HAYWOOD GLARES AT HIS ACCUSER

Blanches as He Hears Hawley Tell Crimes Charged to Federation.

WALLACE BOMB EXPLAINED

Originally Designed for Peabody, Then Taken to Idaho for Steunenberg and Rejected-Orchard Is Ready to Tell His Story.

BOISE, Idaho, June 4.-(Special.)-In his plain, blunt manner J. H. Hawley this morning held the close attention of a large crowd in the courtroom while he large crowd in the courtroom while be outlined the case of the state against W. D. Haywood. The auditor who paid the closest attention was the defendant himself. He was under a great strain most of the time. Though he kept his eyes fastened upon the attorney who was setting forth the terrible catalogue of crimes laid at the door of the "inner circle" of the Western Federation of Miners, he fidgeted much, shifting his position in his chair, but seldom glancing away from the speaker, When his eyes changed their direction, it was to glance slong the double line of faces in the jury box, as though searching there for some evidence of the effect of the recital upon the men who are to determine his fate. It was plainly a terrible ordeal for the secured man, and it is stated that some for the western Federation of the western Federation of the western Federation of the state of the s box, as though searching there for some evidence of the effect of the recital upon the men who are to determine his fate. It was plainty a terrible orden! for the accused man, and it is stated that some accused man, and it is stated that some of Mr. Darrows interruptions were for the purpose of giving his client a breathing spell, a few moments during which he might relax and nerve himself for the continuation of the story.

Mr. Hawley is not an orator, but in his deeply and caused the man at the bar of the court to wince as though in pain.

Makes Haywood Blanch.

"The inner circle of the Western Federation of Miners," he said, "has treaded in human blood," and the face of the prisoner blanched as the words fell from the lips of the prosecutor.

Again came this indictment: "The inner circle brought around them a few choice spirits, and to them murder became a trade and assassination a means of livelihood," and the arraignment seemed to reach the vitals of the defendant.

A feature of the statement made by the prosecutor was that he differentiated between the inner circle of the Federa-tion and the mass of the membership. He made it very clear that the state does not charge the rank and file of the members with being murderers, but set forth with care the claim that the inner circle, getting into power, was prepared to re-tain it through lawless means. It built up a force that could not be set aside by the masses of the members, establish-ing political control and domination in

Will Prove Every Charge.

The presecutor was very emphatic in his declaration that the state would prove every allegation he made. When prove every allegation he made. When Mr. Darrow objected to his references to many crimes other than the murder of Steunenberg, Mr. Hawley stated that of Steunenberg, Mr. Hawley stated that the state proposed to show the inner circle had organized a vast conspiracy for murder and other forms of violence, and that the murder of the ex-Governor was but an incident of that conspiracy. He charged it brought about the explosion in the Vindicator shaft at Cripple Creek, the awful explosion under the Independence Depot, the murder of Steunenberg was accomplished and for the same reasons. All of the ple Creek, the awful explosion under the Independence Depot, the murder of Steunenberg was accomplished and for the same reasons. All of the ple Creek, the awful explosion under the Independence Depot, the murder of Steunenberg was accomplished and for the same reasons. All of the same reasons. All of the same reasons and that it sought to kill Chief Justice Gabbert, and Justice Goddard, of the Supreme Court of that state; and he asserted the state would prove the attatement with ample evidence. He added that it had been guilty of a long asserted the state would prove the atatement with ample evidence. He added that it had been guilty of a long list of crimes, which he would not de-tail, but which the state would prove.

Darrow Tries to Head Him Off.

The unwillingness of the defense to have all those matters gone into was indicated by the character of the objections offered by Mr. Darrow. The latter again and again interrupted, indicating that the defense would resist any such line of Judge Wood overruled every objection, stating that he would not pass on the admissibility of such testimony until it should be offered. Mr. Hawley was so confident of the ability of the state to prove every statement made that he finally said he was willing to have the record show that the defense objected y utterance. At the close of the ont the defense asked for a list of er orimes referred to by Mr. Hawley and the latter agreed to give the list

Bomb Thrown in River.

There were some new features of the news of the case in the statement made by Mr. Hawley. One was the statement respecting the bomb found in the river at Wallace. It had always been supposed that this bomb had been made for the purpose of pulling off some outrage in the Cosur d'Alenes and it was not until Mr. Hawley stated that it was made in Colorado to be used in the killing of Governor Feabody and brought to Idaho to be used in murdering Steunenberg that the public knew differently. It was known that the prosecution regarded the find as one of great importance but the history of the bomb has never leaked.

