At 3 A. M. with complete returns from 21 precincts and incomplete returns from 47 precincts, Harry Lane, Democrat, leads Thomas C. Devlin, Republican, for Mayor by 333 votes.

Harry Lane's re-election as Mayor of the City of Portland is indicated by the incomplete election returns by a majority of 500 to 1000 votes. All of the Republican city ticket with the exception of Thomas C. Devlin is elected by large majorities. M. J. Driscoll, George B. Cellars and John Annand are elected Councilmen-at-Large by large majorities. All of the Republican candidates for Councilmen are successful with the exception of Robert A. Preston in the First Ward who was defeated by T. J. Concanon.

All of the amendments to the city charter providing for bond issues have carried while those providing for the increase of salaries for city officials have been decisively defeated. The economy gas franchise has carried.

The total vote cast was 17,196, out of a total registered vote of 21,384, showing that 82 per cent of the total registered vote was cast. In 1906 the total vote cast was 14,567.

Mr. Devlin showed his greatest strength on the West Side, which he will carry by 1000 votes if the present ratio continues to hold for the balance of the votes to be counted. At 3 A. M. on the West Side 830 votes had been counted, of which 500 of the West Side vote, Devlin has a lead of 300.

On the East Side with 3000 votes counted out of a total vote cast of 9636, Lane has a lead of 1105. If he continues to carry the East Side in the same ratio, Lane will come across the Willamette River with 2000 to 3000 votes to the good. This would wipe out Devlin's lead of 1000 to 1200 on the west side and give the Democratic candidate a majority of 1600 to 2000. Devlin's only chance is to make unexpected gains on the west side and Lane to sustain unexpected losses on the east side.

In spite of the predictions of trouble, because of the large amount of money that was wagered on the outcome, the entire election passed off without even a street fight. The North End went through the election without a call for the police, and for the first time in the history of a local election that section of the city was closed as tight as a drum. It was easy to see that the saloons of the North End were closed. The downtown and jetson of that part of the underworld had a chance to enjoy their annual outing, and instead of hanging around accustomed haunts, the stiff-necked sought the green grass and the sun of the parks in front of the Custom House.

Down town the crowd remained until 1 o'clock. At the corner of Sixth and Washington, a crowd of several hundred people gathered and discussed the situation. Fragmentary returns were received at Schiller's cigar store and while Devlin was showing in front on the West Side votes were cast there was plenty of noise. Then when the East Side vote began to come straggling in and Mayor Lane's increase showed itself, there were cheers for Lane. Judging from the noise that was made, it would have been difficult to judge which of the candidates the crowd was for. When 1 o'clock was reached, the Devlin followers finally gave up hope and went home. This left only the Lane rosters on the ground. They cheered and made a noise until finally persuaded to disperse by two big policemen.

The Devlin people died hard. In fact they had not given up hope when they returned home. "Wait until the votes are all counted," was their departing shout. "The Lane rosters," what the feelings of those who had wagered large sums on the majority fight thought or felt is not known. But few of the men who had bet into thousands on the result mingled with the crowd. "Suppressed emotion" would accurately describe what they felt.

During the day a great many voters, because they had moved since their registration, were not allowed to vote. Perhaps the largest number who were disqualified was in the Sixth precinct, at Fourteenth and Irving streets, where some 130 voters were not allowed to cast their votes. These men had formerly resided on Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh streets and had been dispossessed by the building of the new Portland & Seattle Railway terminals and had failed to re-register from their new residences.

At the Republican headquarters yesterday it was predicted that Mayor Lane would not carry his own precinct, but the count showed that Lane received 42 votes and Devlin 76 for Devlin carried his precinct by 102 to 76 for Lane.

By the result of yesterday's election the following bond issues were authorized:

- $3,000,000 of water bonds; $3,000,000 of park and boulevard bonds. $500,000 of dock bonds. $450,000 of Madison-street bridge bonds. $275,000 of fireboat and water mains bonds.

