

PIONEERS HOLD REUNION TODAY

Members of State Association Will Assemble in This City.

TALK OVER OLD TIMES

Old Settlers Will Devote Afternoon to Feasting and Merry-Making. Social Gathering at Night Closes the Meeting.

OUR HONORED PIONEERS.
 Our pioneers, they came, like the strong, new ships full freighted, with hopes of men, with women's sobs and tears.
 No storms could chill their strong, brave hearts,
 Nor e'er their courage dim
 Through all the many untold trying years.
 Brave pioneers,
 Long miles ahead, they saw the state's daylight fading;
 Each morn'g light shone in their weary eyes.
 For this new West they'd left their loved,
 Hope's mirage led them on—
 They heard the call that bade them wake and rise.
 Dear Pioneers:
 More than of our loved have found their last safe haven!
 Like broken spars adrift and nearing shore,
 God calls them home so fast, in ever raining numbers.
 After the storm the calm—
 A new world's glories theirs for evermore.
 JUNE McILLEN ORDWAY.

Decorated with badges announcing the date of their arrival in the state, 1000 of the early settlers of this commonwealth have assembled in Portland for the thirty-fifth annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneers Association, which will be held today. The attendance at the reunion of this association in 1906 was 1212, with an average age of 67 years, but Secretary Himes reports that this record will be surpassed in all probability this year. More than 500 pioneers have already enrolled their names in the register at the rooms of the Oregon Historical Society in the City Hall, which has been serving as headquarters pending the convening of today's annual meeting.

Throughout the day yesterday the corridors at the City Hall building and particularly the upper floor, in which is installed the city's interesting museum, was thronged by the state's builders. It was indeed appropriate that these quarters should have been selected as a temporary place of meeting and recreation for the pioneers, for it is there so many articles of historical interest closely associated with the early history of the state are exhibited. It was with keen enjoyment that this exhibit was reviewed by the pioneers to whom it recalled memories of the struggles and excitement of early residence in the state.

There is no record of the charter members of the Pioneers' Association, which was organized in 1872. So far as the records of the Historical Society show, only three of the men who attended the first annual meeting of the association are living: they are Hon. F. X. Mattathieu, of Butteville, who was the first president of the association and a member of the convention that established Oregon's territorial government; Hon. L. F. Grover, of this city, a former governor of the state and at one time United States Senator, and Hon. John Minto, of Salem. Surviving members who took part in the reunion of the association in 1905 are: George P. Helman, of Salt Lake; C. A. Reed, John W. Minto, and Mrs. Clara Watt-Morton, of Portland; Mrs. J. F. Miller, and Mrs. Werner Broymann, of Salem, and W. H. Bowman, of Troutdale. George A. Barnes, who came to Oregon from Indiana in 1848, is now residing at Olympia, Washington. He was a member of the first City Council in Portland, being elected to that office April 7, 1851.

One of the Oldest Pioneers.
 One of the oldest pioneers in point of residence in this state who will attend today's reunion is Mrs. Harriet Matt, of Gervais, Marion County. Mrs. Matt was born at Fort Vancouver in 1819, and has resided all of her life in the state, her father having for many years been employed by Dr. John McLoughlin.

Another of the early settlers who will participate in today's exercises is William Abernethy, of Coos County, son of George Abernethy, the first provisional Governor of the state. For the last three years Mr. Abernethy has been residing temporarily at Forest Grove, where his children are attending Pacific University. Mr. Abernethy left New York state for the Pacific Coast in 1829. At that time there were no trails across the plains and he and his parents were members of a party that was sent by the Methodist Mission as recruits to the forces in Oregon. They came via Cape Horn on a full-rigged ship and brought with them all necessary supplies, including clothing and farm implements, for these articles could not be procured here. The Abernethy family located near Oregon City.

One of the most vigorous specimens of the pioneer family that has gathered in Portland is J. A. Paulsell, of Mt. Tabor company, 75 years of age. He has lived in Oregon since 1851. Mr. Paulsell was a native of the State of Indiana and served for 25 continuous years in the Fourth United States Infantry, enlisting at Indianapolis when 18 years of age. During his military career he saw service under "Zack" Taylor, was the first troops to cross the Rio Grande. Those troops also operated in Mexico, California during the gold excitement in 1849, and afterwards took part in engagements in this state, where Mr. Paulsell located after leaving the army service. He still owns the flint and steel he made in 1824 and will show his friends today how they were used in the days gone by.