Orchard met Simpkins at Wardner to plan the murder of Sisunenberg in September, 1905. Simpkins declared the bomb.

Orchard's effects which, though bearing an initial signature, is known by the state to have been written by Pettibone. It was in reference to the work of murdering Staunenberg which Orchard had in hand, it had been stated that the state had such a letter worked that the state had such a letter worked that the state had such a letter worked the state had such a letter work of murdering the state had such a letter work of murdering the state had such as the state

The testimony taken during the day was of a formal character, intended solely to prove the murder of Steunenberg and the presence of Orchard at Caldwell at several times during the Fall and Winter of 1905. In most cases the defense did not cross-examine. It is its policy to admit that Orchard went there and committed the murder. Julian Steunenberg, son of the Governor, was one of the witnesses. He told of Orchard's having asked him a few days before the tragedy when afternoon he will take the stand. The state has a few more persons to put on to give preliminary testimony and toen the star witness of the case will take the stand. He seems composed and prepared to go through the ordeal to which he will be subjected.

The trip from the penitentiary was made in the Warden's carriage early this evening, just before dark. The Warden and his daughter rode on the front seat and Mrs. Whitney and Orchard in the back. Orchard stepped out briskly when the carriage drew up in front of the Oddfellow's block and his presence in town would not have been known, had he not been recognized by one of the newspaper men, who recently visited him. There was a long conference between Orchard and Mr. Hawley and Senator Borah, Captain McParland also being present. The witness is closely guarded present. The witness is closely guarded while he sleeps by some of the most determined men in town and no possible harm can be wrought him by any crank who may be lurking about.

"I don't care what it looks like to you. I am not running this case according to your ideas, thank God, and I don't propose to stand for these con-stant interruptions."

"I would like to suggest to the court," said Mr. Darrow, "that I have no desire to call counsel to task—"

Haywood and the charge is the murder of For-Mr. Hawley is not an orator, but in his statement he made many thrusts that cut tell whether the prosecution will be allowed to make such proof or not until the time comes."

It was finally agreed that the whole of the address should be considered as excepted to by the defense.

Pettibone Hired Lawyer.

After telling of the killing of Steunen-berg and the movements of Orchard and Simplician at Caldwell, Mr. Hawley told Simplins at Caldwell, Mr. Hawley told of the arrest of Orchard and the unsolicited tender of the services of Attorney Fred Miller, of Spokane. He said that the state would show that an unsigned letter received by Orchard was written by George A. Pettibone.

The speaker then told of the confession of Orchard to James McParland and said McParland would be called to the stand. Mr. Hawley said the state would place Orchard on the stand and would show by all the witnesses, including Orchard, that such a condition of affairs existed as he had already outlined. He went back to g into power, was prepared to ret through lawless means. It built Series of Colorado Crimes.

Mr. Hawley said the state would show that the inner circle was responsible for the murder of Arthur Collins at Telluride, of Leigh Collins, on the streets of Denver, for the blowing up of the Independence depot at Cripple Creek, the blowing up of the Vindicator mine and other currence.

Orchard's Quiet Preparations.

Of the witnesses who testified regarding Orchard, Mr. Rice said that he saw Orchard passing his house almost every day for a month preceding the tragedy. He was either going toward or returning from the direction of Governor Steunenberg's residence.
The man seemed to have no business.
One day, Mr. Rice said, Hogan inquired of him if a vacant house now the him if a vacant house near the Govern-by his wife, who had noticed him for several days.

According to Julian Steunenberg, Orchard professed to have had some business regarding sheep, and said they would have another transaction in the future. Mr. Dempsey siso said Orchard professed to be a sheep-buyer and was introduced by him to a number of stock-raisers.

Confessed Murderer Ready to Testify Against Federationists.

BOISE, Idaho, June 4.—Harry Orchard, the self-confessed murdered of Ex-Gov-ernor Steunenberg, who will go on the tember, 1966. Simpkins declared the bomb, weighing 50 pounds, was too heavy, so Orchard threw it into the river, where it was subsequently struck by a pick in the hands of a man digging tee out of the channel.

New York Sun Admits Renomination Against His Will Inevitable.

