MAY ADD BIGAMY CHARGE

TROUBLES INCREASE FOR "MYS-TERIOUS BILLY" SMITH.

His Latest Nuptials Solemnized Before Judge Frazer Had Freed Him From First Wife.

"Mysterious Billy" Smith's hasty ac-"Mysterious Billy" Smith's hasty action in marrying at Oregon City last Saturday afternoon within 24 hours after Mamie Smith had apparently been legality separated from him may be grounds for a bigamy charge against the puglist, sailor boardinghouse master and saloon-keeper. While Mrs. Mamie Smith was heard in the divorce court last Friday morning the findings awarding her a decree were not signed until yesterday morning by Circuit Judge Fraser and the document bears the date June 10, 1907, two days later than "Mysterious Billy's" second wedding. Judgo Fraser asserts Smith is technically guilty of bigamy, it being a rule of the Circuit Court not to pronounce divorce decisions until the pronounce divorce decisions until the findings are prepared and signed.

When it was learned that "Mysterious Billy" had re-wed the day after the divorce proceedings had been heard, it was contended by practitioners he had made contended by practitioners he had made himself amenable to the law by disre-garding the prohibitive six months pro-vided in divorce decrees. About this point, however, there was doubt. The legal status of "Mysterious Billy's" pres-ent tangle is beyond refutation, jurists and autorneys asserting emphatically di-vorce decrees are effective only from the sate of their approval in writing. Attorney E. E. Miller, who represented Mrs. Smith in obtaining separation from her spouse, said yesterday he believed the order of Judge Frazer to him last Friday to prepare the findings sufficed to legalize the separation of the Smiths from the separation of the Smiths from cents half fare.

Work on the official programme will be undertaken tomorrow by Lee M. Clark, to whom the contract was awarded at the last meeting of the general committee. In addition to the posters the railroad companies will distribute to the station agents of the various lines, the committee intends to have an elaborate poster printed for placing at all points from which visitors are expected to attend the celebration. A local advertising firm has agreed to donate $1000 in the work of having these posters properly distributed.