"While serving under General Henry Harvey, someone robbed me of my watch," said Paulsell at the Historical Society rooms yesterday. "I reported the theft to the commanding officer, who told me he could not supply me with another garment. I asked him what I should do and he told me to steal the first man's overcoat I had a chance to. Well, it happened a few days later that I found the General's overcoat at the tent, and, unseen by any of the other soldiers, I took the garment. Later in the day the owner, who had been informed of the disappearance of his coat, saw me wearing it and told me he would have something to say to me at dress parade the next day."

"Sure enough, when we had assembled in line, the General, mounted on his horse, came riding up in front of my company and said:

"Paulsell, advance 10 steps."
 "I did as I had been commanded."
 "Where did you get that coat?" inquired the General.
 "I stole it, sir," was my reply.
 "Why did you steal it?" thundered the officer.
 "Because, as a soldier, I was merely striving to obey the orders of my superior officer," I retorted.

"Members of the company," shouted the General, "hereafter this man will be known only as Jack Shepard."

"And it is a fact that for the remaining five years I served with the Regular Army that name stuck to me."

President George is Ill.
 Owing to illness, Judge M. C. George, president of the Oregon Pioneers' Association, will not preside at today's reunion. In his absence, J. D. Lee, the vice-president, will officiate.

Among the earlier pioneers who have registered at headquarters are the following:
 1841—Captain Thomas Mountain, Portland.
 1842—D. A. Carter, Sheridan.
 1843—Laura A. Patterson-Bahn, Portland.
 1843—Dr. B. A. Owens-Adair, Houlton.
 1843—John Minto, Portland; T. V. B. Embury and Mrs. Alice I. Dempsey, Dallas.
 1843—L. C. Bellu and Mrs. L. J. Bennett, Portland; J. Williams, Dallas; Mrs. E. Perry, Houlton; G. L. Parker, Mt. Tabor.
 1843—Mrs. Nancy Graham-Starr, Dayton; James W. Gibson, Bendville; Mrs. H. R. Wilson, Drayton; Virginia Moore, Mrs. Mary Ryan, A. B. Findley and Jane Kelly, Portland.
 1843—Mrs. Steinel and Mrs. Clara Watt-Morton, Portland.
 1849—Mrs. M. B. Quivey, Portland; Darius Wells, Milton; C. Patterson, Sheehy; T. J. Hayter, Dallas.

The pioneers will assemble at the Armory, Tenth and Couch, between 1 and 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Upon arrival at the Armory, pioneers will be received by Joseph Buchtel, chairman of the general reception committee, assisted by his aides as follows:

Pembura Kelly, H. W. Prettymann, N. H. Bird, E. J. Jeffrey, James V. Parlow, Eugene D. White, J. Maxey, Judge William J. Sawyer, ex-Governor George L. Governor Z. F. Moody, Frederick V. Holman, John McMillen Ordway, George L. D. Lee and Mrs. C. M. Cartwright, chairman of the Women's Auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. Abner Scott, Dunaway, Mrs. Daniel O'Neill, Mrs. Maria L. Myrick, Mrs. George A. Harding, Mrs. O. N. Denny, Mrs. B. H. Houtney, Mrs. Elizabeth Moore, Mrs. F. Bell, Mrs. Theodore Wyzant, Mrs. Matthew P. Deady, Mrs. Elizabeth Lord, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Wilson and Mrs. Josephine Devore Johnson.

The following programme of exercises will be followed, beginning at 2 o'clock:

 At the close of these exercises there will be a social reunion until 4:30 P. M., when Joseph Buchtel, chairman of the general reception committee, assisted by his aides and Mrs. C. M. Cartwright, of the women's auxiliary and the reception committee of that body, will form the pioneers in a column of two, and conduct them to the banquet hall and seat them at the tables.