MANY STATES HAVE SPOKEN

Chairmen Declare Demand Overwhelming and Illinois Would Desert Cannon-Taft Boom Falls to Check Popular Sentiment.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, June 2.—In a leading editorial, discussing the Presidential outlook, the New York Sun, speaking of President Roosevelt, says:
"It is everywhere conceded that only his own will or his own act can prevent his re-election, and there is a widespread impression that not even his own will or act may suffice to defeat the popular determination."
"When a paper like the Sun, which is determination."

"When a paper like the Sun, which is decidedly hostile to the Administration. comes out with such an admission, after sizing up the situation throughout the country, it is time for the average man to sit up and take notice. No paper in the country would derive more enjoyment from the retirement of Mr. Rooseveit than the Sun. Hardly a day goes by that the Sun does not take a fling at Mr. Roosevelt, and in the very editorial in question this leading New York daily intimates what it believes to be good intimates what it believes to be good and sufficient reasons why he should not be renominated. Yet, in spite of its reasons and its desires, the Sun prac-tically admits that the President will be renominated, even against his will, and that his election will follow.

Taft Boom Falls to Silence Call.

Further along in this same editorial, after caustically criticiaing the President for his course during the past six years, the Sun significantly remarks that "the somewhat premarure but attractive can-didacy of the Secretary of War has served as a very indifferent check on the popular insistence upon Mr. Roosevelt's perpetuity." From which it is to be inferred that the Sun falls to find that the Taft boom is making much of an impression outside of Ohio. As between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft the Sun would unquestionably prefer the latter, and if there was anything on the horizon to give hope that Taft sentiment would assume such proportions as to drown out the clamor for Mr. Roosevelt's remomination the Sun would be quick to selze upon even a slight indication. But there is no such straw apparent; the breeze is unquestionably blowing in the other direction.

Illinois Not For Cannon.

Coincident with the publication of The Sun's editorial was the published result of a poil taken by an Iowa pa-per which showed that the Republican state chairmen of Minnesota, Nebraska, New Mexico, South Dakota, North Da-kota, Tennessee, Texas, Florida, North Carolina, Colorado and Illinois had all declared that Mr. Roosevelt was the popular choice in their respective states, and that the overwhelming mato Orchard's confession, he declared its details would be corroborated by the finding of bombs at various places where crimes had been contemplated but abandoned for some reason or another, and by various other circumstances, which seemed to point to the truth of all his statements.

Orchard's Quiet Preparations.

sition Illinois Republicans would take. Yet here comes the state chairman with a declaration that 195 per cent of the Republicans of Illinois are for Mr. Rooseveit. Either the chairman is prejudiced against Mr. Cannon or else the Cannon becomes have put forward misleading statements for a purpose.

Pacific Coast Joins Chorus. The returns made to the Iowa paper by no means cover the entire country. For instance Oregon, Washington and Idaho might safely be added to the list of states where sentiment is overwhelmingly favorable to Mr. Roosevelt's renomination. Because of the Japanese trouble. California is not so overwhelmhim if a vacant house near the Governor's residence was for rent. Rice said he did not know. Mr. Rice declared that Hogan was the same person afterward arrested as Harry Orchard.

Cross-examined by Mr. Richardson of the defense, Mr. Rice said Orchard had made attempts to conceal himself. His attention was first directed to the man by his wife, who had noticed him for several days. nis at the present day would favor Mr. Roosevelt as against other candidates—that is to say, the sentiment of a majority of California Republicans is unquestionably favorable to the President. Wyoming is another state that could Wyoming is another state that could safely be added to the list. Then there is the word of Senator Curtis that Kansas is in line, and the Michigan Senate has voted unanimously for Mr. Roosevelt's renomination.

Great Size of Roosevelt Boom.

This list includes practically every state west of the Mississippi River, with Arkansas and Missouri to be heard from. Add to the solid West Illinois, many of the Southern States, Pennsylvania, that has already shown a most friendly feeling towards the President, and the Roose-velt movement appears to be of such proportions as not to be overlooked. In fact there is no other candidate in the field who could lay claim to anything like this support, Mr. Taft must make sure of Ohio before he can hope for anything else, and he is a long way from being sure of Ohio.

