Seattle Christian Endeavorers Refuse to Allow Agents to Manage Excursion.

Offer to Defray Expenses of the Trip and Banquet During National Convention Turned Down After a Heated Discussion.

SEATTLE, Wash. June 11.—(Special)— After a stormy meeting this afternoon the Christian Endeavor convention cominlitee turned down a movement on the part of Vice-President Pairbanks' local managers to seize control of a big ex-cursion and banquet planned in honor of the National trustees and the speakers at the National convention to be held there July 10-15.

The proposal was made to the convention committee that if Fairbanks' friends were allowed to control the excursion and banquet, they would defray all expenses. It was provided, however, that the local committee should continue as a few should continue as penses. It was provided, however, that the local committee should continue as a figurehead controlling body, but should only admit to the excursion such screens as Fairbanks' managers suggested. The excursion is to be run on the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Queen on July 13. A trip is to be made around the Blands of the Lower Sound and at least 290 of the most prominent Endeavorers in the United States will ge on the trip. The banquet will be tendered to practically the same crowd and Fairbanks' managers proposed holding it at the Ralnier Chub to give it a higher tone, Fairbanks is to be one of the principal speakers and the convention committee was urged to prepare a big audience for him. Within a day or two after this speech comes the special entertainment which it was proposed should be turned into a movement to launch Fairbanks' Presidential campaign.

The proposal had strong support among the committee members, but as soon as the project was suggested, the doors were closed and reporters who came later were asked to leave the church grounds until the meeting was over. A decisive majority voted against the scheme but a proposal that the local Fairbanks managers be allowed to pay all over 500 of the banquet expense was accepted as a peace offering.

Joaquin Miller is visiting in Ashland today, enroute from his abandoned retreat near Oakland, Cal., to join his brother at Eugene, to look up some business interests in the Stusiaw, in which they are jointly interested. In July he expects to head a party to visit the famous caves in Josephine County, northwest of here.

Mr. Miller was asked regarding the reports that have preceded him to Oregon that he was coming back home to seek election to the United States Senaite. He smiled and intimated that he regretted publication of some of the newspaper reports attributed to him, and said that political aspirations had not been worrying him.

Mr. Miller is in rugged health. He says he is in just as good physical condition as when he made his famous tip into the Klondike region a few years ago, when his tramp of thousands of miles through the wilderness of the Far North commanded no little admiration. ports Published.

CITIES NOT LIMITED BY COM-MISSION'S CHOICE.

Superintendent Ackerman Issues Circulars Citing State Law That Gives Power to the Boards

SALEM, June 13 .- (Special.) -- For the information of school directors in all cities of 1000 children of school age Superin tendent of Public Instruction Ackerman today issued a circular letter, which calls attention to two sections of the code autherizing the adoption of additional textbooks in such districts. Textbook publishers are much pleased over the discovery that this section of law exists and they are in hopes of being able to in-duce school boards to make many adop-tions in addition to those recently made by the State Textbook Commission.

It is quite likely that such School Boards will now be deluged with samples of textbooks which the companies want adopted. While the law does not require submission of samples, as in the case of the State Textbook Commission, yet if Stream Bursts From Old Well. the State Textbook Commission the members of a School Board should let the textbook men know they have the matter under consideration there is little doubt that the samples would be forthcoming. It would appear, however, that comparatively few books can be adopted, for the law expressly provides that the books adopted shall not be used directly or indirectly as a substitute for any book adopted by the State Commission. The sections of law governing the adoption by districts of the first-class are as follows: are as follows:

In the month of July, in the year 1901, and in the month of July every six years thereafter, and at no other time, the board of directors in any district in which a high school is maintained shall adopt text-books required to complete any branch of study added by such board of directors to the branches of study specified for a state high school course. Such adoption shall be made viva voce, and a majority vote of the entire board shall be processary to a choice of any with avoce, and a majority vote of the entire board shall be necessary to a choice of any text-book, and the vote thereon of each member shall be recorded in the minutes of the board. No text-book shall be adopted as herein provided that shall be used, directly or indirectly, as a substitute for any text-book adopted by the State Board of Text-Book Commissioners, or that shall directly or indirectly replace any such adopted text-book.—(Code 3457). When text-books have been adopted by a board of school directors as herein provided, such board of school directors shall, not later than thirty days after the adoption, enter into a written contract, made in triplicate, with each publisher whose book or books shall have been adopted, to maintain at least one depositor; in such district where such book or books may be purchased; to furnish the same may be purchased; to furnish the same according to the provisions of this act, and the conditions named in the bid. One copy shall be delivered to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, one to the clerk of such district, and one to the publisher named therein; and the provisions of this named therein; and the provisions act concerning the adoption of text-books by the State Board of Text Book Commissioners shall apply to the adoption of ad-ditional text-books by boards of directors,
