POLICE WILL HELP MANNING,-"My orl ginal order to saloons, hotein with burn and restaurants where liquors are sold and restaurants where liquors are sold still holds and will be rigidly enforced beginning next Sunday," said District Attorney John Manning last night, when saked whether or not he had decided to modify his ediet in any degree. "The law will be enforced to the strict letter, and this may as well be understood by the liquer interests. The police will assist me in closing every drinking establishment in Portland." District Attorney Manning was besieged by delegations representing prominent hotels, cafes and restaurants, who desired a modification of his order in their cases. They maintained enforcement of the law as interpreted by him in public eating establishments was a step too far, and urged that he reconsider, but they were unable to on Sundays.

Bio Buildings Morrgages.—Acting for the United States Loan & Trust Company of New York, the Title Guarantee & Trust Company of Portland has placed a loan of 500,000 on a mortgage covering the Dekum and Washington buildings on Washington street. The rate is said to be 5 per cent. The placing of this loan at the rate caused considerable comment among both real estate and financial men, there being a difference of opinion as to the effect on Portland valuations upon the amnouncement of the ion as to the effect on Portland valua-tions upon the amouncement of the transaction. In some circles it was main-tained that the fact that Eastern capital was in this market to make loans, proved that Portland realty is looked upon as a safe security. On the other hand it was waid that Portland financial institutions would seem to be either short of loanable funds or that they are timorous in plac-ing such a large loan.

funds or that they are timorous in placing such a large loan.

ELEMS STAG SOCIAL.—What promises to be one of the best stag socials in the history of the local Elks Lodge will be held tonight at Elks Hall and clubrooms. The local membership will be out in force, besides many visiting members from other lodges. According to the statement of one of the committee in charge, this stag social is really introductory to the Rose Show. R. F. Stevens will supervise the feast. The harmony parallel bar act of the celebrated acrobats, Johnny Coffee and Billy Cake is a top-line feature. Herman Wittenberg will present an illustrated ditty, entitled "Uneeda Biscuit." #### TROPHIES ARE ON EXHIBIT

Widespread Interest Throughout the City and State Assures Immense Attendance for Fete That May

Be an Annual Occurrence.

One postcard for every man, woman and child in the city and suburbs has been sent out bearing attractive an nouncement of Portland's big rose and flests, which will launched on its career a week hence. Discovery was made at Fiesta head-quarters that the whole edition of 150,000 cards had been exhausted, not a single one remaining. A rush order was at once put through for a second consignment of 100,000 cards.

It was hardly believed that all the first allotment would be entirely used.

first allotment would be entirely used, and in fear that many would be left over, no fewer than 100 free distributing stations were established by the management. The whole city must have entered into the spirit of this big publicity scheme, for the supply has been exhausted in little more than two weeks. The benefits of sending the cards to 150,000 persons living in all parts of the world is incalculable. As soon as the new supply can be As soon as the new supply can be printed, packets of cards will be dis-tributed among the various stores, stands, hotels and other volunteer distributing points. That the rose show will be a tre That the rose show will be a tra-mendous success there is no longer any doubt. All Portland has caught the spirit, and the day of the big floral parade, June 21, promises to be an-other such occasion as the opening of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, at least from the standpoint of crowds and enthusiastic interest. Hundreds of people are busy with floral designs and creations wherewith they hope to and enthusiastic interest. Hundreds of people are busy with floral designs and creations wherewith they hope to capture one of the long list of attractive cash trophy prizes. Amateur and professional florists the city over are tending to their choicest plants with assiduous care, and books on ross culture are in demand at the book-store. Portland will emerge from the experience of this flesta thoroughly appreciating the beautiful boen of roses with which the city is favored. And not hundreds, but thousands, of amateur gardeners will have gained some practical knowledge of rose culture, in consequence.

The exhibits of trophy prizes are attracting wide public attention and crowds are to be seen at the display windows at all hours of the day. At Woodard & Clarke's, Feldenheimer's and Rowe & Martin's the trophles are displayed and Clarke's, Feldenheimer's and Rowe & Martin's the trophies are displayed and there is a variety and quality to arouse a general desire for ownership.