Mr. Fairbanks has Indiana and could get some support in the South, but not if Mr. Roosevelt was a factor. It is very much to be questioned if a single state outside of Indiana would vote for Mr. Fairbanks if a Roosevelt wave should sweep over the convention, and Indiana would support Mr. Fairbanks not with any expectation of nominating him, but only to do honor to a favorite son. It is seen from the statement of the Illino's state chairman that he does not concede that Mr. Cannon could carry his own state in case the Roosevelt movement should take definite form. Certainly which is already enthusiastic over Mr. Roosevelt. The same might be said of Mr. Root and New York.

Mr. Shaw could do no better in Iowa, the of 1906. In most cases the defense did not cross-examine. It is its policy to admit that Orchard went there and committed the mirrder. Julian Steinenberg, son of the Governor, was one of the Will be called upon to face while he is on the stand.

Another thing to enliven the speculation is not longer in public life.

Now comes the Pennsylvania contingent, has a talk with the President and our country the president and the pres ent, has a talk with the President and out comes the announcement that the President would look with favor upon the nomination of Senator Knox. The Pennsylvania enthusiasts declare that Mr. Knox is the one and only choice of the President for 1908. Manifestly, somebody is trying to fool the people, and men quite close to the President do not hesitate to say that there has been misrepresentation in both the Taft and the Knox camps. These men say that the President is picking no favorites and is playing no favorites. While he is not seeking and does not desire a renomination, his close friends assert that he has not undertaken to dictate who his successor shall be, and has no intention of cessor shall be, and has no intention of so doing. He has a high regard for Mr. Taft and an equally high regard for Mr. Knox, but it is not true that the President is turning a hand to help either of these men. fications, but they have got to make their own fight.

Eliminating Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Knox and Mr. Taft are the most likely candidates on the Republican list. Now that they are "scrapping" for the endorsement of the President, Roosevelt stock will go higher in both Ohio and Pennsylvania, and if the present trend of sentiment continues, Ohio and Pennsylvania may join the West and shout for Mr. Roosevelt, allowing favorite sons to wait another four years.

Anarchist Spanish Editor Admits Giving Shelter to Morales.

MADRID, June 4.- The trial of Senor Ferrer, director of the Modern School, of Barcelona; Jose Nakens, editor of El Matin, and others charged with complicity in the attempt to assassinate King Alfonso and Queen Victoria May 31, 1998, was continued today.

Nakens was examined and related that Morales, the man who actually throw the bomb, arrived at his residence, declaring that he had hurled the missile, and de-manded shelter. This was accorded, although Nakens is opposed to violence and anarchy, from the sole motive of giving asylum to a fugitive. He was in sym-pathy with a man running from the danger of execution, and he was caught. Morales remained in the house but a short time, leaving after he had disguised himself.

Bankrupt Prince in Bailiff's Hands.

THE HAGUE, June 4.—Prince Eberwein of Bentheim-Steinfurt, who some time ago forfeited his rights of inheritance and his position in the German army by marry-lng the daughter of a burgomaster, is now bankrupt. After the wedding he hired a castle near The Hague, perhaps hoping for recognition by his aunt, the Queen Dowager of the Netherlands, but neither she nor Queen Wilhelmina, nor the aristocracy noticed him. His failure to pay rent for the castle has led to its seizure by bailiffs, whose presence, however, did not disconcert the Prince and Princess. They merrily played tennis, ignoring the officers who watched the games. The pair have now gone to Germany, leaving the balliffs in possession.

CAN THEY WIN ROOSEVELT?

LaFollette and Stephenson Not Equal to Spooner.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, June 5.—Considerable Interest will center in the Wisconein delegation next Winter when matters of Federal patronage arise. Heretofore President Roosevelt, in making appointments in that state, consulted Senator Spooner and usually appointed men of his selection. Senator LaFollette had very little to say in such matters. Mr. Spooner is no longer a member of the Senate; his place has been filled by Isaac Stephenson, the wealthiest man in the state, who made wealthest man in the state, who made his wealth out of lumber. Now the Pres-ident will be called upon, in the natural course of events, to consult either Mr. LaFoliette of Mr. Stephenson, or both, or else agnore the Senators and continue to take the advice of Mr. Spooner.

Mr. LaFollette, notwithstanding he is a radical advocate of railroad regulation, has never been able to gain the President's confidence. He has not been consulted by the President. Mr. Stephensuited by the resident art Stephen-son is a new man and comes to the Sen-ate with at least a suspicion attaching to his election. It may be that his money had nothing to do with his election, but in Wisconsin some very ugly stories are circulated, and it is reported that he made an outright purchase.