Public May Attend Tonight.
 The meeting tonight will be open to the general public, and a cordial invitation is extended to everybody. It will be preceded by the business meeting of the association, when the annual election of officers will take place. R. A. Miller, 1854, will preside in the evening, when the following programme will be given:

The number of pioneers who registered at the reunion last year was 1229. As the average age of each was 67 years. Upon this showing, it may be readily seen that percentage of deaths, while large in one sense, yet when age is taken into account, was really very small. This statement has been made to prominent Eastern physicians, and they regard it as very remarkable, and that it supports with much force the opinion that Oregon and the Pacific Northwest, is a remarkably healthy country; and further, that the pioneer stock of men and women was of a high type physically.

Oregon Pioneer of 67 Years Takes a Bride

S. W. Hoppenstall, of Westport, Wash., Weds Mrs. Margaret Campbell, of Myrtle Creek, Aged 64.

Visiting Portland with other pioneers yesterday to attend their annual reunion, S. W. Hoppenstall, 67 years of age, added to the joys of the occasion by marrying Mrs. Margaret Campbell, also a pioneer, and escorting her to Woodmen's Hall, where the congratulations of his friends were showered upon him and his bride. The bride is 64 years of age and has lived 29 years in the Coast County Judge Webster married the couple.

Hoppenstall was for many years the mail carrier at Roseburg and moved from there recently to go to farming at Westport, Washington. Mrs. Hoppenstall's home was at Myrtle Creek.

FIRST MEETING TOMORROW

All Arrangements Completed for Development League Convention.

All arrangements have been completed for the Oregon Development League convention, which will open with a preliminary session tomorrow night. A Bennett, of The Dalles, will preside. Friday morning will be transacted the important business of the convention. This session will be in the Marquand Theater. Friday evening there will be a concert at the First Presbyterian Church. E. L. Smith will preside at the first general session in the absence of President T. B. Wilcox. Vice-presidents will preside at subsequent sessions.

Greater publicity for Oregon is the slogan of the coming gathering, and the subject will be discussed in all its phases. Expert advertising men will address the delegates. Tom Richardson, secretary of the league, says there will be a large attendance. He has heard from the towns holding memberships in the league, and are all interested in the gathering.

Co-operation of other organizations is promised. Delegates have been invited from the various commercial bodies, all of which have named delegates.

Wins Suit Against Railroad.

Willie E. Potter, who sued the Nevada Northern Railway for breach of contract in the furnishing of railway ties, has been awarded a verdict for $9,366 in the United States District Court.

INDIAN FIGHTERS HOLD CONVENTION

Veterans of Early Conflicts Meet in Twenty-second Session.

RECALL OLDTIME BATTLES

Good-Fellowship a Prominent Feature of Reunion—Officers Are Elected for Year and Much Business Discussed.

The 22d annual encampment of the Indian War Veterans of the Northwest was held yesterday in the Woodmen of the World Hall. Despite the fact that each reunion sees a gradual thinning of the ranks of this organization, the enthusiasm attendant upon the gathering of these venerable warriors continues undiminished. Many of these survivors take this occasion to renew old friendships and live over again the stirring times that are gone.

At the executive session yesterday afternoon the following officers were elected for the coming year: Grand commander, H. G. Loyd; senior vice-commander, A. B. Stuart; junior vice-commander, E. Ross; grand adjutant, Otto Kleeman; grand paymaster, Charles Chamberlain; grand chaplain, W. D. Ewing; grand marshal, John Storan.

The afternoon session of the 22d reunion of Indian War Veterans was called to order at 2 P. M. Mayor Harry Lane was asked to address the assemblage, and his appearance was the signal for applause. He welcomed the veterans to the city and spoke of their efforts in defending the early settlements from Indian raids.

He told several humorous incidents concerning members of his family who were Indian fighters, and the mention of his grandfather, the pioneer Joseph Lane, was the occasion for cheers.

At the conclusion of his address Mayor Lane was tendered an informal reception, many of the old Indian fighters pressing forward to shake his hand.

The Veterans' Quartet, made up of aged pioneers, sang an old-time song, "The Jolliest Boys Alive," which was applauded, after which Miss Hazel Hoopenganger entertained the audience with a humorous recitation, "The Indian Mother." A grand solo by Miss Stella Watson, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," was warmly received. She responded to an encore with "The Old Time Song," "The Old Days of the War," was sung by the Veteran Quartet.