While it was expected that the various floral establishment would participate on an elaborate scale, such is not likely to be the case. A round of the floral stores was made yesterday by a representative of the Rose Show management. If a was advised that the floral people are too busy filling orders and preparing designs for others to think of participating. They are working day and night trying to meet all orders, and while Portland's supply of roses is adequate to any demand that may be made, yet skilled designers and decorators are not any to known that the commercial and fraternal organizations of the city and many prominent citizens favor the idea of organization for the establishment of a permanent Rose Carnival fund. It is believed that with Portland's advantages in the matter of flowers and roses, the annual carnival could be made an event of even greater proportions than the Mardi Gras of New Orleans and the flestas of favored European centers of floral beauty.

With the carnival so close at hand it is hardly possible that the dates of several events should be confused. However, it is urged that these who intend to participate should keep the dates of the four carnival days in mind as well as the programme of each day. The programme is as follows:

ROSE CARNIVAL IS HELD

Annual Show of United Artisans at Portsmouth a Success.

There was a splendid floral display last night at the annual rose carnival conducted by the United Artisans of Portsmouth. The hall had been decorated with evergreens and the roses entered were placed on shelves along the walls. The flowers were of great variety. The roses were gathered in the neighborhood and brought to the hall in vases properly labeled with the names of the owners. Besides the roses entered, many were used in decoration, so the hall was a hourse of bloom. ower of bloom

A short and interesting programme was rendered. The rose drill by 10 little girls dressed in white carrying rose rings was an appropriate and attractive number. W. B. Satterlie was in charge of the exer-cises. He announced the following win-ners in the rose contest:

Red roses—First, Mrs. J. W. Angus; second, G. A. Wood; third, Mrs. R. B. Cummings; fourth, Mrs. W. B. Satterlie.
White—First, Mrs. S. E. Merrill; second, Mrs. S. L. Young; third, Mrs. C. H. Beard, Pink—First, Mrs. M. J. Hatfield; second, Mrs. Merrill; third, Mrs. Carson; fourth, D. C. Hoyt.

Yellow-First, Mrs. C. L. McKenna; second, C. A. Wood; third, Mrs. Carson, Special mention was made of the dis-plays of Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. C. L. McKenna. The awards were made in the afternoon and read from the platform by Chairman Satterlie.

CONVENTION'S SECOND DAY

Episcopalian Clergymen of Oregon Diocese Hold Quiet Meeting.

The second day of convention week for the Episcopal diocese of Oregon began yesterday morning with corporate communion of the Oregon clergy at St. Mark's Church. This was followed after breakfast by a quiet hour for the ministers, conducted by Bishop Scadding. The women held their annual meeting at St. Stephen's pro-cathedral, this being followed by communion and a sermon by the hishop.

The first meeting of a local assembly of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was held at the Trinity Parish House, at 8:30 last night, being addressed by Bishop Scadding.

To-day's services will open with holy communion at Trinity Church. At 10:30 Rev. William Horsfall will preach. The convention will be organized and routine business transacted. Bishop Scadding will deliver his annual address, and the Sunday-school teachers will meet at St. Stephen's Church, where they will be addressed by Rev. John Dawson and Rev. B. G. Lee.

Seattle Fair Commissioners.

SALEM, June 12.—(Special.) — Gov-ernor Chamberlain today appointed the following-named citizens of Oregon as members of the Alaska-Yukon Exposimand that may be made, yet skilled designers and decorators are not any too plentiful. A number of workmen of this class have already been brought to the city from outside points.

Plans for decorating some of the finer equipment of the local fire department have been made. Several big fire engines the expenditure of the $100,000 appro-priated by the last Legislature for an Oregon exhibit at the Seattle Exposition. The members serve without pay, but will be reimbursed to the amount of their expenses. They may also elect one of their number secretary and one executive commissioner, and pay them such salaries as they may deem best. The commissioners must meet at Salem within ten days and organize