Of the municipal laws proposed by initiative, the act creating a board of engineer examiners, the act regulating electric wiring have been defeated. The acts increasing the retail liquor license to $25 and regulating the number of saloons has carried, as has that prescribing the license fees for wholesale liquor dealers, grocers, restaurants and druggists.

In the precincts voting on prohibition, precincts 25, 27, 33, 35, 37, 38, 39 and 41 have gone wet, while precincts 29, 42 and 47 have gone dry.

TAMPERING WITH JURORS

Interference in Schmitz Case May Cost Head of Police His Office. Also Charged With Protecting Disreputables.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—The grand jury late this evening filed with District Attorney Langdon a formal complaint against Chief of Police Jeremiah E. Dinan, charging him with willful and corrupt misconduct in office in that he subverted the law in endeavoring to secure the acquittal of a defendant without the knowledge of the District Attorney. The defendant in the case was Mayor Schmitz and the investigation by the grand jury grew out of the accusation of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney that Dinan had attempted to tamper with the talsmen drawn for the jury which is to try the Mayor on a charge of extortion. Dinan was accused by Mr. Heney of having detailed some of his officers to interview prospective jurors in the

"JUST THINK, HARRY, THAT SPOT USED TO BE THE REPUBLICAN PARTY"

Impossible to Grant Demands.

In the course of his conference with the strikers' delegates M. Thomson declared it was impossible to accede to their demands. He said, however, that any proposition would be considered if the strikers returned to duty immediately, no punishment would be meted out, and the shipowners would be requested to retain both officers and men in their former positions. The firm attitude of the Minister and his promise that no penalties would be inflicted, apparently convinced the strikers that it would be wiser to accept the government's proposal to increase the pensions of seamen from $48.80 to $72, and of officers from $186 to $200 a year than to paralyze commerce and thus entirely alienate the sympathy of the public, which has already been greatly attracted.

Only Possible Hitch.

At the end of this conference the delegates talked the matter over together, with the result that the message urging their comrades to return to duty was drawn up and sent. The only possibility of a hitch appears to be that the men might decline to follow the advice of their delegates, but persons who are well informed regard this as unlikely, and there is reason to believe that work will be generally resumed tomorrow.

HAVRE, June 3.—Three thousand strikers held a meeting here this evening after the receipt of the message from the delegates in Paris advising the men to resume work. In spite of this recommendation, the meeting voted to continue the strike until the pensions of the men were raised to $120 a year. The Havre delegates were telegraphed to return at once from Paris.

DROPS IRISH COUNCIL BILL

England Promises Relief for Evicted Tenants and Education.

LONDON, June 3.—In the House of Commons today Premier Campbell-Bannerman formally announced that the government, in view of the rejection of the Irish bill by the Nationalists' convention in Dublin, has decided to drop the measure.

PRESIDENT CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN said that the government intended to introduce during the present session an "evicted tenants' restoration" bill, with powers of compulsory purchase.

As the cabinet had decided against an Autumn session, the Premier continued, it was necessary to drop the licensing bill, but, however, would be the measure to be taken up at the next session. The measure designed to relieve the passive resistance from paying education rates for relief from instruction, the Premier further announced, also would be crowded out, but the government was determined to introduce at the next session a comprehensive education bill, putting the whole education system of the country in order.

PUT TIES ON S. P. TRACK

Evident Intent to Wreck Train Near San Jose, Cal.

SAN JOSE, Cal., June 3.—An attempt to wreck the early morning train between this city and San Francisco was thwarted today by the fortunate discovery, shortly before 5 o'clock of a large pile of ties on the Southern Pacific track, at a point near Santa Clara. Also a rail had been loosened, and had not the discovery been made just in time, a frightful wreck almost certainly would have resulted. Officers are busy in an attempt to run down the criminal and two arrests have been made, the men in custody being tramps.