A communication from Mr. James McDonald, relative to the state's action regarding Indian War veterans' claims, was not read on account of lack of time, but Grand Commander Mount stated the nature of the contents of the paper and explained that claims not presented within two years would not be allowed by the state.

New President a Veteran.
 The work of electing officers for the coming term was then proceeded with. H. G. Loyd, who was elected grand commander, vice H. D. Mount, is a resident of Waukegan, Wash. He is a veteran of several Indian wars and has always been prominent in the affairs of the Indian War Veterans, having held the office of senior vice-commander during the past two years. His election as grand commander is approved by the entire organization, and by resolution was made unanimous.

James H. Mount, who resigns the office of grand commander, after serving a period of two years, is an old pioneer. He came to Oregon in 1851. Soon after he went to Waukegan, and engaged in mining. He fought the Indians in that region for three years. He is the father of a family of 14. One of his sons is Judge Wallace Mount, Justice of the Supreme Court of Washington.

Much of the morning session was devoted to visiting by the veterans. The death of George W. Olds, a veteran of the Indian wars of 1855-56, who died suddenly on the train while en route to Portland, marred the pleasure of the occasion somewhat and lent additional pathos to the reading of the roll of departed members. Since the last encampment 27 veterans have passed away. Their names are: George W. Olds, Hiram Woods, Murphy Brown, William Walter, Samuel Deigra, Richard R. Richardson, Eli Stout, Marlin Barker, Henry Woods, Samuel Wilson, J. N. Knight, Henry Molla, Mrs. Mary Hattaway, John M. Luederbach, Samuel Palmatore, Tobias Deardorf, Henry Yokum, Edward Lee, Thomas Riggs, William Riley, David Long, A. F. Johnson, Lieutenant James McAuliff, Mitchell Ingraham, John Hutton, Jonathan Jerome and William S. King.

Work of Business Session.
 The encampment was called to order at 11 o'clock. Grand Commander Mount presided. It was announced that a lot has been purchased in Riverview Cemetery and hereafter members of the organization will be buried there. It is also proposed to erect a monument on this lot to perpetuate the memory of these veterans of Indian Wars, and a vote of thanks was extended to Grand Adjutant Kleeman for his efforts in procuring this lot.

Judge J. N. Skidmore made a short speech, in which he stated he is confident that Indian War veterans' pensions would be increased to $12 per month if properly brought to the attention of Congress. At the afternoon session this question was again taken up and a petition to Oregon's representatives in Congress prepared and unanimously acted upon.

Thomas Mollony, in an eloquent address advocated that a monument be placed over the grave of I. A. Wood, as an acknowledgment of his efforts in behalf of the veterans while grand commander. Mr. Mollony's suggestion was favorably received and a committee was appointed to take charge of the matter.

John Minto, of Salem, presented a resolution protesting against the present policy governing the disposition of public lands in Oregon. He declared this land should be held exclusively for the settlement and use of homesteaders and should not be allowed to pass into the control of corporations and syndicates; that Congress be memorialized to provide that the Indian War veterans be allowed the use of certain tracts which had been wrested from the Indians in the early wars. The memorial was unanimously adopted.

At the conclusion of the morning session the encampment adjourned to attend the banquet provided by the Sons and Daughters of Indian War Veterans. Five hundred veterans enjoyed the hospitality of this organization.

Most of the veterans and their wives will remain in Portland until the close of the Rose Carnival before returning to their homes.

Returns to His Old Love After 10 Years

W. L. Lank, of Castle Rock, Wash., Weds Again Wife From Whom He Was Divorced Nearly a Decade Ago.

DIVORCED a little less than a decade ago, M. L. Lank, of Castle Rock, Wash., and Stella Lank, of Portland, were re-married yesterday, both asserting they had made a mistake in separating. "I am going to try it again," said Lank, "and this time I intend to make a go of it." Lank is 50 years old and his wife is 36.

Frída Ahman arrived from Sweden yesterday morning and in less than an hour after her arrival became the wife of her lover for three years, Eric E. Ehrenstam, of 113 1/2 Russell street. Ehrenstam left Sweden more than two years ago to prepare a home for his intended bride and a month ago the arrangements were completed. The bridegroom is 45 years old and the bride is 37.
