental to taking up a timber claim, Clarence W. Robnet, bookkeeper at the bank, co-conspirator in the case at har and convicted last Fall of subornation. har and convicted last Fall of subornatio par and convicted last Fall of subornation of perjury, said to her in substance, "Oh, that's all right; all you have got to do is to keep still. Mr. West will put you through. We have got them paid for that."

The witness later declared that when she refused to take up a claim demanded of her by Robnet, he said to her: "If you don't I'll make trouble for you; I'll put you behind the bars."

Boasted of Making Easy Money.

When she wanted to discuss with her attorney, O'Neil, the advisability of filing upon the land before first going upon it, Robnet said to her, the witness testified: "You stay away from Mr. O'Neil; he'll get us all into trouble."

Mrs. Harris said that Robnet confessed to her that he was defrauding the Government, boasted of the money he was making, adding that if they all stood to-gether, "that everything will come out all

When Robnet talked to her about her daughters taking up a claim and she said they were both under age. Mrs. Harris testified that Robnet said: "Oh, that's all right. West will push them through."

All this testimony was brought out on cross-examination by the defense.
Despite the fire of questions put to her, the witness could not be shaken. Joel H. Benton, of Lewiston, also proved a bad witness for the defense. He swore that Robnet went to him after it was learned they had all been indicted, he having also taken up a claim, with the statement: "If we all teil the same story and hang together, everything will come out all right."

Talked It Over in Church.

Robnet also approached him, the witness declared, relative to telling a falsehood as to where he got the money to prove up with. But Benton refused to listen to any such proposition. During the afternoon session Mrs. Harris was followed by her two daugh-ters, Misses Jeanette and Ethel Harris. They said they attended the church where Robnet did, and that it was at church and eisewhere that he discussed with them the advisability of taking up timber claims. Miss Jeanette said Robnet told her that she being under age would not affect the matter in the All she had to do was to say that she was of age.

R. N. Wright, superintendent of schools at Lewiston, was next called.
As District Attorney Ruick put it, the es not want to tell what he knows." for he was a very reluctant witness. He told of borrowing the money to take up the claims for his wife and himself, getting it from W. F. Kettenbach, president of the Lewiston National Bank, saying he preferred to use borrowed money than his own. His examination papers at the Land Office show that he ewore that he was paying for his claim out of his own indgey, and his wife testified that she paid for her claim out of her money. Mr. Wright explained the matter by saying that when Receiver Garby asked him if the money was his own, that he did not answer; that Mr. Garby just took it for granted that it was his and answered the question "yes." As Mr. Wright expressed it, "they were rushing people through so rapidly that not much attention was paid to the questions and answers."
